RESOLUTION ON THE CHEMICAL EXAMINER'S REPORT FOR 1895.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 7th May 1896.

RESOLUTION—No. 132T.-M.

READ—

A letter from the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, No. 3149, dated the 7th April 1896, forwarding the Report of the Chemical Examiner to Government for the year 1895.

READ also—

The Report for 1894 and the Resolution recorded on it.

During the year under review the number of analyses performed was 3,342, against 2,940 in 1894 and 3,462 in 1893. This increase of 402 analyses occurred chiefly under suspected substances other than animal tissue, articles tested for stains, petroleum, adulterated spirits, and analyses performed for various departments of Government. Besides his analytical work, the Chemical Examiner gave opinions on 21 technical questions, including the storage of petroleum in bulk, the proposed amendments of the Petroleum Act, the testing of petroleum, the explosive character of picric acid, the stabili y of roburite in India, the commercial uses of arsenic, the interpretation of chemical analyses of water, the use of polarite as a filter, and the water-supply of Karachi. He also reported on two applications for patents.

2. The number of medico-legal cases referred to the Chemical Examiner during the year rose from 787 to 829, and the articles examined in connexion with them from 1,451 to 1,644. Under the head human poisoning the number of cases fell from 463 to 450, while the number of articles examined rose from 841 to 957. At the same time the cases connected with stained articles rose from 101 to 156, and the number of articles examined from 243 to 309. Two cases of counterfeit coin and one of forged notes were reported on, involving the examination of 32 articles. The viscera of 292 human beings suspected to contain poison were examined during the year as against 290 in 1894, and in 54·45 per cent. of these poison was found, against 45·86 per cent. in 1894 and 45·95 in 1893. The most common form of poison was opium, which was detected in 26·54 per cent. of the cases of human poisoning, against 21·55 in 1894. Among the other kinds of poison found the principal were arsenic and morphia. In 133 out of 292 human viscera and in 451 out of 872 other suspected substances sent up for analysis, no poison was detected. The number of cattle viscera examined declined from 154 to 132, and arsenic was discovered in 79·54 per cent., against 74·67 per cent.

3. The number of articles tested for purity and quality increased from 1,489 to 1,698, including 457 samples of explosives, 482 of petroleum and other inflammable oils, 40 samples of spirit and 22 of ghee and butter alleged to have been adulterated, 54 samples of spirit tested for the Collector of Customs, 41 samples of opium, 10 of limo-juice, and 274 articles received from various departments of Government. The Chemical Examiner also carried out the quinquennial verification, required under Act XII of 1886, of 19 sets of apparatus for testing petroleum.

4. The number of analyses of drinking water conducted during the year was 183 (166 chemical and 17 bacteriological) against 197 in 1894. The results of the chemical analyses were as follows:—

Good ...	... 22	Indifferent ...	... 38
Fair ...	... 49	Bad ...	... 57

Only 18 samples of water were received from municipalities, and of these one was found to be good, four fair, four indifferent and nine bad. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the systematic registration of the sources of water-supply in town and districts which is about to be undertaken will result in a larger number of samples being submitted for analysis. Among the cases of bad water mentioned by the Chemical Examiner, the water of the sacred tank Swet-Ganga at Puri and that of the Ballykhal near Hooghly are conspicuous for the large proportion of chlorine and albuminoid ammonia which they contain and are described as seriously polluted. It is satisfactory to find that in most cases where water has been sent for analysis both before and after filtration its chemical character is stated to have been improved by the process. The arrangements noticed in paragraph 3 of the Resolution recorded on the Chemical Examiner's report for 1894, under which the work of analysing water sent up for examination by Municipalities and District Boards was entrusted to Mr. Norman Rudolf, of Siwan, a private chemist, have since been abandoned, and the work transferred to the Chemical Examiner, whose staff has been increased for this purpose.

5. Since the submission of the report under review, Surgeon-Captain Evans's connexion with the Chemical Examiner's Department has ceased. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to record here his sense of the valuable services rendered by Dr. Evans during his tenure of the laborious and responsible office of Chemical Examiner, and to thank him for his clear and concise report. His Honour's thanks are due also to the members of the Laboratory staff, and especially to Assistant Surgeon Chuni Lal Bose and Babu Ram Chandra Datta, for the efficient manner in which they performed their duties during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

WATER-SUPPLY.

No. 1989M.—The 12th May 1896.—The following reports on the scarcity of water are published for general information.

H. H. Risley,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 242G., dated Burdwan, the 1st May 1896.

From—C. Fisher, Esq., Offg. Magistrate-Collector of Burdwan,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my No. 170G. of 22nd April 1896, I have the honour to submit the following further report.

2. Since the 26th the weather has been more disturbed, and I am glad to be able to report a fall of 2·87 inches at Kalna on the 29th instant. Kalna has been exceptionally fortunate, as since the 26th the rainfall there has measured 3·47 inches. The Subdivisional Officer of Katwa has not reported any rain, but at Burdwan we had ·17 inch on the afternoon of the 28th. I have not heard of any rain at Raniganj.

3. The meeting of the District Board, to which I referred in paragraph 7 of my last report, could not be held, as the list of members of the new Board has recently been published, and fresh notices have had to be issued. The first meeting of the newly constituted Board will be held on Monday next.

4. I have been pushing on the construction of the wells which the District Board has in hand. All the well-diggers available in this district are now at work, and the contractors have imported 10 more from the Bankura district. As soon as the services of these well-diggers are available, on the completion of the wells at present in hand, I intend to employ them on the construction of five more wells at Dharapara, Kulchanda, Negoon, Koichur and Galsi, where scarcity of water is being felt. I have instructed the District Engineer to purchase a tube-well, and others will be put down if this one works well. My experience of them is, however, that they are liable to get out of order in a short time if skilled mechanical supervision is not at hand.

5. I have advanced a sum of Rs. 5,790 under the Land Improvement Act during the month of April, and this sum will be devoted almost entirely to the re-excavation of tanks. The Manager of His Highness the Maharani Surnomoyee, C.I., informs me that he had taken in hand the re-excavation of a large tank at Majiarah in this district at a cost of Rs 1,560. The Manager of the Burdwan Raj is pushing on the works he has in hand, details of which were given in my last weekly report, and he has also been advancing money to substantial tenants for the re-excavation of tanks and the sinking of wells.

6. The Subdivisional Officer of Raniganj informs me that in the colliery tracts there is an ample supply of water, as the colliery owners are taking steps to provide good water, in order to prevent their coolies from leaving their pits. The Barakar Iron and Steel Works Company and the Bengal Paper Mills Company are providing good water for their employés. At the towns of Asansol and Raniganj good water is scarce, but three tanks are being re-excavated at Raniganj, and the wells are still supplying water and are being cleaned out. The Bengal Coal Company are pumping up water from one of their pits near the Raniganj Bazar. There is a good well at Asansol which has recently been cleaned out by a Marwari trader at his own expense, and a private tank has been thrown open to the public for drinking purposes. There are also three wells in the middle of the Asansol Bazar on the Grand Trunk Road. These have recently been cleaned out by the District Board.

7. In the eastern parts of the Raniganj subdivision water is not so plentiful, and scarcity is said to exist at Koksa and at Gopalpur. The District Board are making a new well at Panagar which is within half a mile of Koksa. The District Engineer, who has recently visited Gopalpur, tells me that there is a large tank just outside the village of Gopalpur, and that it at present contains plenty of good water. The small tanks in the village have no doubt dried up.

8. I find that there are no wells in any of the police-station compounds in this district, except at Budbud. I have written to the Inspector-General of Police, suggesting that something should be done. A tube-well might be sunk at each station.

9. In the Katwa subdivision there are in all 48 villages where good water is not available close at hand, but they are all within reach of the various rivers which run through the subdivision. Four are within ¼ mile of some river, 3 within ½ a mile, 15 within 1 mile, 10 within 1½ miles, 6 within 2 miles, 4 within 2½ miles, and 6 within 3 miles. I am glad to hear that the people of this subdivision are helping themselves, and, where necessary, are using their carts to fetch water from the rivers. As no ploughing can be done till rain falls and softens the surface of the ground, the carting of water will not be felt so much of a hardship. The people are also digging wells in the beds of the tanks which have run dry, and some wells have also been sunk by private individuals. The Subdivisional Officer has called a meeting of zamindars to consider the question, but I have not yet received his report.

10. The Subdivisional Officer of Kalna reports that he has only heard of one village where water has to be fetched from a distance of more than one mile; and that though people are no doubt put to inconvenience, yet it cannot be said that there is, or has been, a water famine. If the rainfall reported from Kalna itself has been general throughout the subdivision, there need be no further anxiety about water in that quarter.

No. 140T.M., dated Darjeeling, the 7th May 1896.

From—H. H RISLEY, ESQ., C.I.E., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
To—The Collector of Burdwan.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 242G., dated the 1st May 1896, in which you report on the condition of water-supply in your district and the action taken by you and the District Board, and the managers of the Maharani Sarnomoyi, C.I., and of the Burdwan Raj, in affording relief to the people in those parts of the district where scarcity of water was felt.

2. In reply, I am directed to express the Lieutenant-Governor's satisfaction at the energy with which the work has been taken in hand throughout the district, and to request that His Honour's thanks may be conveyed to the Maharani Sarnomoyi, C.I., and the Manager of the Burdwan Raj, for the assistance rendered by them in the present emergency.

No. 558, dated Birbhum, the 2nd May 1896.

From—E. G. DRAKE-BROCKMAN, ESQ., Magistrate of Birbhum,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my report dated the 24th April 1896 regarding the present condition of the water-supply of this district, I have the honour to state that there has been little change in the condition during the week. Rain has fallen over part of the district, and though not enough to be of much use to dwellers by tanks, yet it will benefit to some extent those by the rivers.

2. The District Board at their meeting resolved that the Chairman should do what he thought necessary to relieve distress where it appeared. The money sanctioned for this purpose is Rs. 1,000, and there is a balance remaining from last year of Rs. 1,289. These sums will, I hope, be sufficient for the present. There is no need to ask the Board for a further allotment yet. I have ordered katcha wells to be dug wherever reports show they are required. I have also arranged for some pucca wells and ring wells where such are likely to be of permanent benefit. It is by the digging of wells that the Board can do most benefit, as the attempts to take over tanks have been hitherto almost wholly unsuccessful. At present there are only two tanks reserved by the Board in this district, though negotiations are going on in regard to others. I consider that where villagers are willing to aid with contributions, they should be first attended to. It is necessary to make some such conditions among a population too prone to cry aloud and do nothing to help themselves till driven by force of circumstances.

3. Little or no help I find is to be obtained from zamindars. The majority of them are non-residents and their lands let out to patnidars, who do not seem to take much pains to improve their estates. One zamindar, the Subdivisional Officer of Rampur Hát reports, is averse to leasing land for the digging of tanks owing to the rent obtainable being less than that for arable land. This policy is certainly a shortsighted one, as tanks are greatly needed for irrigation in this district.

4. From the reports received during the week, no village appears to be altogether without water yet.

No. 601, dated Bankura, the 5th May 1896.

From—N. Bonham-Carter, Esq., Magistrate of Bankura,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my letter No. 569, dated 29th ultimo, I have the honour to submit my weekly report on the condition of water-supply of this district for the week ending 5th May 1896.

2. Since the last report, the Special Sub-Committee appointed to consider measures for water-supply have met three times, and on their recommendations three permanent wells—viz., one in thana Gangajalghati in the Sadar, and two in thana Sonamukhi in the sub-division of Vishnupur—have been sanctioned.

3. Of the 33 wells previously sanctioned, work is in full progress in 9 in the Sadar and 5 in the Vishnupur sub-division. Arrangements have also been made to start the remaining wells.

4. With regard to the measures for affording immediate relief, 28 wells in the sandy beds of rivers and streams and in low lands and tanks have been sunk, and work in 16 is in progress. Sites for 41 more have been selected in different localities in the Sadar sub-division in which the work is being started. No reports regarding the sinking of such wells in the Vishnupur sub-division, for which purpose the Board have sanctioned the expenditure of Rs. 400, have yet been received.

5. As the money at the disposal of the local bodies is limited, no attempt has been made to excavate any tanks. But in response to my appeal to the more important landholders of the district, Raja Sir Sourindra Mohun Tagore has generously afforded? a sum of Rs. 1,000 for the excavation of a tank for the benefit of his tenants in estate Shyamsundarpur. The District Engineer has been requested to select a suitable site for it.

6. In the Municipality of Bankura the Commissioners have taken action to compel the owners of some of the tanks to re-dig them, and have prosecuted certain owners who have failed to carry out their orders.

7. I am glad to say that ·19 inch of rain was registered at the Sadar station on the night of the 3rd instant, and again ·58 inch yesterday afternoon. As far as I have ascertained, the rain has been fairly general throughout the district, and will no doubt afford considerable relief. The weather too is still unsettled, and on receipt of more exact information, I will consider whether measures of temporary relief should not be stopped.

No. 436G., dated Midnapore, the 2nd May 1896.

From—W. R. Bright, Esq., Collector of Midnapore,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my Report No. 231G., dated 22nd ultimo, I have the honour to report that the position of things at present is this:—

Sadar Sub-division.—Water-supply is low everywhere, but is only reported as scarce in the higher parts of Gopiballabpur, Binpur and Keshpur thanas.

Subordinates of the District Engineer's establishment have been deputed to make local enquiries, select spots where wells are urgently required, and to report.

The water-supply is very low in the town, but wells are being deepened, and some water is being carted from the river.

Tamluk Sub-division.—The smaller tanks in the villages are reported to have dried up, but there is sufficient water in the larger tanks, from which people are drawing their supply for drinking water.

Ghatal Sub-division.—The Sub-divisional Officer reports that the situation is not, at present, very serious. Drinking water is not beyond the reach of the people anywhere, though good drinking water is becoming every day scarcer. No one, at present, apprehends that there will be a water famine. "There is no serious deficiency," he writes, "anywhere now; only there is some inconvenience owing to want of good drinking water in populous localities, while, in the case of isolated villages, which are very thinly populated, and which, being but recent growths, do not contain any very large tanks, the people have to go a distance of a mile, at the most, to fetch their water for drinking purposes."

So long as the cross-bunds on the Silye and Cosye are kept up, no water famine is anticipated.

Contai Sub-division.—The Sub-divisional Officer submitted a short report that the want of drinking water is being felt in several parts of the sub-division, and promised a fuller report, which has not been received.

2. At present, therefore, the general condition of the district is not very critical. During the current month we usually receive some heavy rain, and, if we get this, our difficulties will be entirely removed.

The average rainfall in May for last seven years is just under 5 inches.

The next point to be reported is the measures which are being adopted to meet the situation.

3. Generally speaking, in Contai and Tamluk sub-divisions, wells are of no use, as the soil is so saliferous that the water soon becomes unfit for drinking purposes. In these sub-divisions, generally speaking, good drinking water can only be obtained from tanks where the sweet rain water overcomes the brackish taste of the water obtained by digging.

Little or nothing can, therefore, be done in these sub-divisions at present. In Tamluk some of the smaller tanks are being re-excavated, and a tank at Panskura has been re-excavated at the expense of the Union Committee.

The Sub-divisional Officer has addressed the zamindars, and instructed the owners of tanks to apply for loans under the Act. So far as I know, no applications have been received.

As regards Contai, a tank is being re-excavated by the Local Board, and a well is being dug in a suitable locality.

As regards Ghatal, the District Board have sanctioned Rs. 1,000 for the construction of the wells recommended by the Sub-divisional Officer, and I am taking steps to have the work started without delay.

The Sub-divisional Officer has also widely notified, that loans under the Improvement Act should be applied for.

As regards the Sadar, local enquiries are being made, and weekly reports are to be submitted by the subordinates of the District Engineer's staff, the Excise Sub-Inspectors, and the School Sub-Inspectors.

Two loans of Rs. 500 each have been granted since 1st April under the Act for re-excavation of tanks, after the security has been tested and found sufficient.

The Kanungo is enquiring into ten more applications in the Keshpur thana' while a newly appointed Sub-Deputy Collector, who reported himself yesterday (1st May), has been entrusted with the other applications which are pending.

The police have been directed to send in a list for each village in their ilaquas, giving present condition of water supply.

All the zamindars have been appealed to, and the Police directed, at the next parade day, to let every one know that applications for loans for improvements will be gladly received. At the same time, the District Board had placed Rs. 1,000 aside for meeting the needs of the Sadar subdivision, and has put aside Rs. 1,000 more for similar works which may be found necessary. I have reported to the Commissioner that, in view of the urgency of the situation, I propose to commence necessary works, without the ordinary formalities of estimates and sanction.

4. Fortnightly meetings of the District Board will be held, so that applications for money can be disposed of without delay.

5. I have also ordered the Managers of Wards' Estates to report any steps which may be necessary in their charges, and instructed them to use all their influence to induce the raiyats to help themselves.

Nothing else, so far as I can see, remains to be done by Government. The remedy is with the people themselves. If they will take the trouble and combine to excavate their tanks, or to sink wells for themselves, they can supply themselves with sufficient water-supply. If they are not energetic, or public-spirited enough to do this of themselves, we cannot help them. The area is too vast; the number of villages too great, and the time too short.

In ordinary years we get some rainfall in April, but unfortunately even this has failed us this year, and we can now only hope that we shall get the usual fall this month.

6. As regards the cross-bunds mentioned by the subdivisional officer, Ghatal, the Executive Engineer has, at my request, referred the question to superior authority whether the time up to which they are, at present, to be allowed to remain; the 20th instant cannot be extended.

There will, no doubt, be a risk, judging from previous years, in their remaining longer; but, in my opinion, the risk should be run.

7. As regards cholera, I would note that, up to the present, cholera has not appeared in any serious epidemic form in the parts where water is scarcest. The Sadar has been visited with only about its normal amount, and the epidemic is, at present, confined to the Panskura and Maisadal thanas of the Tamluk sub-division, where there is, comparatively speaking, plenty of water.

No. 549G., dated Howrah, the 29th April 1896.

From—H. F. T. Maguire, Esq., Magistrate of Howrah,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In reply to your telegram of the 20th instant, asking for a report regarding the water-supply in this district, I have the honour to state that most of the district lies along the Hooghly and Rupnarain rivers, and can thence obtain supplies of water. The northern part of the district, consisting of the Amta and Jagadballavpur thanas, which was formerly supplied by the Damodar and Kana Damodar rivers, now unfortunately suffers owing to the diversion of the waters of those rivers. I had hoped to obtain some help from the Engineer in charge of the Damodar, but he informs me that no water is available. I am now arranging to have wells sunk in the villages of this tract where they are most needed, but the supply of tube wells at Messrs. Leslie and Sons has been exhausted. I have instructed the District Engineer to try and get suitable wells elsewhere. They are advertised also by Messrs. Jessop and Company. I have not yet received full reports as to the rain which fell yesterday, but it has done some good certainly. Cartage of water is, I fear, not feasible, as the distances are too great.

No. 153D.B., dated, Alipore, the 2nd May 1896.

From—E. W. Collin, Esq., Magistrate and Chairman, District Board, 24-Parganas,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my letter No. 110D.B., dated 23rd April 1896, regarding the water-supply of the district, I have the honour to inform you that I have not yet received the information which I have called for as to the exact extent of the scarcity, and I have nothing special to add to the last report. I have during the week visited three localities in the Barasat subdivision, and I have found that there is a fair supply of drinking water in certain tanks, which may be expected to last until the rains. Some villages are without a supply of drinking water, and have to bring it from a distance of a mile or more, but the people generally do not apprehend more than temporary discomfort on this account. They have in some cases dug excavations in their tanks, from which in a few cases drinking water is obtained, or, more generally, a supply of water for the cattle. I find that everywhere the work of re-excavating and clearing tanks is going on briskly. I have only found one instance of a well having been dug by a private person. This was in the north of the district, and the well was sunk to 45 feet, and has now about 10 feet of water in it.

2. The District Board met on the 24th April and resolved to place Rs. 5,000 at my disposal for the purposes of water-supply. This is in addition to the sum of Rs. 2,000 already provided in the budget on this account. They were of opinion that the people would not organise themselves, as suggested in the latter part of paragraph 1 of the Circular No. 23L.S.-G., dated 11th April 1896, but approved of the following proposals:—

(1) That temporary wells should be dug in localities which are in special need of water and cannot provide it for themselves.

(2) That in other localities grants-in-aid should be given up to Rs. 25 to any headmen of villages or others who would execute a written agreement to dig a well or make an excavation for the supply of drinking water on condition that the people of the neighbourhood should be allowed to use it.

3. With regard to these proposals the District Engineer reports that since the last report and up to the 28th five more temporary wells have been dug, making a total of 25. Arrangements have been made for sinking nine more wells. One Norton tube well at Barasat is successful. Another at Basudebpur is a failure. The water is at a depth of 45 feet, and the pump cannot draw it so far.

4. In order to carry out the proposals of the Board to give grants-in-aid and those of Government to give loans freely under the Land Improvement Act, I have divided the Barasat, Basirhat and Sadar subdivisions into circle The Subdivisional Officers and a Deputy Collector at head-quarters are in charge of this work, and they have under them the Excise Sub-Inspectors, School Sub-Inspectors, Kanungoes, Sub-Deputy Collectors and District Board Overseers and Sub-Overseers each in charge of a circle. They are required systematically to visit and report on the villages of their circles and to explain to the people the relief which the District Board is prepared to give in grants-in-aid and that which Government will give as loans. They are supplied with forms of agreements and application to provide for the speedy distribution of grants. I have directed that if a small loan up to Rs. 100 is required under the Land Improvements Act, it may be given without making all the usual inquiries as to security required under the rules. I have ascertained that for about Rs. 100 a small tank can ordinarily be sufficiently deepened to procure a small supply of water.

5. I may add that though on the 14th April I issued notices through the Police inviting applications for grants-in-aid, I have only received ten applications so far from four thanas which have submitted returns. Of these only three are prepared to raise local funds for well digging.

No. 93M., dated Berhampur, the 5th May 1896.

From— E. V. LEVINGE, ESQ., Magistrate of Murshidabad,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following further report on the condition of the water-supply of the district.

2. I have little to add to what I have stated on the subject in my last week's report. Since that was written there has been some good rain in parts of the district, and the daily police reports show that the outbreak of cholera is rapidly abating. Applications for the re-excavation of tanks continue to be received, but this is not to be wondered at, now that it is generally known that the District Board have resolved to spend a larger sum this year than hitherto on water-supply. Applications for wells are very few in number, and in several instances, where officers of the District Board have been sent out to make enquiries, they have been told that there is already a sufficient supply of water for drinking purposes, and that cutcha wells are not required. Several masonry wells ordered by the District Board are now in course of completion: but new masonry wells, or the re-excavation of tanks, will not now be started until after the rainy season. The action of the District Board is at present directed only to the digging of cutcha and ordinary wells with baked rings at those places in which no rain has fallen and the want of drinking water is specially felt, and forty-six of these wells have already been completed. The question of suitable places for re-excavating and reserving tanks, and for the sinking of masonry wells, will be further considered before the next cold weather, and efforts will be made in the interval to induce zamindars and villagers to co-operate with the District Board in the work, although hitherto such efforts have not met with any success. In the meanwhile, I think it may be confidently asserted that there need be no apprehension of a water-famine in any portion of the district.

No. 891G., dated Jessore, the 4th May 1896.

From—F. S. Hamilton, Esq., Magistrate of Jessore,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of this office No. 837G., dated the 28th ultimo, on the subject of water-supply, I have the honour to submit the following Weekly Progress Report.

2. During the week which has just expired, two wells, with earthen rings, were sunk in the Sadar subdivision—one on the side of each of the two roads, Jessore-Kaliganj and Jessore-Calcutta.

3. In the Narail subdivision, 14 temporary wells were dug during the week under report—in Bangaon 25, Jhenida 6, and in Magura 12. The Subdivisional Officers do not consider any more temporary wells necessary.

4. Throughout the district many of the owners of old tanks have got their tanks re-excavated, and some persons have dug new tanks. In the Jessore Municipality, 13 tanks are being re-excavated by private owners. In the Magura subdivision, 8 tanks have been re-excavated, and 12 wells have been deepened. In the Bangaon subdivision, 2 tanks are being re-excavated. In every subdivision there has been daily rainfall during the last four or five days, so that there is little want of water now. As relief measures, I do not think it is necessary to do anything more, under the present circumstances.

No. 194J., dated Boalia, the 29th April 1896.

From—N. K. Bose, Esq., Magistrate of Rajshahi,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Dept., Darjeeling.

In continuation of this office No. 139J., dated the 21st April 1896, on the subject of scarcity of water-supply in this district, I have the honour to report as follows.

2. Further enquiries show that although in some parts of the district there is some scarcity of good drinking water, it cannot be said that there is any actual want or that people do not get water to drink at all. Up to date I have received some four or five applications for excavation of tanks and wells, and they are being enquired into.

3. The situation has been changed very much for the better by the heavy rainfall on the 26th and 27th instant, which amounted to 2·01 inches.

4. The District Board at their meeting of the 28th instant have passed the following resolutions:—

(1) That the allotment made in the budget for 1896-97 for water-supply be raised from Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 6,000.

(2) That the unspent balance of the last year under head "Water-supply," amounting to about Rs. 3,700, be re-allotted this year.

Orders have been passed on the District Engineer to commence the excavation of wells, the estimates for which have been already sanctioned by the Board, viz., at Baneswar, Thakur Manda, and Kanpara. He has been also instructed to excavate, as an experimental measure, a well with corrugated iron rings at a cost of Rs. 385 at Kapasia on the Nator road. The Civil Surgeon has given his opinion that the use of corrugated iron rings will not spoil the water. If the experiment succeeds, more wells will be dug on the same plan.

5. The District Board have further resolved to try the Noakhali scheme, alluded to in Government Circular No. 22L.S.-G., dated 2nd April 1896, as also to make another experiment with tube wells.

No. 1047J / XXXIX-28, dated Rangpur, the 5th May 1896.

From—J. H. Temple, Esq., Magistrate of Rangpur,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my report No. J/967, dated 28th April 1896, I have the honour to report that I have since received reports from the Sub-divisional Officer of Gaibanda and the District Superintendent of Police with reference to the supply of water in that sub-division. Each reports that there is no scarcity of drinking water either for men or cattle. Except in sub-divisions Nilphamari and Gaibanda, there have been heavy showers of rain throughout the district. Kurigram, where want of water was causing some inconvenience, reports 3·76 inches and the Sadar 5·25 during the past week. It appears that in no part of the district has it been necessary to sink new wells, as, even before the late rain, those already existing have never been in danger of running dry, and I now think that I can say with some confidence that a scarcity of drinking water, which at one time it was thought might possibly happen in portions of the district, will not occur.

No. 211J., dated Pabna, the 1st May 1896.

From—J. H. Lea, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Pabna,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my report No. 167J., dated 24th April, concerning the scarcity of water in this district, and in accordance with the instructions contained in your telegram of 20th April, I beg to submit the following weekly report.

Since my last report more or less active measures have been taken to give assistance where required. The Sirajganj Local Board have determined to sink 20 ring wells, and the Sirajganj Overseer and Local Board Clerk are engaged in fixing sites for these wells. In the Sadar subdivision the Sub-Overseer who was deputed to special work has made enquiries throughout Dulai thana, the thana in which the scarcity of drinking water is reported to be most keenly felt, and has submitted a report as to the nature of the assistance required, mostly in providing ring wells and sinking holes in beds of tanks. I have handed over Rs. 285 to him, and he has gone back to Dulai thana to distribute the money to responsible persons and set the work in hand. As soon as this is finished, he will visit Sara outpost, the next thana where water is reported to be very scarce. In the Pabna thana the police have supplied a list of those villages where help is required. I have myself visited several other villages; in some of them I found that no assistance was required, and in others I offered to give assistance from the District Board, provided that the villagers would themselves first subscribe some small amount; this they have not yet done. Meanwhile I have written to the zamindars of these villages and requested them to assist their raiyats by excavating tanks, etc.

The rains will be on us in five weeks' time, and it is far too late to attempt anything in the form of a permanent water-supply in any village, such as masonry wells, with the one exception of tube wells, and of these the District Board has ordered three as an experimental measure.

I am glad to be able to report, however, that for the past four evenings we have had storms with slight rainfall, and yesterday evening we had a fall of 1·13 inches of rain. This rain has been sufficient to partially fill dried up wells and holes, and whilst not sufficient to appreciably benefit the many tanks in this district, has been sufficient to compensate for at least 10 or 15 days' wastage by evaporation. Prospects have therefore greatly improved. Moreover, the various officers whose reports have come in all report that whilst want of water is causing very considerable distress, there is no cause for anxiety, and no outbreak of cholera or other disease has as yet occurred owing to a short supply of water; in fact, the cholera in this district, which rise every year at this time, has very much decreased in the past 15 days, and the cases now being reported are very few.

I do not apprehend that the distress, or rather, I think, I might call it inconvenience, caused by the scarcity of water is likely to increase. On the other hand it is possible that we may get more rain, and put a stop to it at once. Anyhow it cannot last for more than five or six weeks.

No. 1663, dated Arrah, the 2nd May 1896.

From—W. Egerton, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Shahabad,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of this office No. 1514, dated the 25th ultimo, I have the honour to submit the second progress report for the week ending 2nd current, on the subject of the water-supply.

2. Since the submission of the last report, the District Board held a meeting on the 29th ultimo, at which it was resolved that the Board, although at present of opinion that no distress on account of the want of drinking water exists in this district, think it desirable to increase their present budget allotment of Rs. 2,000 for the construction and repairs of wells to Rs. 5,000. It was further resolved that out of this sum Rs. 500 each be allotted to the Local Boards of Sasaram, Buxar and Bhabhua for use as occasion arises.

3. The Board also passed the following estimates to allow of sinking new wells and repairing old ones :—

	Rs.
Construction of a pucca well	221
Sinking a pucca well	372
Repairs of roadside wells	1,092

4. Reassuring replies have been received from all Sub-divisional Officers, and similar reports to the effect that there is no scarcity of drinking water have been received from other sources. Many of the members of the District Board, including Messrs. Mylne and Fox, who have a very long experience of this district and its requirements, reported favourably as regards water-supply.

5. For the purpose of disinfecting wells and purifying water-supply, I have, in accordance with the instructions contained in Sanitary Commissioner's Circular No. 450, dated 9th November 1895, introduced permanganate of potassium into all the Municipalities of this district, and also for all wells on the roadside under the District Board.

6. The wells of the town itself will be disinfected. The town water-supply is of course excellent owing to the water-works.

No. 1200, dated Chapra, the 2nd May 1896.

From—H. Wheeler, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Saran,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of this office No. 1068 of 22nd ultimo, on subject of water-supply in this district, I have the honour to report as follows.

2. The subject was laid before the District Board meeting on the 25th ultimo for discussion. I made particular enquiries of the European planters and native gentlemen present, and gathered that so far there is no extraordinary scarcity of water in the district. The district police reports for this week corroborate the above. The Sub-divisional Officer, Gopalganj, reports slight difficulty in parts in obtaining water for cattle as the water channels are drying up. I have requested him to recommend shallow excavation in the beds of the channels. The Sub divisional Officer, Siwan, has not submitted his report as asked for.

3. The District Board have agreed to raise their allotment from Rs. 3,500 to Rs. 5,000, and arrangements are being made to spend it as far as possible within the month. The District Board has been recently working on the lines of taking up and improving existing roadside wells rather than sinking new ones, and the work will be pushed on in this direction. Orders have been given for the cleaning and disinfecting of all wells under the charge of the District Board, and Municipalities have been written to, to do the same within their jurisdictions. It is reported that the method of disinfection with permanganate of potash is not popular on account of the temporary discoloration of the water.

4. There has been no influx of petitions for loans and advances.

5. I have also addressed the leading zamindars on the subject by letter.

No. 619, dated Motihari, the 2nd May 1896.

From—D. J. MACPHERSON, ESQ., Magistrate of Champaran,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my letter No. 567, dated 24th ultimo, regarding scarcity of water, I have the honour to report that during the past week I have received no very definite information as to scarcity of water. The District Superintendent of Police and District Engineer went as far as the Nepal border on the north during the week, and found no want of drinking water. The chaukidars of some villages who have been questioned on muster days by the Police report want of wells; but the reports do not show what the existing sources of water-supply are, or whether they are in order. In other cases scarcity of drinking water is reported; but here also there is vagueness as to the actual condition of the wells or other sources of supply. In this district most of the wells are cutcha, and a very little expense and trouble on the part of the villagers themselves will improve them. I am collecting precise information on all points, and letting the people know that advances will be freely given for the construction and improvement of masonry wells. In several thanas absolutely no scarcity is reported.

2. As to roadside wells, a number have been cleaned out and repaired at the cost of the District Board during the week, and wherever I hear of any requiring attention, the District Engineer is instructed to put them in order at once.

3. In the immediate neighbourhood of the Dhanauti river good water cannot be obtained, and the people keep very bad health; but this is not due to scarcity of water, but to the character of the water in the subsoil. The tract has been very feverish in consequence for a long time, but it is reported that it is getting worse year by year. When I receive more definite information on this subject, I propose laying the matter before the Sanitary Commissioner.

4. I may add that the permanent District Engineer, Mr. Sealy, who knows the whole district thoroughly, assured me, before he went on leave last week, that there need be no apprehension of scarcity of water in the district, more than what the people are themselves in the habit of coping with.

5. So far there has hardly been any cholera in the district. It has been reported only from three villages.

No. 852J., dated Monghyr, the 2nd May 1896.

From—C. R. MARRIOTT, ESQ., Magistrate of Monghyr,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to your telegram dated 20th April 1896, I have the honour to report that no scarcity of water is anticipated in Sadar or Beguserai subdivisions at present. At Jamui the Local Board Overseer has been ordered to deepen the existing wells where necessary, and a copy of the Government telegram has been sent to all leading zamindars with request to take prompt action where necessary. It does not appear that matters have come to anything like a crisis yet, and if the people get a good shower of rain within a month, no serious scarcity of water is likely to appear.

2. Silt clearance of all District Board and Local Board wells of the district is in progress. There is sufficient water in wells according to the District

Engineer at present. There is an allotment of Rs. 6,000 in the Budget for 1896-97 for sinking new wells, and the allotment will be increased by the District Board at any time in case of need.

No. 856J., dated Bhagalpur, the 2nd May 1896.

From—H. J. McIntosh, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Bhagalpur,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my No. 776J., dated 22nd ultimo, I have the honour to submit the following weekly report on the water-supply of this district.

2. No complaint of scarcity of water has reached me from the Sadar sub-division.

3. The Sub-divisional Officer of Madhepura reports that there is no serious deficiency of water anywhere in his sub-division.

4. The Sub-divisional Officer of Supaul also reports there is no scarcity of water in his sub-division, but has recommended that a tube-well should be sunk in a village called Kanowli, where there has been a very bad outbreak of cholera. The District Board have directed the District Engineer to sink a tube-well there at once.

5. The Sub-divisional Officer of Banka has discovered eight villages in which there is a difficulty in procuring a good water-supply. He has called upon the zamindars and others to take whatever steps are possible for improving the supply, and has also asked the District Board to give him assistance. The matter is receiving attention, and assistance will be forthcoming from the Board as soon as the Sub-divisional Officer can say what is required.

6. The District Board, I am glad to report, are quite prepared to do anything that may be required of them in this matter. At a meeting of the Board held on the 29th ultimo, the Chairman was authorized to spend up to Rs. 5,000 on wells, tanks, &c., should it be necessary to do so.

No. 291G., dated Purnea, the 6th May 1896.

From—J. H. Bernard, Esq., Collector of Purnea,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my No. 228G., dated the 28th ultimo, I have the honour to report that no complaint of scarcity of water in any part of this district has up to date been received.

2. At its meeting on the 4th instant, the Purnea District Board considered the Government circular on the subject, No. 22L.S.-G., dated 2nd April 1896, and resolved that there was no scarcity of water for drinking purposes; but as Government has advised more liberal expenditure on water-supply, it resolved for the present to double the allotment in the current year's budget for the purpose, and thus raise it to Rs. 3,000.

No. 63G., dated Malda, the 4th May 1896.

Memo. by—J. C. Price, Esq., Collector of Malda.

Copy submitted to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Financial Department, in continuation of my No. 368, dated 22nd April last, for information.

No. 62G., dated Malda, the 3rd May 1896.

From—J. C. Price, Esq., Collector of Malda,
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.

In continuation of my letter No. 368, dated the 22nd ultimo, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Financial Department, which was drafted by me while I was in the interior, and a copy of which was sent to you with my office No 369 of the 24th idem, I have the honour to submit a further report as required by Government. This present report has been somewhat delayed, for which I must express my regret; but I returned from camp to head-quarters so late as the 1st instant, and the materials for writing it have only come to hand within the last day or two; succeeding reports will be submitted more punctually.

2. I visited the jurisdictions of police stations Nawabganj and Gomastapur last month. In the former, the only place where water might, primâ facie, have been thought to be scarce was the Barind tract. I was for several days moving about the Barind, and on the 24th ultimo met the people of many villages who had come to the hât held weekly at Bakoil village. There was not a single complaint preferred of want of water of any kind. I was informed that, if wells were dug, the water would not be used for drinking purposes, being accounted brackish, or "nona" in the vernacular; that wells were unsuited to the country; and that, though the water in the village tanks was unusually low, still it was hoped that it would hold out till the rains set in. What the people said they wanted were dispensaries. The Sub-Inspector of Police was with me, and I ordered him to enquire and submit a list of tanks which might very expeditiously be re-excavated; also of the sites for a few wells, principally on the side of the road leading from Godagari viâ Jhelim to Dinajpur, which runs for about 17 miles through this district. Nawabganj police station jurisdiction, I am satisfied, is not in want at present of a sufficient supply of fairly good drinking water; the river Mohananda bounds it on the west; at the same time it may be thought expedient, so unusual is the season, that some improvement in the water-supply should be taken in hand with an eye to the future.

3. I moved camp on the 26th ultimo to the jurisdiction of police station Gomastapur, and remained in camp there till the end of the month in the Rohanpur Barind tract. This locality is in places very badly off for good drinking water, or indeed water of any kind; in my opinion it is the worst off for water of all places in the district. I conferred with the Sub-Inspector of Police, and have supplied him with Rs. 500 to re-excavate three tanks that had completely dried up, and to dig a certain number of wells in the more densely populated parts of the police station jurisdiction, and by the side of the district roads. If digging of wells does not succeed, additional old tanks will be renovated. In places the people volunteered to pay half the cost of the restoration of the desiccated tanks. This would show that there is a real want to be met here. The people, though they show a disinclination to use the water of wells, should, in my opinion, by very means in our power, be educated to appreciate wells as a source of water-supply at all times, including this time of scarcity; that is, if the wells can be dug, which is not possible everywhere. I cannot describe the result of our endeavours to improve the water-supply in Gomastapur till my next report, but this part of the country will have my close personal attention directed to it.

4. The only other police station where there is any high or barind land is Gazole. The copy of the report of the District Superintendent of Police that I submit will show you what is being done in Gazole, where the state of things is nearly, though not quite, as bad as Gomastapur, and which I intend to visit shortly, after clearing off any arrears of office work there may be.

5. With regard to the police stations Tulsihata, Kharba, Ratna, and Manikchuk, from which places I have not yet received any reports or complaints, I may say that I do not think there can be scarcity of water in those parts of the district. Since October the rainfall in the north of the district has been quite ·89 as compared with ·77 at head-quarters, and ·35 down further south at Shibganj. Though Manikchuk has not shared in the larger fall of rain, still the country there cannot be very badly off for water, being bounded for a considerable length by the Ganges, and containing innumerable depressions, or "dhobas" in the vernacular, all with more or less water in them. However, I have called for information in respect of these police stations through the Police, and will take whatever action is necessary on the reports I receive.

6. With regard to English Bazar, Old Malda, and Kaliachuk also, the report of the District Superintendent details the action taken. In addition an old tank is being re-excavated by the District Engineer at Jadupur in English Bazar at an estimated cost of Rs. 323; one-fourth of the work has been completed. There is only Shibganj police station left, and in its jurisdiction a dried up tank at Patulitola is being re-excavated, according to the prayer of the inhabitants living close by, at an estimated cost of Rs 482, by the District Engineer. The work has already advanced considerably. I have, in respect of both these tanks, asked the zamindars or owners to surrender their rights, making them over to the District Board. I am not very sanguine of success; but in any case I will endeavour to prevent pollution of the water from fishing by nets, and bathing and washing clothes The tanks, if the proprietary rights cannot be transferred, should be reserved exclusively for drinking purposes. I do not think the owners or zamindars can reasonably object to this disposal of the tanks.

7. Lastly, in respect of the Khas Mahals of the district, situated in English Bazar and Kaliachuk police stations, the copy of the Khas Mahal Deputy Collector's report, which I am submitting, will show you what has been done since the commencement of the hot weather, what is being done at present, and what we hope to get done during the remainder of the dry weather. I hope Government will be satisfied that every reasonable endeavour is being made in this district to avert distress and suffering to human beings and cattle from the prevailing diminution of the water-supply owing to the prolonged drought. Already Rs. 5,000 nearly have been appropriated towards digging wells and re-excavating tanks. My main object is to secure the money being expended on water supplies of a permanent character, but wells will be dug in the beds of desiccated tanks and elsewhere, where it is found necessary to combat an immediate water famine. I am glad to say that the diminished water-supply in Malda has hitherto been unattended by cholera or other epidemic in the district.

No. 430R., dated Dumka, the 4th May 1896.

From—R. CARSTAIRS, Esq., Deputy Commissioner, Sonthal Parganas,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my No. 344R. of the 27th ultimo, I have the honour to report that there has been rain in Godda subdivision, and partial slight showers all over the district, except Deoghur, which has got no rain yet. The rain which has fallen is not, except in Godda, sufficient to give relief.

Ploughing has begun in many places. It is reported that there is still some distress for want of water. I have sanctioned the digging of 13 wells in the Government estate in Godda subdivision.

The Subdivisional Officer of Pakour reports that in his part people could not be got to work, as all are busy with marriages.

Action of Road Fund.

Four wells on the side of the Rampur Hát Road have been taken in hand, and wells are being dug in the Rajmahal Subdivisional Officer's compound, and at the Deoghur inspection bungalow.

No further action on the part of zamindars or people is reported.

There seems to be a likelihood of more rain.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0°·2 lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1896.

WEATHER during April was very uniform in character till near the end of the month, but with marked features of importance. The most important of these were—

(1) The almost entire absence of rainfall, except in East Bengal and Assam. About the 28th local storms became more general, and a large part of the fall for the month was received during the last three days, but especially on the 29th. In the table at the end of the report, it will be seen that no rain fell in Chota Nagpur; in Bihar the average fall was ·15 inch, only a quarter of the normal; in Orissa ·34 inch, and in South-West Bengal ·66 inch, both a third of the normal fall.

(2) The unusually high average temperature, which was partly due to continued westerly winds over a considerable part of the province and to the absence of local storms which are always followed by a period of cool weather.

The temperature table giving the variation in maximum, minimum and mean values at selected stations for the various weeks shows that for the first three weeks there was a large excess during both the night and the day, and that for the last week, though the days were still hotter than usual, except in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, the nights were almost everywhere comparatively cool.

A less important feature than the above two was the comparatively low pressure which obtained during the greater part of the month. The low pressure in Bengal probably had considerable influence in bringing about the hot, dry weather, because the westerly winds advanced further eastward over Lower Bengal than is usually the case in April; and it was over a tract of country where these westerly winds generally prevailed that excess of more than 5° was recorded. In Bihar, where hot winds are more common during April than in Lower Bengal, excess temperature was at times small compared with what it was in the southern and central districts. This is shown by the mean excess in Bihar being generally about 2°, while in other parts it was at many places as much as 4° or more.

Humidity was below the normal at those stations in Bengal where such a comparison can be made, but the amount of cloud differed but little from what prevails in an average year. In Assam, on the other hand, there was more moisture in the air, and considerably more cloud than is usual, and heavy rainfall occurred at Sibsagar and Silchar, the former receiving 16·44 and the latter 14·77 inches.

As the weather conditions were of the same uniform character during a large part of the month, it is unnecessary to give the daily changes, except where they were of exceptional character. On the 1st pressure was below the normal by about a tenth of an inch, gradients being rather steeper than usual over the Bay, and also in the south and east of the province. Westerly or south-westerly winds prevailed except in East and North Bengal, where they were southerly or easterly, and in North Bihar, where they were north-easterly. Temperature was more than 5° above the normal in the west of Bihar, Chota Nagpur, part of South-West Bengal and the whole of North Bengal. The area over which these very high temperatures occurred varied somewhat during the succeeding days, but as a rule it included all the western and central parts of the province. Variations were larger in North Bengal and Assam than in other districts, and in the latter, where rainfall was more plentiful, Sibsagar and Dhubri occasionally recorded defect up to 4°.

Pressure continued falling till the 5th, when there was defect of between ·15 inch and ·2 inch, the latter in North Bengal. Westerly winds then prevailed except in Assam and East Bengal, and the heat was more severe than before. At a few stations in East Bengal and Orissa excess was below 5°, but elsewhere it was generally more than 6°, and in some of the central districts as much as 10°. At Naya Dumka and Rampur Boalia it was 9°, at Krishnagar 9·6°, at Bogra 9·7°, and at Malda 10°. A rapid rise of pressure on the 6th checked the westerly winds, and temperature generally fell, remaining about 5° above the normal till the middle of the month, when unsettled weather began in the east owing to a shallow depression which formed over East Bengal and caused steep gradients and strong winds over the Bay. A rapid rise of pressure forced the area of lowest pressure into North Bihar, and though the hot westerly winds continued in the western districts, elsewhere temperature fell, and in the north of the Province was below the normal. The following day there was again a large excess in temperature everywhere—4° in the outlying districts and 6° in the centre of the Province; but on the 18th a series of irregular pressure changes commenced.

A wave of rising pressure advanced from west to east, and though there was practically no rainfall, and westerly winds followed it into the extreme east of Bengal, there was a large fall of temperature which began in Bihar and extended over the whole Province. On the 20th, when the lowest temperatures occurred, mean defect was nearly 9° in the west of Bihar, and from 1° to 7° elsewhere. On the 21st it varied from 1° to 6°, and on the 22nd mean temperature was again above the normal, except in the west of Bihar and Chota Nagpur, where there was still a small defect. The westerly winds, which followed the rapid rise of pressure from the 18th to the 20th gave place to an easterly current about the 23rd; and as it continued till the end of the month, the excessive heat did not again set in. There was generally a small excess in the eastern half, and a small defect in the west, or the reverse.

After the rapid rise of pressure on the 18th, barometric readings remained above the normal for some days; and though the easterly circulation which began on the 23rd was favourable for the occurrence of local storms, no rain fell till near the end of the month, when a fall of pressure occurred. The thunderstorms which then began in the east gradually extended westwards. On the 28th they were fairly general in East and North Bengal and parts of South-West Bengal. On the 29th rainfall was almost general in Lower Bengal and Orissa, and scattered showers fell in parts of Bihar. The cool weather which was caused by these local disturbances did not become general, as on the 29th mean temperature was 3° above the normal in the west of Bihar and nearly 4° in Chota Nagpur. On the 30th rainfall was again confined to the extreme east, and temperature rose everywhere.

Pressure.—As stated above, pressure was below the normal throughout the early part of the month, and while the distribution remained relatively low, there was a tendency to an inrush of hot, dry air from the west. Generally, defect varied between ·05 and ·1 inch, but at times it was as much as ·2 inch. When a low pressure area of such depth as that forms over Bengal in April, it usually causes an inrush of moist air from the south-east, and thunderstorms almost immediately begin. But during the present year, instead of moist easterly winds and comparatively low temperature, a depression, with a depth of ·2 inch at the centre, caused excessive heat over almost the whole Province, especially in the western districts. Conditions such as these prevailed about the middle of April.

A rapid rise of pressure began on the 16th, and continued, though not without interruption, till there was excess readings at all stations. On the 20th excess varied from a few thousandths of an inch at Silchar to ·15 inch in the west of Bengal. With these high pressures westerly winds again prevailed, but temperature was as much below the normal as it had been above, when the depression obtained about a week before. The distribution remained relatively high till the 27th, when it was normal, and during the last three days there was a fall, which was attended by the disturbed weather usual in April.

Mean pressure for the month is below the normal in all districts by fairly uniform amounts. In Orissa, Chota Nagpur, South Bihar and Assam defect is rather less than ·05 inch; in the other districts it is about ·06 inch.

Temperature.—The excessive heat of the first half of April was so unusual that it formed the most marked feature of the general conditions, and has been fully referred to above. During the first 15 days excess was between 6° and 10° in most of the central and western districts. Between the 16th and 18th there was a large defect in the west and a smaller one elsewhere; afterwards there was either a small excess or a small defect till towards the end of the month, when thunderstorms again caused a considerable fall.

The average excess for the whole month was less than 1° in Assam, between 2° and 3° in Orissa, Bihar and East Bengal, and between 3° and 4° in North Bengal, South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur.

Rainfall.—With the exception of a few scattered showers in North and East Bengal and Orissa, no rain fell till near the end of the month, when more normal weather conditions began to prevail. A depression formed in East Bengal about the 28th, and, moving westwards, caused thunderstorms in all districts and almost general rainfall. The showers were much heavier in East Bengal than in the other districts, with the result that the average fall for the month in that district is very nearly normal, viz., 4·07 as compared with 4·33 inches. The fall in North Bengal was 1·99 inches, in South-West Bengal ·66 inch, in Orissa ·34 inch, and in Bihar ·15 inch. In Chota Nagpur no rain was reported.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the month of April 1896:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Principal, Sanskrit College.

EDUCATIONAL PROSPECTUS.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1896-97, will commence on the 15th June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before 1st June.

Students are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the date named.

2. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognized by the British General Medical Council.

3. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 for the summer session on the 1st June, and Rs. 35 for the winter session on 1st November of each year. Rupees 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and half-fee, i.e., Rs. 17-8 per session. The remaining half-fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the ten students who pass highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. At the end of their first year, students will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany. Those who gain not less than 20 per cent. in two subjects, and not less than 15 per cent. in a third, will be eligible for promotion to the second-year class. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks, will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second-year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which, the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second-year class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

12. Students of the first, second, or third-year class who fail a second time, at the same stage, to gain promotion to the next higher class, will be removed from the College, and will not be entitled to readmission.

13. Students of the fourth-year class will be required to pass a College test examination in Surgery, Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. of the marks in three subjects and 15 per cent. in a fourth, will be eligible for promotion to the fifth-year class. Those who fail, will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examination of the first year will have a prior claim to readmission over new students.

16. Students readmitted to a class after failure at the test examination will be required to pay the full fees for the session. Those, however, who, after failing either at the Preliminary Scientific examination or at the final examination, have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they failed, shall be required to pay for such lectures, a fee of Rs. 40 for one subject, Rs. 60 for two, and Rs. 70 for three. Exceptions to this latter rule may be made in special cases by the Director of Public Instruction on the recommendation of the Principal.

In the event of any scholarship being forfeited under this condition, it may be awarded for one year to any student of the fifth year who has fulfilled the conditions and is not the holder of any scholarship. These scholarships shall not be awarded to students who have gained the Durga Charan Laha scholarship of Rs. 30 per mensem or any other scholarship.

FINAL REPORT ON THE WHEAT CROP OF 1895-96 IN BENGAL AND BIHAR.

THE following is published for general information.

REVENUE DEPT.,
The 18th May 1896.

M. FINUCANE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Report on the Wheat Crop of 1895-96 in Bengal and Bihar.

Character of the season.—The character of the early part of the wheat season of 1895-96 was described in the Preliminary Note on the Wheat Crop issued on the 5th February 1896. The monsoon rains ceased early, and the period that followed was marked by a general deficiency of rainfall throughout these Provinces. Since the issue of the Preliminary Note, there has practically been no modification in the climatic conditions of the wheat-growing districts of these Provinces. Throughout February, March and the earlier part of April, there has been little or no rain.

Area cultivated.—From the appended return it will be seen that the total area sown under wheat this year, in the important wheat-growing districts of these Provinces, amounted to 1,427,400 acres, against 1,413,000 acres estimated to have been sown in the previous year. The increase of 14,400 acres, or 1·02 per cent., appears to be due to the partial failure of the winter rice crop. The total acreages as now given differ slightly from those shown in the preliminary report owing to revised estimates received from Shahabad, Patna, and Sonthal Parganas.

Outturn.—The outturn of the wheat crop this year is now estimated at 10 annas, against 11½ annas shown in the preliminary forecast, and against 15 annas estimated for last year's crop. The decrease, as compared with the outturn shown in the preliminary forecast, is due to a reduction of previous estimates by District Officers owing to the continued want of rain. Injury by insects is reported from the Barh subdivision of the Patna district. From the attached statement it will appear that the gross outturn of wheat in 1895-96 amounted to 345,800 tons, against 486,300 tons in the previous year.

Under orders of the Government of India, an abstract statement showing the prices and general conditions of stocks of food-grains as reported by District Officers, is annexed to this report.

Final Report on the Bhadoi Crops of 1895, dated 14th December 1895.
Final Report on Winter Rice Crop of 1895, dated 10th December 1895.
Note on the outturn of Rabi Crops for 1895-96, dated 7th April 1896.

The following summary of the harvests of the year 1895-96 has been obtained from the marginally-noted reports published by this Department:—

Bhadoi crops.—The season was on the whole favourable. The total area cultivated with food and non-food crops was returned as 15,670,200 acres, against 15,913,500 acres estimated to have been sown in 1894. Six out of the forty-five districts of these Provinces returned an average crop of 16 annas, twenty-six districts returned crops varying from 12 to less than 16 annas, and thirteen from 9 to less than 12 annas. The general yield of the bhadoi crops of 1895 was estimated at 14 annas, and though below the average, was nearly as good as that of 1894, which was estimated to be a 15-anna crop.

Winter rice crop.—The season was not very favourable. The total area cultivated with winter rice in 1895 was returned as 30,447,100 acres, against 31,416,100 acres cultivated in 1894. Out of forty-five districts of these Provinces, only two districts reported crops above the average of 16 annas, three districts reported average or 16-anna crop, twenty districts reported crops varying from 12 to less than 16 annas, fifteen districts reported crops from above 8 to less than 12 annas, and five districts returned an 8-anna or less than an 8-anna crop. The outturn for these Provinces as a whole was estimated only at 13 annas, against 17 annas of the previous year.

Rabi crops.—The season was far from favourable. The total area (Chittagong excepted, for which no return was received) sown with rabi food and rabi non-food crops during 1895-96 was estimated at 11,008,100 acres, against 11,171,500 acres estimated to have been cropped in 1894-95. Out of the forty-four districts for which returns were received, only one district returned the outturn of the rabi crops at 16 annas, eighteen reported crops varying from 12 to 15 annas, and twenty-five districts reported crops of less than 12 annas. The estimate of the outturn of all rabi crops taken together was 11¾ annas, against 13½ annas in 1894-95.

Food-stocks and prices of food-grains.—The food-stocks of former harvests are reported to be plentiful throughout 24 districts and not plentiful in 12 districts. In 8 districts they are said to be plentiful only in certain subdivisions. Average food-stocks are reported from Hooghly and Singhbhum.

Prices appear to have generally ruled higher. In 12 districts the prices of common rice were lower in the fortnight ending 15th April 1896 than in the corresponding fortnight of the previous year, and in 33 districts prices were lower than those prevailing in the corresponding period of 1894. The price of wheat for the fortnight ending 15th April 1896 generally ruled higher than in the corresponding fortnights of the two previous years. From the prices current returns of the fortnight ending 15th April 1896, it appears that common rice sold dearest in Mymensingh (12 seers) and cheapest in Puri (23 seers 10 chitaks).

Wheat exports from Bengal and Bihar.—It will be seen from the figures quoted in the margin that there was an increase in the rail-borne exports of wheat from Bengal and Bihar districts to Calcutta during the nine months, April to December 1895, as compared with that of the last two years. The increase was due to the better outturn of the wheat crop of these Provinces during the year 1894-95.

In the first forecast this year's area under wheat was returned by the Collector as 102,300 acres.

STATEMENT II.

Abstract of the Information regarding the Prices and general condition of Stocks and of Food-grains in the Province for 1895-96, as furnished by District Officers.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7
DISTRICT.	Cause of extension of wheat cultivation in recent years.	Whether the produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been much above or below the average.	Whether the food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful or not.	Whether prices of food-grains generally have ruled higher or lower than usual.	What have been the causes which have caused an increase or decrease of exports of wheat, and how far has the movement been influenced by a scarcity or otherwise of food-grains.	Remarks by the Agricultural Department.
Burdwan ...	......	The produce of the supply of food-grains for the year 1895-96 has been somewhat below the average throughout the district.	The food-stocks of former harvests are reported to be not plentiful in the Sadar and Katwa subdivisions, but plentiful in Raniganj and Kalna.	The price of food-grains in the Sadar was generally higher in the preceding year; in the Katwa subdivision, the prices ruled a little lower than usual during the first four months of the year, while they ruled as usual during the other eight months of the year; in the Raniganj subdivision, the prices generally have not ruled higher than usual, though a little higher than last year, and in the Kalna subdivision alone the usual rate is reported to have prevailed.	Very little wheat is cultivated in this district, and what little is cultivated is grown for home consumption and not for export.
Bankura ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been considerably below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are as yet plentiful. It is probable that owing to the partial failure of the present harvest, these stocks will be largely drawn upon before next harvest is reaped. In fact, in Sonamukhi thana, in the Vishnupur subdivision, where the crop was worse even than elsewhere, the stocks are likely to be entirely depleted.	The price of rice has ruled low throughout the year, and is still low considering the scanty outturn of the harvest just reaped. There has been a rise in the price since September last, and it is probable that the rate will rule still higher before the next crop is reaped.	Wheat is not a staple food-grain here, and what little is grown in the district has to be supplemented by imports to meet the local consumption.
Birbhum ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains (chiefly rice) has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The price of food-grains was lower than usual.	Wheat is very little grown in this district, and consequently there is no export trade to speak of.
Midnapore ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average, especially in Ghatal, where the deficiency is serious.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful in the Sadar and Contai subdivisions. In Tamluk and Ghatal they are not so.	The prices of food-grains ruled generally lower than last year. During the latter part of the year the prices ruled higher in Tamluk and Ghatal.	....

Hooghly ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains is half the average.	There was an average outturn of food-grains last year.	The prices of food-grains have generally been steady throughout the year.	....
Howrah ...	......	Much below the average, viz., about 7 annas.	Not plentiful.	Higher.	....
24-Parganas ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been much below the average.	The food-stocks of the former harvests are not plentiful for local consumption.	The prices of food-grains generally ruled higher than usual.	....
Khulna ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been somewhat below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally have ruled higher than last year.	....
Nadia ...	......	Below the average.	Though not plentiful, are not scanty.	Generally ruled lower than usual, though the price of common rice ruled a little higher.	The quantities exported from this district are very small. There has been no appreciable increase or decrease in export during the year 1895-96.
Jessore ...	......	The produce of this year's supply of food-grains has been much below the average in the Sadar, Jhenidah, Magura, and Bongaon subdivisions. In the Narail subdivision it has been neither much above nor below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful except in the Magura subdivision.	The prices of food-grains have ruled higher than usual in the Sadar, Jhenidah, and Magura subdivisions. In the Bongaon and Narail subdivisions they have ruled neither higher nor lower than usual.	....
Murshidabad ...	......	The produce of the year's supply has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally have ruled slightly higher than usual.	The decrease in the outturn of wheat has caused a corresponding decrease in the export during the year. The decrease in export is not considerable, and has not been influenced by a scarcity or otherwise of food-grains.
Dinajpur ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been much above the average, owing to the satisfactory outturn of paddy during the year.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful, because the outturn of 1894-95 was very low.	The prices of food-grains have ruled lower than usual, owing to the good harvests in the year under report.	....
Rajshahi ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been a little below the average in consequence of the absence of timely rainfall.	The food-stocks of former harvests appear to be plentiful except in the Naugaon subdivision.	The prices of food-grains generally have ruled a little higher than usual.	The export of wheat from this district is very limited, and is not affected by a scarcity or otherwise of other food-grains.
Rangpur ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally have not ruled higher, but rather lower than those of last year.	There is no export of wheat from this district.
Bogra ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been much below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests appear to be scanty, a large quantity of the stock being exported to other districts.	The prices of food-grains have not ruled higher than usual.	....

DISTRICT.	Cause of extension of wheat cultivation in recent years.	Whether the produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been much above or below the average.	Whether the food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful or not.	Whether prices of food-grains generally have ruled higher or lower than usual.	What have been the causes which have caused an increase or decrease of exports of wheat, and how far has the movement been influenced by a scarcity or otherwise of food-grains.	Remarks by the Agricultural Department.
Pabna ...	......	Average	Plentiful	Lower than usual	The cultivation of what is not extensive. The little quantity which is produced, being required for local consumption, is not an article of export of this district.
Darjeeling ...	......	There was an average outturn of food-grains.	The agricultural operations of this district are mainly confined to tea cultivation. The district depends to a large extent on the plains for its supply of food-grains. The supplies in the markets were sufficient during the year under report.	The prices of food-grains were not higher than usual.	Wheat is grown only in the hills, and to a limited extent for local consumption. It is not exported.
Jalpaiguri ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful.	The prices of food-grains have generally ruled a little higher than usual.	....
Dacca ...	......	The produce of the year's supply has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful.	The prices of food-grains were lower than usual in the first part of the year and higher in the latter part.	....
Faridpur ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains was a little above the average in the Sadar subdivision, rather below the average in Goalundo, owing to low flood, and average at Madaripur.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful in the Sadar and Goalundo subdivisions but are reported by the Subdivisional Officer to be plentiful and sufficient in Madaripur.	The prices of food-grains on the whole have ruled higher than usual.	Wheat is grown in the Sadar and Goalundo subdivisions to a small extent only. It is never exported, but imported from Calcutta, but not in large quantities. The importation is not in any way influenced by scarcity or otherwise of food-grains.
Backergunge ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average on account of want of rain and damage caused by insects.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful. The stock was disposed of elsewhere by the mahajans on account of high prices, and hence the quantity held over is small.	The prices of food-grains generally ruled lower than usual up to December last; but since January last, the price has been usual, and this price is expected to rise till the next harvest.	....
Mymensingh ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has not been much below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally ruled higher than last year since November last, but up to October they ruled lower.	There has been no appreciable increase or decrease in the exports of wheat.

Tippera ...	......	Average	Plentiful	Up to the beginning of November 1895, prices were normal; they have since ranged higher than usual.	....
Noakhali ...	.....	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are generally plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally have ruled higher than usual.	....
Chittagong ...	......	The produce of the year's supply was below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are small.	The prices of food-grains have generally ruled higher than usual.	....
Patna	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been normal in the Sadar and Barh subdivisions, but it has been much below the average in Bihar, and slightly so in the Dinapur subdivision.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful in the Bihar and Dinapur subdivisions, but they are not so in the Sadar and Barh subdivisions.	The prices of food-grains generally have ruled lower than the preceding year in the Sadar and Barh subdivisions, and lower than usual in Bihar. In Dinapur, they have fluctuated, but were not higher than usual.	The export of wheat in the Sadar and Barh subdivisions is inconsiderable. No noticeable increase or decrease occurred in the export in Bihar. In Dinapur, the outturn is not sufficient to admit of export. The wheat crop grown in that subdivision is consumed locally.
Gaya	......	The year's produce of food-grains has been much below the average, as all the three crops—rabi, bhadoi and kharif—have more or less been affected by insufficiency of rainfall.	The food-stocks of former harvests are fairly plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally have been normal.	The export of wheat during 1895-96 has been less owing to reduced outturn of this and other crops during the year.
Shahabad ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average throughout the district except at the Sadar subdivision, where it is reported to be almost up to the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful in the Sasaram subdivision, but in other parts they are not plentiful.	The prices of food-grains have remained stationary throughout the district except at Sasaram, where they have ruled generally a little higher than usual.	....
Darbhanga ...	... ..	The produce of the year's supply has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former year's harvests are reported to be plentiful.	The prices of food-grains do not appear to have been much affected by the partial loss of the aghani and rabi crops, owing to the early cessation of the rains and continued absence of rain till January.	The cultivation of wheat is confined to a limited area in the district, and it is generally consumed locally.
Muzaffarpur ...	... ..	The average outturn of food-grains for the year under report comes to 10½ annas, against 14 annas of the preceding year, or about 5 annas below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful and sufficient to meet the requirements of the district.	The prices of food-grains ruled generally lower than in the preceding year, and lower than might have been expected, regard being had to the outturn of the crops.	There was as usual little or no export of wheat from this district. It is generally imported here from other places.
Saran	.... .	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The prices of food-grains, except wheat, have generally ruled lower than that of last year.	Very little wheat is exported from this district.
Champaran ...	......	The produce of the supply of food-grains has been below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests appear to be sufficient.	The prices of food-grains have generally ruled slightly lower than usual.	There has been nothing unusual in regard to the export of wheat.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7
DISTRICT.	Cause of extension of wheat cultivation in recent years.	Whether the produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been much above or much below the average.	Whether the food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful or not.	Whether the prices of food-grains generally have ruled higher or lower than usual.	What have been the causes which have caused an increase or decrease of exports of wheat, and how far has the movement been influenced by a scarcity or otherwise of food-grains.	Remarks by the Agricultural Department.
Monghyr ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been a little below the average in the Sadar and Begusarai subdivisions and much below the average in Jamui subdivision.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful in the Sadar subdivision, not plentiful in Begusarai, and almost exhausted in Jamui.	The prices of food-grains have been as usual in the Sadar subdivision, lower than usual in Begusarai, and higher than usual, but not much higher, in Jamui.	The exports of wheat have been as usual in the Sadar subdivision generally decreased owing to partial failure of crops in Jamui, and there has been a gradual increase in Begusarai.
Bhagalpur ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been below the average on account of early cessation of rain.	The food-stocks of former harvests are supposed to be plentiful and sufficient for current consumption until the next bhadoi crop is harvested.	The prices of food-grains are not unusual.	There is no extensive cultivation of wheat in this district. The produce is, perhaps, just enough for district consumption. It does not appear that there has been any marked fluctuation in the trade.
Purnea	......	The food-grains gave nearly an average yield during the year under report.	The stocks of former harvests were plentiful.	The price of food-grains did not rule higher or lower, but was average throughout the year.	There was no appreciable increase or decrease in the export of wheat. This crop is not largely grown, and is generally of a very inferior quality in this district.
Malda	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains was an average one.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The prices of food-grains have been generally normal.	During the year under report, the export of wheat decreased on account of high prices.
Sonthal Parganas	......	In the Dumka subdivision, the produce of the year's supply of food-grains has been average. In Deoghur, Godda, Jamtara, Pakour, Rajmahal, it has been much below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are not plentiful.	In Dumka, Deoghar, Godda and Pakour, the prices of food-grains have been usual; in others they have ruled higher than usual.	In Godda, about half of the wheat crop grown was exported, less than usual at Rajmahal, and normal at Pakour; elsewhere there are no exports.
Cuttack ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains was considerably above the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are fairly plentiful.	The prices of food-grains generally ruled considerably lower than usual.	Only a limited quantity of wheat is grown and produced in this district. No export is made. The demand for consumption is met by imports from other places.
Balasore ...	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains was about, or a little below, the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	Comparatively low prices of food-grains ruled throughout the year.	....
Puri	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains (common rice) has been a little below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests are plentiful.	The prices of food-grains have ruled lower than usual.	....

Angul and Khondmals.	......	The produce of the year's supply of food-grains may be said to be much the same as in the past year, and fairly plentiful.	Fairly plentiful	The prices of food-grains are at present normal in the district.	....
Hazaribagh ...	......	Not much above or below the average.	The food-stocks of former harvests do not seem to be plentiful.	The prices of food-grains are the same as usual.	No export trade in wheat in this district.
Lohardaga ...	......	Below the average	Fairly plentiful	The prices of food-grains have not varied to any appreciable extent.	Wheat is only produced in small quantities in this district and is never exported.
Palamau ...	......	Below the average	Not plentiful	Show a tendency to rise ...	Short outturn of crops has tended to decrease the small export of wheat which formerly took place from this district.
Manbhum ...	......	Much below the average	Fairly plentiful	Higher than usual	Wheat is grown in this district in every limited area, and is therefore too insufficient to be exported to outside markets.
Singhbhum ...	......	Below the average	The food-stocks of former harvests are normal.	The prices of food-grains are usual.	Wheat is not exported from this district, and there has been no scarcity so far.

RECEIPTS.

2. PART I.—Jetties.—The receipts are taken at Rs. 3,16,500 more than those of 1895-96. The increase is based on actuals.

3. PART II.—Inland Vessels Wharves.—The receipts are taken at Rs. 30,000 over ast year's estimate. The increase is based on actuals.

4. PART IV.—Port or Harbour Master's Department.—The receipts are estimated at Rs. 46,110 less than those of the previous year. The estimate is based on the actuals for the ten months, April 1895 to January 1896, which show a falling off, due to vessels making shorter stays in the port.

5. PART VI.—Tramway.—The earnings are estimated at Rs. 40,000 more than those of the previous year. The increase is based on actuals.

6. PART VII.—Port Approaches.—The receipts are taken at Rs. 14,875 over last year's estimate. The increase is justified by the actuals up to the end of January 1896, which amount to Rs. 3,34,092.

7. PART VIII.—Kidderpore Docks.—The receipts are estimated as follows: —

	Rs.
Receipts from graving dock	1,00,000
Landing charges on imports	60,000
Shipping charges on exports	1,50,000
Rent and miscellaneous	40,000
Proportion of receipts for towing vessels by hopper barges ...	1,500
Total ...	3,51,500

There is a decrease of Rs. 48,500 based principally on the actuals of the receipts from Imports and Exports up to the end of January 1896.

8. Special Toll.—The receipts for the 10 months, from April 1895 to January 1896, amounted to Rs. 7,21,407, and it was anticipated that those for February and March would come to Rs. 1,44,280. The receipts for 1896-97 have consequently been taken at Rs. 8,65,000.

EXPENDITURE.

9. PART I.—Jetties.—The estimated expenditure amounts to Rs. 12,31,260 against Rs. 11,58,849 of the previous year. "Interest and Sinking Fund on Loans" shows an increase of Rs. 45,600, provision having been made for interest and contribution to Sinking Fund on the debenture loan of 16 lakhs raised during the latter part of 1895-96 for carrying out certain miscellaneous improvements, and a similar provision having been made for the debenture loan of a lakh and-a-half raised in 1895 for increasing the accommodation in the Petroleum Wharf. Under the head "Repairs to Budge-Budge Depôt" there is an increase of Rs. 21,000 owing to provision having been made to meet the cost of protection to the foreshore, which is being cut away by the river.

10. PART II.—Inland Vessels' Wharves.—Under this head there is a decrease of Rs. 8,994 as compared with the estimate of last year. The principal decreases are under the heads "Repairs" and "Renewals and Improvements."

11. PART III.—Strand Bank Lands.—There is a decrease of Rs. 7,367 under this head as compared with the last year's estimate. All the policies for the Press house, except one, having been renewed up to the 15th July 1897, the grant for "Insurance" has been reduced to pay the premium on the policy which will have to be renewed in 1896-97; hence the decrease in the estimate.

12. Harbour Master's Department.—Under this head there is a decrease of Rs. 22,920 as compared with the estimate of last year. "Repairs to boats, vessels, &c.," show a decrease of Rs. 14,300, while no provision has been made for "Proportion of Salary of Engineer for Surveying Hooghly bar."

13. Tramway.—Under this head there is an increase of Rs. 17,627 caused principally by an increase under "Interest and Sinking Fund on loans." The cause of this increase has been explained in paragraph 9.

14. PART VII.—Port Approaches.—There is a saving of Rs. 31,208 under this head. "Repairs to vessels" shows a decrease of Rs. 8,000, a sum of Rs. 7,000 only having been provided for on account of the repairs of the Tigris, for which Rs. 15,000 was provided for last year. No provision has been made this year for "Salary of Engineer for surveying Hooghly Bar," for which a sum of Rs. 20,500 was provided last year.

15. PART VIII.—Kidderpore Docks.—The expenditure under this head is estimated at Rs. 19,52,703 against Rs. 20,78,093 of last year. "Working expenses" shows a decrease of Rs. 22,188, and "Repairs to buildings" of Rs. 19,035, while under "Renewals and Improvements" there is an increase of Rs. 85,000.

The Government of India having declined to make any reduction in the rate of interest on the dock loan, provision has been made for interest at four per cent. A sum of four lakhs of rupees is due to the Secretary of State on account of this interest, and, under the orders of the Government of India, this amount has to be paid up in November next. The Commissioners have, however, been able to provide for the payment of a quarter of this amount only, viz., one lakh, and have requested that permission may be given to re-pay the remainder by similar annual instalments during the next three years.

No provision has been made for Sinking Fund on the dock loan, as the Government of India have accepted the view that the present burdens of the port, in respect of Sinking Fund, may be equitably thrown forward to some extent.

The Government of India have been addressed on the subject of the proposals submitted by the Commissioners in connection with the interest and Sinking Fund on the dock loan, and the subject will be taken up by the Lieutenant-Governor on receipt of a reply from the Government of India.

16. Subject to the remarks contained in the foregoing paragraphs, and to any modifications that it may hereafter be considered necessary to make on receipt of the orders of the Government of India regarding interest and Sinking Fund, the Lieutenant-Governor, in pursuance of the powers vested in him by section 71 of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, approves the estimates of income and expenditure of the Commissioners for the year 1896-97.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. D. McARTHUR, Col., R.E.,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

(4) This Government's Resolution No. 1772Agri., dated the 4th May 1892.
(5) Circular of the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No. $\frac{18}{79}$, dated the 17th October 1894.
(6) This Government's letter to the Government of India, No. 5236, dated the 7th December 1895.
(7) Resolution of the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, No. $\frac{7\text{-}S.}{G.}$, dated the 16th April 1896.

There have been prescribed for some time back in Bengal two half-monthly returns of prices-current, one showing retail prices prevailing in all the districts of the Province, and the other the wholesale prices in nine selected marts. In each case the prices reported by the local officers are compiled into a consolidated return, which is published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a copy of which is then submitted to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

2. In 1891, the Government of India prescribed certain returns of agricultural statistics, amongst which there was a return of prices, Table B, which was intended to show, for the district head-quarter stations as well as important marts in the interior, the prices obtained by agriculturists for their produce, and those paid by them for necessaries and implements. In the case of agricultural produce, the return was to exhibit average wholesale prices calculated from retail prices by applying to them a rate of deduction representing the usual difference between wholesale and retail prices. To avoid the introduction of a new return, orders were issued in Circular No. 13Agri., dated the 4th May 1892, quoted in the preamble, extending to certain selected mufassal marts the half-monthly return of retail prices which was then confined to the district head-quarter markets, and adding to it certain new commodities.

3. It has since been found that Table B of agricultural statistics has failed in its object, and the Government of India have decided to abolish it and to introduce in its place a half-monthly return of wholesale prices as actually ruling in selected marts, and have also approved a proposal of the Bengal Government that, instead of prescribing an additional return to be submitted by local officers, the existing half-monthly return of wholesale prices should be so expanded as to meet the requirements of the return now introduced. In accordance with these orders, rules are laid down below which will come into force from the 1st June 1896, the first return submitted under the new rules being for the half-month ending 15th June.

4. The abolition of Table B of agricultural statistics naturally suggests that the half-monthly return of retail prices should be reduced to what it was before the issue of the orders of 4th May 1892, above quoted. But it has been laid down in clause (3) of section 3 of the revised Bengal Famine Code of December 1895, that the schedule of normal rates of prices to be prepared by the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture and published in the Gazette, shall be compiled from the half-monthly returns of retail prices now furnished by District Officers. It is necessary that this schedule should indicate the normal conditions of the agricultural population generally, and therefore that it should show prices not only for the district head-quarter stations, but also for the principal marts in the interior. It is, however, no longer necessary to retain the commodities added in 1892 for purposes of Table B of agricultural statistics, and revised rules, superseding all previous rules and orders relating to this return, are embodied in this Resolution, and will likewise come into force from the 1st June 1896.

5. The Superintendent of Stationery will be requested to have the revised forms now prescribed printed and supplied to all officers concerned as soon as possible, but the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that any unavoidable delay in this will not prevent the submission of returns under the new rules as directed in paragraph 3 above, the existing forms being used with the necessary alterations made by hand.

RULES.

I.—Returns of wholesale prices.

(1) Half-monthly Returns of wholesale prices of the food-grains and other commodities named in the accompanying form (Appendix I) should be regularly submitted in that form for the following markets:—

(1) Calcutta.	(7) Chittagong.
(2) Burdwan.	(8) Patna.
(3) Midnapore.	(9) Muzaffarpur.
(4) Pabna.	(10) Bhagalpur.
(5) Rangpur.	(11) Cuttack.
(6) Dacca.	(12) Ranchi.

The Return for each market should deal with only the commodities mentioned against it in Appendix II, and no prices need be quoted for a commodity unless wholesale transactions in it have actually taken place. The prices of jute to be shown in the Returns for Pabna and Dacca should be obtained from Sirajganj and Narayanganj, respectively, the arrangements made for this purpose being such that the submission of the Return is not delayed on this account.

(2) The prices shown should be those current, on the 15th and last day of the month, for transactions in quantities of not less than ten maunds of food-stuffs, seeds, grass, straw and firewood (the price quoted being so much per maund of 40 standard seers), and for a maund of iron, cotton, jute, tobacco leaf and salt. Grass and straw are in many places sold by kahans, each kahan consisting of 1,280 small bundles. Where this is the case, the price shown may be per kahan, but the fact should be noted in the Return. For other commodities, not here mentioned, the prices shown should be according to the weight or quantity by which wholesale transactions are made in the market, care being taken to note in the Return the weight or quantity to which the price relates.

(3) The Return for each market should be submitted direct to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department. The Commissioner of Police for Calcutta, and the District Officers concerned for the rest of the markets, should pay particular attention to the observance of punctuality in the submission of these Returns which (except in the case of Calcutta, the Return for which should be sent to the Bengal Secretariat on the same day) should be posted without fail on the very day on which the prices are taken, i.e., on the 15th and last day of the month.

(4) In the Bengal Secretariat a consolidated Return for all the 12 markets will be compiled in the same form (Appendix I), and published in the Gazette.

(5) A copy of the consolidated Return, omitting from it the columns "Next preceding Return" and "Corresponding Return of last year" will then be submitted to the Director-General of Statistics, and another copy will be sent to the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal.

(6) The Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture will compile and submit to Government, not later than the 31st May, a Return for the financial year ending on 31st March, showing the averages of the prices given in the returns sent to him under the preceding rule.

(7) The Annual Return of average wholesale prices will be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a copy of it, after publication, will be submitted to the Director-General of Statistics.

II.—Returns of retail prices.

(8) Half-monthly returns of the retail prices of food-grains and firewood, and of the retail and wholesale prices of salt, compiled in the form hereto appended (Appendix III), should be regularly submitted to the Revenue Department of Government. By retail prices, in the case of food-grains, is meant the number of seers of 80 tolas standard weight obtainable for a rupee.

(9) In the case of common rice, the price shown should be the average of the retail prices at which the common qualities of husked rice (mota chaul), consumed for the time being by the middle and poorer classes, are actually sold on the day on which the Return is prepared.

(10) The returns for the second-halves of June and December should show, in addition to the prices of food-grains, &c., mentioned in the form (Appendix III), the average monthly wages of able-bodied agricultural labourers, syces or horse-keepers, common masons, carpenters or blacksmiths.

(11) The Returns should exhibit the prices ruling not only in the head-quarter station bazar, but also in the other marts mentioned in the list hereto appended (Appendix IV), the District Officer's Return being one consolidated Return for all the marts in his district.

(12) For the district head quarter station, the Return for the first-half of the month should show the prices ruling on the 15th, and the Return for the second-half should show the prices ruling on the last day of the month. For marts in the interior of the district, the District Officer should so arrange that the prices ruling on the latest market day are regularly incorporated in each half monthly Return without delaying its submission to Government. District Officers should pay particular attention to the observance of punctuality in the submission of the half-monthly Return, which should, like the Return for wholesale prices, be posted without fail on the day on which the half-month to which it relates ends, i.e., on the 15th and last day of each month. The Return for Calcutta should reach the Bengal Secretariat on the day the prices are recorded.

(13) In the Bengal Secretariat, a consolidated Return for Calcutta and the head-quarters station bazars of districts will be compiled from these Returns, and published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a copy of it, after publication, will be regularly submitted to the Director-General of Statistics. The original Returns of the local officers will then be forwarded to the Office of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture for the preparation of the schedule of normal rates of prices required under section 3 (3) of the Bengal Famine Code, revised edition of December 1895.

III.—General.

(14) Prices should be recorded for both the wholesale and retail returns by the same agency. In districts where the Bengal Tenancy Act, VIII of 1885, is in force, the prices for these Returns should be ascertained by the same agency as is employed for the Tenancy Act price-lists. In other districts the District Officers should make such arrangements as they may consider suitable, having regard to the importance of securing the greatest possible accuracy in the Returns.

(15) In each district, an officer not below the rank of a Deputy Collector or Assistant Collector should be specially charged with, and made responsible for, checking the returns by personal enquiries, and each prices-current Return should bear the attestation of such officer that he has satisfied himself of its accuracy. To enable him to do this, it will be essential for him not merely to commence enquiries on the day on which the statement is to be presented, but to keep himself informed from day to day of the variations of the market.

(16) The Collectors concerned should exercise a constant supervision over the Returns, and the system on which they are prepared should be examined with care by the Commissioners on the occasion of their inspections.

(17) It will be the duty of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture to examine the Returns when he visits districts on tour, and report to Government any deficiency which he may discover.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution with its appendices be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies of it be forwarded to all officers concerned.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

M. FINUCANE,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

WATER-SUPPLY.

Circular No. 7T.—M., dated Darjeeling, the 15th May 1896.

From—H. H. RISLEY, ESQ., C.I.E., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

IN connexion with the prevailing scarcity of water in some districts of Bengal, it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that there will be considerable advantage in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding the water-supply of municipalities, in order that systematic action may be taken from year to year in the direction of improving existing sources of water-supply and providing new sources.

2. I am accordingly to request that all municipalities in your Division may be instructed to prepare registers in Forms I and II annexed to this letter, showing whether the existing sources of water-supply in each ward or mahalla are sufficient for the requirements of the population, and what ought to be done to extend or improve them.

3. Both registers should be examined periodically by the Chairman and by inspecting officers, with a view to the issue of orders under sections 199, 199A, and 200 of the Municipal Act, and to ascertain whether orders already passed under those sections are duly enforced. The results of this enquiry should be set forth in the Annual Report, to which Form I should be annexed as Appendix M, and it should be distinctly stated whether the Commissioners have satisfied themselves that the supply of each ward is sufficient for its requirements, and what action they are taking to increase it or to improve its quality.

Circular No. 8T.—M., dated Darjeeling, the 15th May 1896.

From—H. H. RISLEY, ESQ., C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department,

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

IN connection with the prevailing scarcity of water in some districts of Bengal, it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that there will be considerable advantage in collecting and placing on record the chief facts regarding the water-supply of districts, in order that systematic action may be taken from year to year in the direction of improving existing sources of water-supply and providing new sources.

2. I am accordingly to request that all District Boards in your Division may be instructed to prepare registers in Forms I and II annexed to this letter, showing whether the existing sources of water-supply in every village containing more than 100 houses are sufficient for the requirements of the population, and what ought to be done to extend or improve them. District Officers will arrange to give the Boards all possible assistance from Government establishments of all descriptions in the preparation and check of the registers.

3. Both registers should be examined periodically by the Chairman and by inspecting officers, with a view to the issue of orders under sections 90, 118, and 119 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, and to ascertain whether orders already passed under those sections are duly enforced. The results of this inquiry should be set forth in the Annual Report, to which a statement showing the thana totals of Form I should be annexed as Appendix E, and it should also be distinctly stated how far the District Board have satisfied themselves whether the supply of each village is sufficient for its requirements, and what action they are taking to increase it or to improve its quality. An annual programme of operations in connection with village water-supply must be submitted to the Commissioner with the budget estimates of the Board.

4. In districts where there are no District Boards, the Magistrate will arrange for having similar registers prepared, and an annual programme of work prepared for submission to the Commissioner. The results should be stated in the annual report on the operations of the Road Fund or Road Account, as the case may be, in the manner prescribed in paragraph 3.

5. You are requested to issue such detailed subsidiary instructions as may seem necessary for the proper carrying out of these orders.

6. District Officers will, in future, make the inspection of villages with reference to water-supply a cardinal point in their own tours and in those of their subordinates, and full notes of facts should be taken in each case, with a view to supplementing and correcting the registers.

No. 2053M.—The 19th May 1896.—The following reports on the scarcity of water are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 301G., dated Burdwan, the 7th May 1896.

From—C. FISHER, Esq., Officiating Magistrate and Collector of Burdwan,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my No. 242G., dated 1st instant, I have the honour to report as follows.

2. There has been a general fall of rain throughout the district during the last week. At Kalna there has been a fall of 2·87 inches on the 29th April, and a further fall of 3·55 inches on the 4th instant. There is now no longer any scarcity of water in any part of that subdivision.

3. Katwa reports 2·52 inches between the 1st and 5th of May, and it is reported that most of the tanks in that subdivision have now a certain amount of water in them. A meeting of zamindars was held at Katwa on the 29th ultimo, and promises were given that wells would be sunk in 17 of the villages which were referred to in my last weekly report. Of the remainder, 11 are situated in the Ketugram thana, where there has been good rain, and the local police report that there is no longer any scarcity of water; 10 are situated less than ½ mile and 5 within 1 mile of a river or a bhil, and the Subdivisional Officer has asked the zamindars to construct wells in three of the remaining villages. The District Board have six wells in hand in this subdivision. However, after the general rain that has fallen, no more anxiety need, I think, be felt about the Katwa subdivision.

4. At Raniganj there was a fall of ·57 inch on the 4th instant, and on the same day 1·05 inches were recorded. This was the result of a heavy north-wester which came from Raniganj to Burdwan, and all the intervening country which had felt the want of rain received a good downfall.

5. Her Highness the Maharani Surnomoyee, C.I., of Kassimbazar, informs me that she has ordered the excavation of two new wells at Nooni and at Burrah Damnah and the cleaning and repairing of an old well at Barrabiani. The Manager of the Burdwan Raj is advancing loans for well sinking, and is expediting the completion of the other works which he has in hand. I am continuing to advance loans under the Land Improvement Act.

6. At the meeting of the District Board held on Monday last it was resolved to transfer a sum of Rs. 5,000 from the head "Original works" to the head "Sanitary improvements." In addition to the amount already spent on clearing old wells, the Board have at present in hand 17 new wells and 1 tank which will have cost over Rs. 5,000 when completed : 15 of these wells are good masonry wells which will prevent any scarcity in future years over a considerable area. Two progress statements are annexed. It will be noticed that one well has been sunk 38 feet without any sign of water yet.

No. 589, dated Birbhum, the 9th May 1896.

From—E. G. DRAKE-BROCKMAN, ESQ., Magistrate of Birbhum,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my last report dated the 2nd May 1896, regarding the water-supply in this district, I have the honour to state that there has been more rain during the past week, which has been of great benefit. From the reports received it does not appear that any distress is felt for want of water in this district. Water is obtainable everywhere with but little exertion on the part of the villagers.

2. A few applications have been since received for loans to re-excavate tanks, and these are under enquiry. There appears no need for the District Board to take any measures beyond what are being taken and which have been stated in my previous reports.

No. 638, dated Bankura, the 12th May 1896.

From—N. BONHAM-CARTER, ESQ., Magistrate of Bankura,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my letter No. 601, dated the 5th instant, I have the honour to submit my weekly report on the condition of water-supply of the district for the week ending 12th instant.

2. Out of 20 permanent wells sanctioned for the Sadar subdivision, 1 was completed and work in 9 was in full progress during the week. Sites for the remaining 10 wells have been selected, and the work will shortly be taken in hand. Of the 16 wells in the subdivision of Vishnupur, the work was in progress in 9; the sites of 3 more wells were chosen during the week, and enquiries were made to select suitable sites for the remaining 4.

3. In the direction of temporary wells, 88 holes, including 16 shown as under progress in the last report, were dug in the sandy beds of rivers and streams, and in low lands and tanks all over the Sadar subdivision. Ten such wells were also sunk in the subdivision of Vishnupur.

4. In the Municipality of Bankura the Commissioners sanctioned the construction of three wells out of their funds, and granted a private individual permission to dig a fourth. The work in three of them has been nearly completed. One important bandh and a tank are also being redug. There is not, however, much scarcity of water for drinking purposes in the town because a good supply can be obtained by digging in the beds of the rivers Gandhepwari and Dalkepwar, which lie to the north and south of the town respectively.

5. I enclose herewith a statement showing the rainfall in the district for the week ending 9th May, from which it will appear that there has been on an average 1·64 inches. This has come as a very welcome relief, and will render unnecessary any further expenditure on temporary measures of relief.

N. BONHAM-CARTER, Magistrate.

No. 1T., dated Camp Contai, the 11th May 1896.

From—W. R. BRIGHT, ESQ., Magistrate of Midnapore,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour herewith to forward the weekly report of the condition of this district as regards water-supply for the week ending the 9th. The report has been unavoidably detained as I am in camp at a long distance from head-quarters and my camp dâk has been delayed by stormy weather.

2. There has been great improvement in the state of affairs during the week, as there has been heavy rain certainly in the Sadar subdivision and Contai which has probably extended elsewhere, but I have not yet received reports. I have just come down to Contai, which is 62 miles south of Midnapore and have passed through several thanas en route. In none of these is there now any scarcity of water; what scarcity there was having been relieved by recent heavy rain.

3. I have now received detailed reports from all thanas but one in the district and all outposts except one or two not affected. The subdivisions of Contai and Tamluk are quite safe, there being now no scarcity of water anywhere and no necessity existing for any steps whatever. As regards the Sadar, the following thanas are included in it:—

1. Sadar.	6. Gopiballabhpur.
2. Narangarh.	7. Sabang.
3. Binpur.	8. Salbani.
4. Garhbeta.	9. Keshpur.
5. Debrah.	10. Dantoon.

11. Jhargram.

4. As regards the Sadar, there has been ample rain. The municipal water-supply is not very copious, but there is no ground whatever for anxiety. Narangarh is all right. The recent rain is said to have removed all difficulties from Binpur. From Garhbeta it is reported that no relief is required. From Debrah it is reported that recent rain has done much good, and that there is still a small stock of water in the ponds.

5. The report from Gopiballabhpur is dated previous to the late rains. Even then there were only 10 villages in which water was required. In these villages people have to go a mile or a mile and-a-half, and in two cases two miles, for water. I anticipate that the rain will certainly have reached this thana. If not, I will arrange for wells to be dug. As regards Sabang, I have only a report from the outpost and not from the thana. The rain had reached there and done much good. No danger was anticipated there. Salbani lies between the Sadar and Garhbeta, and rain will have removed all difficulties there. In Keshpur the people are reported to be carting water from one river, while some of them are digging wells. Wells are recommended in four villages only; but as this report was written before the recent rain, I do not anticipate that even these will now be required. Some wells have already been sanctioned there. From Dantoon four villages are reported as being put to some inconvenience, as they have to go half to two miles for water to the river.

Carting of water is recommended; but this, I am afraid, cannot be managed. This report also was written previous to the late heavy rain. Further enquiries will be made. From Jhargram the report is that only in one village (Jhargram itself) is there any difficulty about water, and that people are carting the water required. The report is, however, manifestly incomplete. Further report will be called for. Of the police outposts, Mohanpur reports scarcity in two villages. In one of these drinking-water has to be brought from two and in another from one mile. Benapura is all right. As regards the two other outposts, the District Superintendent of Police reports that no special scarcity is reported.

6. The above details will show that there is no ground for anxiety about the Sadar, Contai, and Tamluk subdivisions, while the very small number of villages in which wells are recommended shows that the actual inconvenience which exists is confined to a very small number of places. The Ghatal subdivision contains three thanas—Ghatal, Chandrakona, and Daspur—and one outpost—Ramjibanpur.

7. I have not as yet received reports of the rainfall in this subdivision, but in reports dated previous to it the following details are given by the police:—

Ghatal thana.—Eight villages are reported to be suffering inconvenience. Six of these villages have to go one mile to a tank for drinking-water, while two have to go one-quarter of a mile only.

Chandrakona reports 14 villages are requiring wells. In three of these the villagers have to go one mile, in five cases two miles, and in six instances less than one mile, for their drinking-water.

Daspur.—The police send a list of 27 villages as requiring wells. The Subdivisional Officer has, however, only asked for wells in three places by his first report: these have been sanctioned. A further report has been submitted asking for wells in 14 villages more only. This will be placed before the Board at its next meeting on the 15th.

Ramjibanpur.—The police submit a list of 16 villages; but as water is available in all of these within a mile or less, the need is not very urgent.

8. It is therefore clear from these reports, which were received in answer to orders to enquire from each chaukidar on the parade days, and to report every single village in which there is a difficulty about water-supply, that the water difficulty in this district is confined principally to Ghatal, and even there to very few villages.

As already reported, Rs. 1,000 has already been sanctioned by the District Board for this subdivision, and this amount will provide for some of the wells now reported as necessary. I will have proper enquiries now made about the villages now named, and will take what steps are feasible to deal with the matter.

9. As regards steps which have been taken during the week, I have the honour to report that the District Board has sanctioned the excavation of a number of cheap wells in the Sadar thana, especially in Keshpur, Jhargram, and Gopiballabhpur, and the digging of small wells in the bottom of certain dried-up tanks. They have also advanced Rs. 500 to the Subdivisional Officer of Ghatal for the commencement of the wells already sanctioned. In Ghatal, however, there is considerable difficulty in finding workmen who know how to dig wells, as wells are unusual in that subdivision, and earthen rings also for wells are not available. The Subdivisional Officer also reports that "the people are very actively stirring themselves in the matter. A large number of tanks in nearly every village are being re-excavated everywhere, not only by the monied and middle classes, but the cultivators and common people likewise." He reports, however, that water is difficult to obtain in this manner. I hope, however, that the recent good rain has extended throughout Ghatal, in which case all apprehensions will be at rest. I may add that I have personally seen one good new tank being excavated in the Narangarh thana by a private individual. In response to my appeal, the Raja of Midnapore has reported that he has already re-excavated three tanks at and near his house at Narajol and a fourth in another village. He has also directed his Manager to expend Rs. 300 in alleviating the water scarcity in Midnapore, and has further ordered him to excavate two good wells in the town.

Raja Sourindro Mohan Tagore, KT., C.I.E., has also offered Rs. 500 to be spent at my discretion in his zamindari; but as this lies within thana Debra, where the police report there is no scarcity of water, there is no necessity for accepting his generous offer.

Maharaja Durga Charan Lah, C.I.E., reports that in his estate in pargana Narangarh he has had the silted-up wells excavated by the raiyats, and, with a view to increasing the water-supply, has kept his tanks khas instead of leasing them out for fishing, &c.

The Raja of Maisadal reports that he has excavated one new tank, re-excavated several old ones, and that he is having enquiries made to discover where people are in want, when he will take the necessary measures.

10. The result of the minute enquiries now made proves beyond a doubt that there is no ground for anxiety as regards this district at present.

No. 849, dated Hooghly, the 8th May 1896.

From—J. LANG, ESQ., Magistrate of Hooghly,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my report on the water famine in this district, No. 789, dated 30th ultimo, I have the honour to report that during the last week we have had showery weather, and the rainfall has been more or less general. Some good has been done, but there is an opening for more. Undoubtedly the people are, from one cause or another, happier or more contented than they were, for since last report not a single complaint of want of water has come to notice. The rainfall for the week at head-quarters has been 2·01 inches, at Serampore approximately the same, and at Jahanabad rather less.

2. Information to hand from the villages originally reported to be in urgent need of water shows that tank excavation is going on at the expense of the landlords or people themselves in 47 out of 177 villages in the Sadar subdivision, 9 out of 68 villages in the Serampore subdivision, nil out of 48 villages in the Jahanabad subdivision.

3. Contractors and labour and materials are still difficult to obtain in the Jahanabad subdivision, and the work is necessarily behindhand. The earth on the Goghat or western side is hard, and no water has ever, it is said, been drawn from wells there. At the time of writing, the earth has been excavated to a depth of 25 feet, but there is still no trace of water. It is feared that the villagers will not patronise the wells; they are not accustomed to them; and the women who generally fetch the water for household purposes prefer to go to the tanks.

4. The sinking of pât wells with earthenware rings is delayed, because the kumhars or potters in that part of the country do not prepare such rings in this month of Bysakh. Temporary wells, like ordinary tanks, are affording relief to the people for the ordinary duties of washing, &c., but they prefer to go to distances for drinking water which they believe to be good by repute.

5. The chaukidars questioned on parade report that good drinking water, though scarce, is still available at a distance. Many regret that Government have taken the matter up as they have, because pressure is being put upon them to work for themselves, and they are at a loss to find pretexts for refusal. Cholera still prevails about Serampore, where the best water is available.

No. 899, dated Hooghly, the 14th May 1896.

From—J. Lang, Esq., Magistrate of Hooghly,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my letter No. 849, dated the 8th instant, on the water scarcity in the Hooghly district, I have the honour to report that the rainfall during the past week has tended still further to allay any anxiety that may have existed. The rainfall as reported from the Sadar subdivision is 1·63 inches; Jahanabad subdivision 1·54 inches; Serampore subdivision 1·85 inches. At Jahanabad the reported rainfall for the year up to date is only 1·7 inches of rain as against 5·7 inches for the same period last year.

2. The cultivators are now busy sowing dhan and preparing their lands. Disputes about possession are coming in—a sure sign that cultivation is being resumed. Well digging at the expense of the District Board is in full swing, even in Jahanabad. The Board in addition to sinking wells are taking up the excavation of certain tanks, which have been placed at their disposal for action under sections 88-90 of the Local Self-Government Act. These tanks when ready will be set apart as public tanks for drinking purposes.

3. Reports to hand show that since my last letter the excavation of nine tanks in the Serampore and of eight tanks in the Sadar subdivision has been commenced at the expense of village proprietors. In answer to a letter to Babu Suresh Chandra Mukerjee, of Uttarpara, asking him to take certain action with regard to a tank in village Belmori, he thanks me for bringing the matter to his notice, and adds:—" Two tanks are being dug in village Degpur, thana Polba, and in village Basipur, thana Dhaniakhali, at a cost of over Rs. 1,000, and a deep channel (gai) is being dug in Majnan at a cost of nearly Rs. 300. I have further advanced Rs. 200 to my tenants of Majnan, thana Dhaniakhali, to enable them to re-excavate existing tanks in their possession, and have generally instructed my agent to help the tenants, and to try to improve the state of my property in respect of drinking water or for irrigation purposes." I have quoted the above as an instance of generosity and piety which, I am confident, is by no means uncommon in this district. The names of many other generous landlords occur to my mind as I write, such as Babu Russik Lal Dutt or Maulvi Azid Buksh, of Haripal, who, by excavating large tanks at a cost of not less than Rs. 3,000, are conferring a lasting boon upon their poorer brethren.

No. 245J., dated Boalia, the 8th May 1896.

From—N. K. Bose, Esq., Magistrate of Rajshahi,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

In continuation of this office No. 194J., dated the 29th April 1896, I have the honour to report that, owing to seasonable rainfall, there is now no apprehension of any distress on account of the want of drinking water.

2. The District Board fully recognize the necessity of making systematic endeavour to improve the supply of potable water throughout the district, and have already taken steps to restore some old tanks on the Noakhali system.

No. 280J., dated Pabna, the 8th May 1896.

From—J. H. Lea, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Pabna,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

In continuation of my last weekly report, No. 211J., dated 1st May, on the subject of water-supply of the district, I have the honour to report that we have had a rainfall of 3·37 inches of rain during the past week, which has been general all over the district, and has completely removed all the apprehension which existed of a water-famine. There is now a sufficient water-supply all over the district, and I think further weekly reports are unnecessary.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; t, thunder; ⌓, dew.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks, will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second-year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which, the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second-year class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

Those who fail, will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examination of the first year will have a prior claim to readmission over new students.

16. Students readmitted to a class after failure at the test examination will be required to pay the full fees for the session. Those, however, who, after failing either at the Preliminary Scientific examination or at the final examination, have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they failed, shall be required to pay for such lectures, a fee of Rs. 40 for one subject, Rs. 60 for two, and Rs. 70 for three. New light-house, light towers, illuminated and other buoys.

THE Portmaster, Brisbane, has given Notice (No. 8 of 1896) that it is intended, on or about the 15th July 1896, to exhibit from a new circular tower, painted white, a fixed light of the fourth (4th) order dioptric, showing a White light between the bearings of South through West to North 60° West, Red from North 60° West to North 29° West, and White between North 29° West and North 22° West. The two latter sectors are intensified.

This light-house is situated about eight cables to the westward of Caloundra Head. The focal plane is 170 feet above high water, and the light will be visible from a vessel's deck in clear weather at a distance of 16 miles.

LEADING LIGHTS, BRIBIE ISLANDS.

The leading lights on Bribie island will be exhibited from skeleton towers, painted white.

From the back tower (high light) a powerful bi-form holophotal light will be shown between the bearings of South 67° West and South 45° West. The tower is 95 feet above high water, and the light will be visible from a vessel's deck in clear weather at a distance of 14 miles.

From the front tower (low light) a fixed light of the fourth (4th) order dioptric will be exhibited and will be shown between the bearings of South 14° West and South 77° West and between North 46° West and North 40° West. The tower is 56 feet above high water, and the light will be visible from a vessel's deck in clear weather at a distance of 12 miles.

Both sectors of this light are intensified.

BUOYS.

The black buoys now marking the south-western extreme of the Spitfire and the eastern extreme of the Salamander banks will be replaced by illuminated gas buoys with a fixed white light.

The red buoy now marking the northern extreme of the Western banks will also be replaced by an illuminated gas buoy carrying an occulting White light.

The superstructures of the gas buoys will be ten (10) feet above the level of the sea, and the lights will be visible from a vessel's deck in clear weather at a distance of about three (3) miles.

On a line North-West $\frac{5}{8}$ North from Spitfire bank buoy, on the following bearings, three (3) Black buoys will be placed to mark the eastern side of the North-West Channel:—

Northern Buoy (in 8 fathoms of water)—

Caloundra Light, N.W. by N. $\frac{1}{8}$ W.
Mount Beerwah, W. $\frac{1}{2}$ S.

Middle Buoy (in 7 fathoms of water)—

Caloundra Light, N.W. by N.

Southern Buoy (in 10 fathoms of water)—

Caloundra Light, N.W. $\frac{7}{8}$ N.
Mount Beerwah, W. $\frac{3}{4}$ N.

A further notice with regard to these lights and buoys, with directions for their use, will be issued when the channel is available for navigation by night.

Circulars on the subject of the registration of water-supply, Nos. 7 and 8T.—M, dated 15th May 1896.

I AM directed to forward, for your information, copies of the papers noted in the margin, relating to the prevailing scarcity of drinking water in many districts of Bengal. I am to observe that, taken as a whole, the correspondence goes to show that, although the scarcity has been to some extent exaggerated, there can be no doubt that large tracts of country may in years of unusual drought be in real danger of visitation by a water famine which would cause serious and widespread suffering, if not actual loss of life. Such a failure of the supply of drinking water for the daily use of men and animals is in some respects more difficult to deal with than a failure of food-crops. When the water-supply breaks down, there is no general warning of what is about to happen, such as is given, in a case of ordinary famine, by the rise of prices; there is no accumulated stock of water to draw upon; nor, if there were, could it be imported into the distressed area except on a small scale and at very heavy cost. Apart, moreover, from the risk of the water-supply actually failing, it is certain, whenever an abnormally dry season occurs, that the people will be driven to use polluted tanks and wells, and that thus epidemics will be started which will tend to spread beyond the tract in which they first arose. There will also be great mortality among cattle. Even in ordinary years serious evils constantly result from the want of proper conservation of the existing sources of water-supply, and without entering on controverted questions of causation, there can be little doubt that much of the cholera, dysentery, and malarial fever that prevails is traceable more or less directly to the use of bad water. Owing mainly to want of funds, sections 88 to 90, 118 and 119 of the Local Self-Government Act, which purport to deal with this subject, have in practice remained virtually a dead letter, and must be pronounced useless in their present form.

2. In order to initiate effective action for the improvement of the local water-supply, it is clear that the subject must be dealt with in a systematic manner, in order that steady progress may be made from year to year towards the completion of a definite scheme. With this object the Lieutenant-Governor has ordered the registration of all sources of domestic water-supply so as to ascertain and record permanently to what extent (a) municipalities, and (b) rural villages containing more than 100 houses, already possess an adequate supply of wholesome drinking water, and what is being done to meet their requirements in this respect. It is obvious, however, from the mere statement of the case, and without waiting for the statistics which these orders will produce, that the task is a heavy one, and that very large expenditure will be required to produce an appreciable result. As things stand now, the only sources that can be drawn upon for such a purpose are (1) private liberality, (2) loans under the Land Improvement Act, (3) funds raised by Union Committees under section 118 of the Local Self-Government Act, (4) the Road Cess. These can readily be shown, both singly and collectively, to be insufficient to meet the wants of a growing population. Nor can any help be looked for from the income which the Boards derive from pounds, ferries, and educational and medical receipts. These revenues are expansive only within certain limits, which in most districts have already been reached, and their entire proceeds are absorbed by expenditure on education, medical aid, and general administrative purposes.

3. In times now past the landowners of all grades were active in increasing the supply of drinking water, and to them the country owes a large proportion of the tanks and wells that exist. But the religious sentiment which inspired these works is believed to be weaker than it was; the forced labour by which many of them were executed can no longer be had; more ostentatious forms of benevolence have come into fashion, which compete seriously with local works of charity; and of late the doctrine has been more or less explicitly put forward that the imposition of the Road Cess has relieved the zamindars of their moral and religious obligations in respect of water-supply. This doctrine, though unfounded as regards the original object of the cess—for Bengal Act X of 1871 makes no mention of water-supply, which appears for the first time in Act IX of 1880—will probably in the long run gain ground; and as it spreads, the digging of tanks and wells by private landlords for the use of the public will tend to decline. A few of the great landholders may be expected, in the hope of official recognition, to contribute to the cost of municipal water-works; but as a rule hardly any of them will interest themselves in the small and relatively inconspicuous works which rural tracts require. These will be left to the systematized efforts of District and Local Boards and Union Committees, or of Government acting as zamindar in its own estates; while the aid derived from the landlords as a class will be comparatively scanty and occasional.

4. The digging of tanks and wells from loans under the Land Improvement Act was referred to, in my Circular of the 2nd April 1896, as a possible means of adding to the rural water-supply; but such works are really a mode of private expenditure undertaken by people for the improvement of their own property, and only incidentally benefiting the community. An exceptionally dry season like the present no doubt tends to encourage expenditure of this kind; but it will be seen from the correspondence on the subject that applications for loans have not been specially numerous, and it is clear that whatever help may be derived from this source will be on a small scale and cannot be taken into account in attempting to estimate the funds available for the purpose of providing mufassal villages with a pure water-supply.

5. Under section 118 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, a Union Committee may cleanse or repair any public tank, stream, well or drain within the Union, and may charge the cost, up to a limit of Rs. 100, to the Union Fund, or if the Fund be not sufficient, may levy the cost from the residents of the Union as if it were chaukidari tax. In paragraph 4 of the Resolution of this Government, dated 1st September 1894, on the formation of Union Committees, it was observed that "this useful provision will make it possible to procure funds for what has long been felt to be one of the most crying wants of rural Bengal—a pure water-supply for the villages in the interior, which cannot be provided with it under the municipal law." It seems, however, to have escaped notice that the powers of the Committee are restricted to public tanks and wells, and of these there are so few in most ordinary villages that in its present form the section is, and must continue to be, practically inoperative.

6. There remains, as the most natural and legitimate source from which the District Boards might be expected to make provision for rural water-supply, the balance of the Road Cess levied in the district after payment of the expenses of collection. The question of the proper application of the proceeds of the Road Cess has recently been brought prominently to the notice of the Lieutenant-Governor, and has been dealt with in the orders noted in the margin, in which special reference has been made to the necessity of improving the supply of drinking water. These orders, however, though they will prevent the diversion of Road Cess Funds to general purposes, such as education or medical administration, will go but a small way towards providing the Boards with the large sums necessary to enable them to cope with the problem of water-supply. Nothing can be more certain than that the income which District Boards derive from the Road Cess, so far from having a surplus for other objects, is really insufficient for the purposes for which the cess was originally levied—that is to say, as is recited in the preamble to Bengal Act X of 1871, "for the construction and maintenance of roads and other means of communication." It is possible that the pressure on the District Fund might be relieved to some extent by reducing the mileage of metalled roads; but it is doubtful whether this policy, however rigorously carried out, would enable the Boards to divert an appreciable proportion of their cess income to the purpose of water-supply; while on the other hand it must be remembered that the progressive extension of railways in Bengal requires to be met by a corresponding development of feeder roads, which must be metalled, and which often follow entirely new lines not conforming to the existing system.

Letter No. 1284L.S.-G., dated 30th March 1896, to the Commissioner of Orissa. Copy annexed.

7. After fully considering all that has been written on this branch of the subject, the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied that whatever may be done to reduce the present outlay on roads and bridges, the balance of Cess Funds available for the other purposes specified in section 109 of Bengal Act IX of 1880 must in the most favourable event be too small to enable District Boards within any measurable time to make adequate provision for the water-supply of the villages in the interior. Some relief might perhaps be given to the Boards from Provincial revenues by revising the conditions under which certain Provincial roads were transferred to local management under the Bengal Acts X of 1871 and IX of 1880. It has been alleged, in the course of debates in the Legislative Council, that such transfers have been unfairly made so as to throw on local funds the burden of maintaining roads which should form a Provincial charge, and the subject is now under inquiry. In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, however, it is unlikely that this inquiry will result in any material increase of the available income of the Boards.

8. A larger proposal, involving a substantial sacrifice of Provincial income, is to make over to District Boards all ferry receipts except those already reserved to municipalities. This was considered in 1890 by Sir Steuart Bayley, who admitted the justice of the proposal, but was compelled to reject it by financial considerations. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees in thinking that ferry receipts, being derived from local taxation, should at any rate in theory be devoted to local purposes, and more specially to the construction and repair of roads and bridges. This was clearly the intention of the third clause of section 7 of Regulation VI of 1819, and the case is even stronger now, as most of the ferries of which the tolls are credited to Provincial revenues are situated on roads maintained by District Boards. The condition of the Provincial finances is at present favourable enough to render this concession feasible, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to make it if effect is given to the other proposals put forward in this letter.

9. While thus expressing his readiness to surrender to District Boards the ferry receipts now credited to Provincial revenues, the Lieutenant-Governor deems it necessary to declare in the clearest and most positive language that no further alienation of these revenues for local objects, and no material increase of the large grant already made to District Boards, can in future be looked for. The recent debate* on the Bengal Financial Statement for 1896-97 not only brings out very clearly that the demands on Provincial revenues for ordinary administrative purposes tend to increase very rapidly, but also indicates the possibility of pressure being brought to bear upon the Government to surrender productive sources of income in deference to supposed principles. At the present time the Bengal Government is being urged to add to the number of Munsifs and Subordinate Judges, to build new courts and improve existing ones, to provide residences for Munsifs in the mufassal, to reconstruct portions of two of the great hospitals in Calcutta, and to incur large expenditure on buildings and appliances required for the extension of medical and technical education. Under the head of Civil Buildings alone the expenditure provided in the current year's budget for original works amounts to Rs. 22,14,700. In addition to this an elaborate scheme of roads to serve as feeders to railways is under consideration, and large sums are about to be spent on improving communications in the tea-growing areas of the Western Duars. These charges, it may be said, are not recurring, though they necessarily involve a substantial addition to the constant expenditure on repairs; but in fact the works which are mentioned represent only a selection from among a number of projects, all of which deserve consideration, and to which new schemes are constantly being added. On another side, again, a demand is being put forward for a general increase in the salaries of ministerial officers, on the ground that the prices of food-grains have risen since these salaries were fixed. It will be seen from the remarks on this subject at pages 180 to 182 of the Council Proceedings already referred to, that an increase of 12½ per cent., or two annas in the rupee, which is a mere fraction of the increase suggested by the Salaries Commission of 1884, would involve an addition to the Provincial expenditure of Rs. 3,68,292 a year. In the same debate reference was made to the alleged obligations of the Government to reduce the fees charged on the institution of suits in the Calcutta Small Cause Court, the growth of the excise revenue was unfavourably criticised, and it was suggested that the rates of process fees in all classes of courts were too high. The last point has formed the subject of correspondence with the Government of India, and it has been estimated that if these fees were fixed so as merely to cover the cost of the establishments actually employed, the loss to Provincial revenues would be about four and-a-half lakhs. In the face of these possibilities of permanently increased expenditure on the one hand, and of a permanent reduction of income on the other hand, the Lieutenant-Governor feels bound to make it perfectly clear that, over and above the surrender of the ferry receipts, no further liability can be imposed on Provincial revenues in respect of rural water-supply.

* Proceedings of the Bengal Council, 4th April 1896.

10. Existing resources being thus shown to be inadequate, it is clear that other and more productive means of raising funds must be looked for if any real progress is to be made towards the solution of the difficulty of rural water-supply. The Lieutenant-Governor has accordingly been led to consider the comprehensive scheme of local taxation which was drawn up under Sir Steuart Bayley's orders, and was laid before the Government of India early in 1890. On that scheme no action was taken, as the Government of India agreed with the late Lieutenant-Governor in thinking that it was not then advisable to undertake legislation for the purpose of imposing fresh taxation in Bengal. Since April 1891, when this decision was arrived at, circumstances have materially changed. During the last five years a great deal has been done in the municipal towns of this Province to promote sanitation and to improve the water-supply, and it is believed that the upper and middle classes of Native society in Bengal now realise in a way they never did before the great benefits derived from the use of pure drinking water, and the paramount necessity of providing the inhabitants of rural villages with some effective means of raising funds for the purpose of improving the village water-supply. The prevalent feeling of alarm occasioned by the recent scarcity of water, and the serious danger which this indicates in the future, are forcibly expressed by Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar, C.I.E., in a recently published review of a paper on "Water and Health," which has appeared in an American Magazine:—

"The present water famine has not come upon us as a surprise. We were receiving warnings regarding it for some time past when the rainfall was becoming less and less from year to year, and our tanks and other reservoirs of water were, in consequence, drying up and threatened with complete exhaustion. We heeded not these warnings. We have not excavated new tanks, we have not even deepened by re-excavation old ones, for the storage of whatever rain water we were having. The threatened exhaustion of the chief sources of the water-supply of the villages and most of the towns of Bengal, as an inevitable result, has come; and unless prompt measures are taken, it will be impossible to avert the consequences of a water-famine, which are far speedier and far more frightful than those of food-famine. Already cholera, the offspring of dirty and polluted drinking water, is raging with epidemic virulence, and if the present state of things is allowed to continue, the mortality from this disease alone will be something which it is appalling to contemplate."

11. The suggestions for legislation put forward in 1890 may be summed up as follows:—

I. (a) That a local general rate or cess be imposed on land in the same manner as is now done in the case of the Road Cess, the amount of the general cess not to exceed one pice in the rupee on the annual value of land, and not to be less than one-third of a pice, or one pie, in the rupee on such value.

Provided that the general cess shall not be levied within the area of those Unions in which a system of local rating has been imposed on Union Committees.

(b) That the proceeds of the local general rate or cess shall be devoted to general purposes, and especially to the furtherance of sanitation and of primary education.

Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor shall have power to direct, in regard to any district, that the whole of the proceeds of the local general cess at its minimum rate of one pie in the rupee, or such proportion as may be determined of this minimum rate and not exceeding it, shall be devoted to the furtherance of primary education only.

(c) That, subject to the maximum and minimum as aforesaid, the rate of the local general cess be fixed by the District Boards.

(d) That the proceeds of the local general cess in regard to sanitation and primary education be, so far as possible, expended locally.

II. That it should be declared that the balance of the District Road Fund under the Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880, shall be applied to the objects specified in section 109 of that Act, and to no other.

III. That a permissive power, subject to the approval of Government in each case, should be granted to District Boards, on the establishment of Union Committees, to authorize these Committees to assess and collect a local rate upon the residents within the Union according to their circumstances and property, the amount to be recovered by this rate being fixed by District Boards with the sanction of Government; and that the whole of the proceeds of this rate, after deducting five per cent. for supervision and inspection, should be spent within the Union by the Union Committees under the control of the Local Boards, in the furtherance of sanitation and of primary education.

Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor shall have power to direct that, in regard to any Union, such proportion of the local rate as he may determine shall be devoted to the furtherance of primary education only.

IV. That District Boards should be allowed in their own right to establish toll-bars on bridges constructed by them until the cost of the bridge, including the capital and interest expended thereon, as well as the cost of maintenance and of renewal if necessary, has been recovered.

12. It will be seen that the chief feature of the scheme was the imposition of a local general cess on land, to be assessed and collected like the Road Cess, the proceeds being devoted to general purposes, and especially to the furtherance of sanitation and of primary education. This portion of Sir Steuart Bayley's proposals the Lieutenant-Governor would now propose definitely to abandon, not only on the ground of the widespread opposition which it would evoke, but also because it appears to him inequitable to lay any further burden exclusively upon the proprietors of the land in Bengal for the purpose of meeting expenditure upon local, as distinguished from Provincial or Imperial purposes, which he hopes to be able to provide for by other and less unpopular means. A further objection, to which the Lieutenant-Governor attaches considerable weight, is that the incidence of the cess, if imposed in the manner suggested in 1890, would necessarily be unequal. It was intended that the cess should not be levied in localities where Union Committees are organised and local rates imposed. It seems to have escaped notice that this system would not merely cause great discontent, but would give rise to intolerable complications in the assessment and collection of the cess. If such a cess is to be imposed at all, it must be universal; it cannot be partial and fluctuating. And if universal, its introduction would of necessity defer indefinitely the introduction of the more promising and equitable scheme of permissive local rating.

13. A second suggestion was to declare by law that the balance of the District Road Fund under the Bengal Cess Act, IX of 1880, shall be applied to the objects specified in section 109 of that Act, and to no other. This also the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to accept, for the following reasons. In the first place the object in view has been already attained by the orders contained in my letter to the Commissioner of Orissa referred to in paragraph 6 above, which has been circulated to all Commissioners of Divisions in which the Bengal Local Self-Government Act is in force. Those orders are in effect a direction to the Commissioner as to the manner in which he should exercise the powers of control over the District Board budgets, conferred upon him by section 48 of the Act; and in this way they rest upon a strictly legal basis. Secondly, a formal alteration of the law in the manner suggested in the Memorandum would entail the keeping of a separate account for Road Cess receipts, a procedure which would cause considerable inconvenience, and would in practice lead to complicated adjustments and tend to restrict the employment of the District Engineer and his subordinates by the Boards on general administrative purposes. Thirdly, the proposed charge would conflict with the principle laid down in 1890, that in time of serious scarcity it is the duty of the Boards to direct their whole resources, subject only to the maintenance of absolutely necessary works in non-affected tracts, to affording relief. It would absolutely debar the District Boards from spending any portion of their income from Road Cess on the purposes set forth in clauses (2) and (3) of section 99 of the Local Self-Government Act, and it would be capable of being construed as equally precluding expenditure on roads, tanks, and similar public works started merely for the relief of distress. It may be added that the liability thus imposed upon the Boards in respect of famine relief corresponds to the obligation laid upon the Provincial Government by the Government of India, and as such is a matter of Imperial concern.

14. A third proposal put forward in 1890 was to introduce a system of permissive local rating by Union Committees for the furtherance of sanitation and primary education within the limits of the Union. Sir Steuart Bayley then expressed a decided opinion that it was only by such a scheme that real Local Self-Government could eventually be established in Bengal; that if tried in selected districts its success would justify its extension; and that in course of time local rating would spread to considerable tracts of country and in the end obviate the necessity of imposing a general cess on land. He proposed, however, that in the first instance the two systems should work side by side, but that the general cess should not be levied where local rating was in force.

15. It seems to Sir Alexander Mackenzie that the weak point of the entire scheme of 1890 was the attempt to introduce at the same time and for the same purposes two distinct methods of taxation, one of which was intended gradually to displace the other. If the outcry that would be caused by imposing a general cess is to be incurred at all, it should surely be incurred on adequate grounds and for a substantial return in the form of a permanent increase of the incomes of the District Boards: not for a tax the proceeds of which would in the nature of things tend to diminish and eventually to disappear altogether, and which would in any case provoke criticism by its uneven incidence as between localities where Union Committees have been introduced and those where they have not. Moreover, as the extension of local rating was made dependent upon the initiative of District Boards, and every such extension would necessarily have reduced the yield of the general cess administered by them, it seems doubtful whether any real progress would ever have been made in the organization of Union Committees equipped with powers of taxation.

16. If, however, the scheme of permissive local rating is allowed to stand by itself without being hampered and discredited by the odium attaching to the imposition of a general cess, the Lieutenant-Governor believes not only that there will be no serious difficulty in extending it wherever Union Committees are constituted, but that a modified form of it may be introduced into all villages of a certain size, whether situated in Board districts or in districts to which the Local Self-Government Act has not yet been extended. The provisions necessary to legalise this action are contained in sections 36, 44, 56, 57, 104—119, 119A—119I, 130, 133, and 134 of the annexed draft amendment of the Local Self-Government Act. Instead of taking these sections in order, it will be convenient first to explain the object and scope of the group of sections numbered 104 to 119, which will take the place of Part III, Chapter III of the present Act, dealing with the duties and powers of Union Committees

17. Sections 104 and 104A are intended in the first place to remove a technical difficulty which has arisen from the confused parentage of the sections of the Local Self-Government Act which deal with the powers of Union Committees. The obvious intention of certain sections is that there shall be a chain of delegation, and that the District Boards shall delegate, if they think proper, certain powers to Local Boards, who shall in their turn bestow such of them as they think fit upon Union Committees. On the other hand, there are some sections which appear to give to Union Committees independent powers either absolutely or subject to rules to be made by the Local Government. Sections 108, 109, 112, 114, and 115 are instances in point. Moreover, the working of Chapter III of Part III is complicated by the fact that in many districts it has been found unadvisable to entrust to Local Boards the administration of primary education and sanitation, while nowhere do they deal with the registration of births and deaths; and thus, if section 104 be literally construed, it would appear that wherever Local Boards have not taken these matters under their direct control and administration, they devolve upon Union Committees. In order, therefore, to place the law on an intelligible basis, and at the same time to enable the District Boards either to deal direct with Union Committees or to delegate their powers wholly or partially to Local Boards, section 104 has been amended so as to place Union Committees directly under the District Board, and section 104A has been added so as to enable the District Board, where it thinks fit, to delegate its powers of control to a Local Board.

18. Sections 105 to 117 repeat the provisions of the present law either unchanged or with such modifications as are rendered necessary by draft sections 104 and 104A. In section 114 a further change has been introduced. In its present form it requires every Union Committee to provide for the registration of births and deaths, and to submit such returns as the Local Board may direct. But the registration of births and deaths is not, and never has been, under the Local Board, and consequently if section 104 be strictly interpreted, section 114 would unconditionally impose upon Union Committees the duty of registering births and deaths. In fact, however, registration of both births and deaths is carried out by the police under the control of the Magistrate, and there is no intention of transferring the work to the District or Local Boards. In 1892 it was found necessary to relieve municipalities of this duty, as most of them were quite incapable of conducting it properly; and there is no reason to suppose that District or Local Boards would do much better. Bengal Act IV of 1873, which provides for the compulsory registration of births and deaths, has not yet been extended to any rural area; but should this hereafter be found desirable, the District Magistrate, and not the District or Local Board, would be the controlling authority. For these reasons section 114 has been altered so as to provide that a Union Committee shall register births and deaths only if required to do so by the District Magistrate—an occasion which is most unlikely to arise.

19. Section 118 deals with the powers of a Union Committee in respect of water-supply, and is intended to take the place of section 118 of the present Act, which, as has been explained, is too limited in its scope to be of any practical use. The new section is based upon sections 51 of the English Public Health Act, 1875, and 8 of the Local Government Act, 1894. Its most important provision is clause (iii), the object of which is to enable the Union Committee to utilise for public purposes any source of water-supply, whether public or private, within the Union, provided that they do not interfere with the exercise of certain specified rights. The rights so specified—fishing, irrigation, and the exclusive use of tanks resorted to by the female members of a household—are understood to be those to which the proprietors of tanks in Bengal attach most importance, and it is hoped that if these are expressly reserved, the powers given to Union Committees of utilising private sources of water may meet with general acceptance. The measure is no doubt a strong one, and goes beyond section 8 (e) of the Local Government Act, 1894, in so far as it restricts the saving of private rights to certain specified cases. Experience, however, has shown that owners of tanks in the mufassal are frequently deterred from placing them at the disposal of local authorities, by the fear that they will thus lose valuable fishing rights, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that in practice this clause will render it possible for Union Committees to order the reservation of private tanks for drinking purposes without interfering with rights of fishing and irrigation. The concluding words of this clause have reference to zanana tanks, in respect of which no public rights can be exercised. Such tanks are usually more or less enclosed, and it is unlikely that any Union Committe would wish to interfere with them except in pursuance of a private quarrel. Sub-section (2) of section 118 reproduces section 119 of the existing Act with the changes necessary to adapt it to the new section 118.

20. Section 118A is based upon section 5 of Act XIX of 1889, the Central Provinces Village Sanitation Act, modified in the following respects:—

(1) The proceeds of the tax may be applied to all the purposes of Chapter III, except village roads, which should be paid for by a grant from the Road Cess income at the disposal of the District Board.

(2) The character of the tax is defined and its amount limited as in section 85 (a) of the Bengal Municipal Act, instead of leaving the limit to be fixed by rule.

(3) The sanction of the Commissioner of the Division is substituted for that of the Local Government.

21. Sections 118B, 118C, and 118D.—The first of these is based on section 6 of the Central Provinces Act, already referred to, and gives the Local Government power to make rules for dealing with the Union Fund, for regulating conservancy, and for defining and punishing nuisances. These powers will, it is understood, cover whatever provisions may be necessary to prevent the pollution of the village water-supply. Sub-section (3) of section 118B enables the Union Committee to realize arrears of the tax as if they were arrears of chaukidari tax under Bengal Act VI of 1870. This procedure is simpler than that prescribed in section 6 (3) of the Central Provinces Act; it is one with which the rural population are already familiar, and its adoption will facilitate the transfer of the powers of chaukidari panchayats to Union Committees, should this measure hereafter be found advisable. Sections 118C and 118D are based upon sections 46A and 46B of Bengal Act VI of 1870, and provide for the not improbable contingency of the Union Committee being unwilling to take the trouble and incur the odium of collecting the tax themselves.

22. Chapter IIIA, comprising sections 119—119H, deals with the sanitation of villages not included in Unions, and is intended to be applicable not only to Board districts, but also to the districts of the Chota Nagpur Division and Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling and the Sonthal Parganas, where the Local Self-Government Act is not in force. The entire chapter has been drafted on the lines of the Central Provinces Village Sanitation Act, with such alterations as are necessary to adapt it to the condition of this Province. For example, in section 119B, which is modelled on section 4 of the Central Provinces Act, the maintenance of roads has been omitted from the purposes for which a tax is to be imposed, because in Bengal village roads are already a charge on the Road Cess. In section 119C, corresponding to section 5 of the Central Provinces Act, the maximum limit of the tax has been fixed by law instead of being left to be determined by rule, and the assessment has been made subject to the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division. Sections 119D, 119E, and 119F correspond to sections 118B, 118C, and 118D, the object of which has already been explained.

23. Sections 36, 44, 56, 57, 130, 133, and 134 merely introduce into the corresponding sections of the present Act the alterations which are rendered necessary by the provisions of the new Chapters III and IIIA.

24. It will be observed that the scheme of permissive local rating now put forward differs from that proposed by Sir Steuart Bayley in the following particulars:—

(a) the power of taxation is conferred on Union Committees as such, and is not made dependent first on the authorization of the District Board, and then on the sanction of Government;

(b) the amount to be raised by taxation is to be fixed by the Union Committee subject to the control of the Commissioner of the Division, instead of being fixed by the District Board with the sanction of Government;

(c) no deduction is proposed for supervision and inspection;

(d) a maximum limit is fixed for each assessee;

(e) the proceeds of the tax may be applied to all purposes included in Chapter III, with the exception of village roads, and their application is not restricted to sanitation and primary education;

(f) the powers of Union Committees in respect of water-supply are materially extended;

(g) the present scheme is more comprehensive in that it provides for the water-supply and sanitation of villages in Board districts which are not included in Unions, and also of villages in districts to which the Local Self-Government Act has not been extended.

25. The fourth suggestion was that District Boards should be allowed in their own right to establish toll-bars on bridges constructed by them, until the cost of the bridge, including the capital and interest expended thereon, as well as the cost of maintenance and of renewal if necessary, has been recovered. Tolls on roads and bridges are leviable on roads made or repaired at the expense of Government under Act VIII of 1851, which is still in force; and under this Act toll gates were formerly established in most districts on local and district roads. The receipts appear to have reached their highest figure in 1870-71, when they amounted to Rs. 92,189. At this time the Road Cess Act of 1871 was passed, and it was the frequently declared policy of Sir George Campbell that as this Act came into force the existing system of tolls should be abolished. This policy was slowly given effect to, for the Road Cess Committees generally murmured against it, and as recently as 1877-78 the receipts from tolls in Bengal amounted to Rs. 62,237. In 1879 80 all tolls on roads and bridges were abolished under the orders of Sir Ashley Eden, on the ground that "toll-bars were a great hindrance to trade and traffic, and, managed as they must be, were sure to produce much extortion, oppression, and fraud." In Bombay and Madras the law allows tolls to be levied by the District Boards on both roads and bridges, and the net revenue of the Madras Boards from this source amounts to more than six lakhs of rupees. From a financial point of view, therefore, the reimposition of tolls would be likely to yield a considerable revenue to the Boards in Bengal. Sir Steuart Bayley, however, was not prepared to reverse a policy which had been deliberately followed for many years. He considered the arguments against the proposal too strong to be resisted, and held that the reimposition of tolls on roads or bridges as a source of revenue, and not merely for the recovery of the cost of construction, would be a retrograde measure and obstructive to trade. While holding, however, that tolls on roads could in no case be justified, he thought that there were no similar objections to the proposal that District Boards should be empowered to levy tolls on a bridge erected in place of a ferry. It seems, however, to the Lieutenant-Governor that in the discussions of 1890 the case against the imposition of tolls as a source of revenue was stated in too abstract and general a form, and that insufficient weight was given to the practical argument in favour of such a measure, that the people would rather pay tolls than be saddled with an additional local rate to be collected with the rent. As Mr. Wace pointed out in 1889, "one recommendation of the toll to the raiyat will be that it hits the baniya harder than the Road Cess does. The baniya, of course, will try to pass it on, but of this the raiyat will be unaware; and even if he should feel it, he will feel it less than another turn of the tahsildar's screw." A similar opinion, which may probably be taken as representative, was expressed by Mr. Ashutosh Gupta, then Officiating Collector of Jessore, who observed:—"The entire cost of constructing roads and bridges is borne by the agricultural classes, while the commercial classes, who profit most by the opening up and maintenance of communications, contribute nothing. It is only fair that the trader should contribute a portion of the District Fund." As regards risk of oppression, Mr. Wace argued that there was less at a toll-bar on dry land than at a ferry. "The ferryman sitting in his boat, six yards from shore, is much more likely to dictate his own terms and levy excessive toll than the man at a bar, and I maintain that the levy of excessive tolls is even now rare."

26. There appear to be three forms in which the power to levy tolls might be conferred upon District Boards, with or without the antecedent sanction of Government; thus:—

(1) Tolls may be levied on roads and bridges, without restriction as to the recovery of initial cost, on the system sanctioned by Madras Act V of 1884.

(2) Tolls may be levied on roads and bridges, until the initial cost has been replaced, as is contemplated by sections 158—172 of the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884.

(3) Tolls may be levied on bridges only until the cost of construction, maintenance, and renewal has been recovered with interest, as proposed in head IV of Sir S. Bayley's scheme as summarised in paragraph 11 of this letter.

The Lieutenant-Governor thinks that reasonable grounds exist for adopting the second of these methods, and for allowing the levy of tolls to continue until the Board have recovered the initial cost of constructing the bridge or road, and the capitalised value of the estimated cost of maintenance and of renewal in the case of bridges required to be periodically renewed, together with interest on such expenditure. The necessary provisions are contained in sections 86A to 86K on the draft annexed, which are based upon sections 158 to 170 of the Bengal Municipal Act, and, like those, require the previous sanction of the Local Government in each case. Section 138(ll) supplements these by conferring on the Local Govenment power to prescribe the mode of ascertaining the capitalised value of maintenance and of determining what class of bridges requires periodical renewal.

27. The proposals discussed in the foregoing paragraphs would, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, be sufficient in themselves to place the question of local taxation in the rural portions of Bengal on a sound and permanent footing, and to provide both District Boards and Union Committees with a fairly progressive income for expenditure on local purposes. As, however, the entire scheme is of a permissive character, it seems desirable to leave as much latitude as possible to local authorities, and to give them the power to vary their modes of taxation in accordance with special conditions, subject of course to the sanction of Government in each case. In this view, I am to mention the three following taxes, power to impose which might, if opinions are favourable to them, be embodied in the amendment of the Local Self-Government Act which is now before a Select Committee of the Bengal Council.

28. Fees on musical processions which have been sanctioned by the police, have been levied for the last thirty years by the Municipal Commissioners of Patna, and in 1894-95 such fees amounted to Rs. 1,589. Similar fees were levied in 1890 by the Dinapore Nizamut Municipality on the scale noted in the margin; but this practice was discontinued in 1892, under the orders of the Commissioner of Patna, who, however, recommended, with reference to the Bill to amend the Municipal Act, which was then before the Legislative Council, that a provision should be introduced legalising the general imposition of such fees by Municipal Commissioners. Towards the end of 1893, Mr. Forbes's proposal was referred for consideration to the Select Committee on the Bill, but they expressed no opinion on the subject, and the matter seems to have been overlooked. It has since been suggested that the opportunity of the Act being now under amendment might properly be taken to introduce a section empowering Municipal Commissioners to levy fees on musical processions sanctioned by the police, in accordance with a scale to be approved by the Commissioner of the Division. In my letter No. 3T.—M. of the 28th April last, circulating for opinion the draft Bill to amend the Municipal Act, which was introduced into Council on the 11th April, this proposal has been referred to, and District Officers, Municipal Commissioners, and public bodies have been asked for an expression of opinion on the subject. So far as the Lieutenant-Governor has been able to ascertain at present, native feeling is decidedly in favour of an impost of this kind, and it is believed that such fees would be paid without a murmur, if Union Committees were invested with the powers which it is proposed to confer upon municipalities. The proceeds no doubt would be small in any given place, but the possible sources of income available to a Union Committee are so few that, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, it would be unwise to reject any means of adding to them that is likely to meet with popular acceptance.

29. Marriage tax.—A further suggestion of a somewhat similar type is to permit Union Committees to levy a tax on marriages celebrated within the Union in proportion to the expenditure incurred, and in accordance with a scale to be fixed by them with the approval of the Commissioner of the Division. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that as a measure of Imperial taxation the imposition of a tax upon marriages has been discussed and rejected on the ground that it would not yield much revenue unless assessed and collected in such a way as to reach the poorest classes in the country; and that, if so collected, it would be extremely unpopular. It may be doubted, however, whether these objections, the force of which His Honour fully admits, are at all applicable to a marriage tax as a mode of permissive local taxation introduced, assessed, and collected by a rural representative body, and expended by them for the benefit of the community which they represent. In favour of such a tax, so administered, it may be urged that something practically indistinguishable from it already exists in the form of the so-called subscription or chándá which is levied in most villages on the occasion of all domestic ceremonies which involve any kind of entertainment, including not only marriage but also annaprásana, the giving of the first rice, and upanayana, the investing of a boy of the higher caste with a sacred thread. In the hands of a committee of villagers intimately acquainted with the circumstances of every assessee, the proceeds of a marriage tax would probably be quite large enough to form a substantial addition to the income of the Union; the expenditure which it would affect is purely luxurious; and the control of the Commissioner, to whom the scale of fees would be submitted for approval, would be a sufficient guarantee against any unreasonable exaction. Finally, it is quite possible, as has been observed in previous discussions on the subject, that the levy of such a tax may be found in practice to appeal to the popular instinct of display, and that the official receipt showing that a particular person has paid the tax on a certain outlay as stated by himself or appraised by the Committee, may come to be regarded in popular estimation as evidence that the individual has discharged a social obligation with suitable pomp and circumstance. The tax may thus not only swell the income available for village purposes, but may also indirectly tend to bring about a reduction of wasteful expenditure. I am to add that in 1889 a proposal that the District Board should be authorised to levy a tax on marriages within the district was brought forward, in connexion with the scheme of local taxation then under consideration by Babu Ram Chandra Mukharji, Government Pleader of Nadia, and Vice-Chairman of the District Board, who wrote as follows on the subject:—"People spending hundreds and thousands on marrying their sons and daughters will gladly contribute a certain amount to the district fund on such happy occasions. It was, and still is, the practice in this country to contribute a certain amount to village pathsalas on the occasion of marriages, and we, the village people, invariably levy a certain amount of money from the bridegroom's party whenever a marriage takes place. The amount is now-a-days paid as a gift, and it depends entirely on the option of the karttá of the bridegroom's party and his circumstances. * * * * In my opinion, in all marriages in which the expenditure is below Rs. 50, the rate of contribution ought to be four annas, and in all other cases the rate should be the same as prescribed by Article 13 of Act I of 1879, prescribing value of stamps for bonds."

30. Wheel tax.—A third suggestion, which seems to the Lieutenant-Governor to deserve consideration, is the proposal to sanction the levy of a wheel tax in the form of a yearly or half-yearly fee for the registration of carts. Such a tax could of course only be levied in districts where tolls were not introduced, and there would be some difficulty in dealing with carts which only occasionally ply for hire. On the other hand, it may be urged—

(a) that it would be popular with the District Boards, and that public opinion would generally be in favour of it on the ground that country carts with their narrow tires and heavy loads damage the roads more than any other form of traffic;

(b) that in many of the drier districts a substitute is needed for tolls, which can so easily be avoided that it would not pay a District Board to establish them on roads, while even on bridges they would only be effective during a part of the year;

(c) that such a tax is levied in municipalities and regarded as an important source of income, and that its adoption by District Boards would put an end to the difficulties of assessing the tax fairly, which are referred to at length in paragraph 25 of the Resolution on the working of municipalities during 1894-95;

(d) that the opportunities for extortion, and the expenses of collecting the tax, would be reduced to a minimum, as a gratuity could only be exacted once or twice a year when the cart was registered, and when once the system of registration had been fully introduced, the tax would practically collect itself, as the carters would take care to renew their tickets periodically;

(e) that if the tax fell solely on the owners of carts, they could well afford to pay it; while on the other hand, if its burden were shifted to the producer or consumer of the goods carted, neither of them would be aware of its incidence.

31. In conclusion, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor is so impressed with the necessity of substantially increasing the resources of District Boards and Union Committees in Bengal, and thus enabling them to promote village sanitation and water-supply, that he considers it essential that the present opportunity of introducing a comprehensive measure of permissive local taxation should not be allowed to pass without pressing the question to a decisive issue. The exceptionally dry weather which now prevails has brought home to the population of Bengal the serious danger to health which arises from an inadequate and impure supply of drinking water. Neither Government nor the District Boards can hope, with the resources at their disposal, to reconstruct the sanitary arrangements or to reform the water-supply of the villages in rural Bengal. That task must be left to the people themselves; but given suitable machinery such as the legislation now proposed would call into existence, the Lieutenant-Governor is not without hope that the village authorities, taught by the experience of the last few months, will be ready to make effectual use of their powers, and thus to bring about within a reasonable time a sensible improvement in the material conditions of rural existence in Bengal.

32. I am accordingly to request that the Lieutenant-Governor may be favoured with an expression of your opinion, and of that of the District Officers and District Boards* of your Division, in order that, if possible, the requisite provisions, somewhat in the form of the annexed draft, may be embodied in the amendment of the Local Self-Government Act now under consideration, and passed into law during next cold weather. Your report should reach this office not later than the first week of August.

Further amendments of the Local Self-Government Act suggested with the object of enabling District Boards to increase their resources by levying tolls on certain roads and bridges, of extending the powers of Union Committees and placing them more directly under the District Boards, of empowering Union Committees to impose local rates for water-supply and other purposes, and of enabling villages not included in any union to levy similar rates for water-supply and sanitation.

carrying out any of such duties. Provided that the total amount which any Union Committee may expend on account of the purposes of Chapter III, other than the construction and repair of village roads, shall not exceed the sum received by them under section 118A.

DD.—TOLLS ON BRIDGES AND ROADS.

District Board may establish toll bar.

86A. It shall be lawful for the District Board, with the sanction of the Local Government, to establish a toll-bar and levy tolls on any bridge or metalled road, or at any place within the district adjacent to such bridge or metalled road, at which tolls may conveniently be levied on vehicles or animals passing over such bridge or road; and the net proceeds of the said tolls shall be credited to the District Fund, and applied to the purposes specified in sections 78 and 79.

Bengal Act III of 1884, section 158, modified with reference to Madras Act V of 1884, sections 57 (iii) and 95.

Provided that no such toll-bar shall be established, or tolls levied, otherwise than for the purpose of recovering the expenses incurred in constructing such bridge or road, and the capitalized value of the estimated cost of maintenance, and of renewal in the case of bridges requiring to be periodically renewed, together with interest on such expenses as hereinafter provided.

District Board to publish expenses, &c., of toll-bars.

86B. Whenever a toll-bar shall have been established and tolls shall be levied, as provided in the last preceding section, the District Board shall, at the end of each year, publish, by causing it to be posted up at their office, an abstract account showing—

Ditto, section 159, modified.

(1) the amount of expenses incurred in the construction of such bridge or road;

(3) the capitalised value of the estimated cost of maintenance and renewal;
(4) the amount which has been received from the profits of the said toll-bar since its establishment.

And as soon as such expenses, interest and capitalised value shall have been recovered, as aforesaid, such toll-bar shall be removed, and tolls shall no longer be levied on such bridge or road.

Rates of tolls to be established and published.

86C. When it has been determined that tolls shall be levied on any such bridge or road, the District Board shall make and publish an order, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, specifying the rates at which such tolls shall be levied. Such rates may, from time to time, be varied with the like sanction.

payment of the toll, fraudulently avoids passing through such toll-gate, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Bengal Act III of 1884, section 163, modified.

In case of non-payment of toll, vehicle, &c., may be seized and sold.

86D. If the toll due on any vehicle or animal is not paid on demand, the person authorized to collect the same may seize such vehicle or animal or any part of its burden of sufficient value to defray the toll, and shall give immediate notice of such seizure to the District Board.

After such seizure, the District Board shall forthwith issue a notice in writing, that after the expiration of 10 days they will sell the property seized by auction at such place as they may state in the notice; and if any toll, together with the cost arising from such seizure and custody, remain undischarged for 10 days after the issue of such notice, the District Board may sell the property seized, for discharge of the toll and of all expenses occasioned by such non-payment, seizure, custody and sale. The surplus sale proceeds (if any) shall be credited to the District Fund, and may be paid on demand to any person who establishes his right to the satisfaction of the District Board, or in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Provided that if, at any time before the sale has been concluded, the person whose property has been seized shall tender to the District Board, or to the officer appointed by them to sell the property, the amount of all the expenses incurred and of the toll payable, the District Board shall forthwith release the property seized.

Circular No. 22L.S.-G., dated Calcutta, the 2nd April 1896.

From—H. H. Risley, Esq., c.i.e., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

I am directed to request that the special attention of District Boards in your division may be drawn to the following extract from the Resolution on the working of the District Boards in Bengal during 1894-95:—

"In order, however, to secure that something, however little, should be done every year, it seems to His Honour that every District Board might properly set apart at least the sum of Rs. 5,000 a year for the improvement of water-supply to be spent either in the digging or improvement of wells, or in the excavation or restoration of tanks to be reserved for drinking purposes only. The amount suggested is rather more than double the amount actually spent during the past year; but it is very small when compared with the urgency of the want and the extent of the area to be served. The Boards will doubtless find means of making the money go as far as possible by enlisting the aid of voluntary Committees, as is done in Noakhali, or by distributing their allotments in the form of small grants-in-aid of village funds, as is suggested by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division."

2. Complaints have reached Government that, owing to the unusual dryness of the season, the ordinary sources of water-supply in several districts are becoming exhausted or reduced; that people have to go long distances to fetch drinking water; and that the use of polluted tanks and wells is likely to lead to outbreaks of epidemic disease. I am accordingly to request that the District Boards in your division may be urged to take at once such action as may be possible to relieve the existing distress. What that action should be will depend to a great extent on the nature of the soil and the sources from which the ordinary supply of drinking water is derived. Where the soil is loose and sandy, it is believed that use may with advantage be made of Norton's tube-wells, which have been found to work well in several districts of Bengal, and have yielded specially satisfactory results at Saidpur. These wells can be procured at prices varying from Rs. 37-8 to Rs. 47-8, according to the length of piping, from Messrs. W. Leslie and Company, 2, Chowringhee Road, Calcutta, who undertake to send two workmen to sink the wells, and to make no extra charge for the use of the driving apparatus, provided it is returned in good condition. In laterite and clay soils tube-wells cannot be sunk, nor is it advisable to resort to them in districts near the sea, where the water is brackish. In all such places it will be for the District Boards to consider what measures, if any, can be adopted at once with the object of increasing the available water-supply or guarding against its pollution. Where tanks have dried up, water might sometimes be got by sinking wells in the beds of the tanks. Where wells are failing, it it sometimes useful to run galleries out from the bottom so as to increase the area of infiltration.

3. In connection with this subject, I am also to invite your attention to section 4 of the Land Improvement Loans Act of 1883, and to request that it may be made widely known in all the districts of your division that loans will be readily given under the rules in force to individuals or to bodies of villagers binding themselves jointly and severally under section 9 of the Act for the construction of wells, tanks and other works for the storage, supply or distribution of water for the use of men and cattle employed in agriculture.

Cir. No. 23L.S.-G., dated Calcutta, the 11th April 1896.

From—H. H. RISLEY, ESQ., C.I.E., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

IN continuation of my Circular No. 22L.S.-G., dated the 2nd April 1896, on the subject of the present scarcity of drinking-water in many districts of Bengal, I am directed to request that you and all District and Subdivisional Officers will endeavour by all means in your power to bring home to the landed classes, and to the people generally, the fact that the utmost the District Boards can do to augment the available supply of drinking-water can only produce a very trifling effect in comparison with the requirements of the rural population. Scarcity of drinking-water is a calamity which affects more or less all classes of the community, and every one should therefore do something according to his means to supply this want. Landowners and other wealthy persons can fulfil what has always been regarded in India as a religious obligation by digging new tanks or wells, deepening and cleansing old ones, and, above all, by surrendering their private rights in respect of water-supply in favour of the District Boards, and thus rendering it possible for these bodies to exercise the powers conferred on them by sections 88 and 90 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885, of repairing and maintaining wells and tanks and reserving them for the supply of water for drinking. On the other hand, cultivators and labourers, who habitually work with their hands on their own or other people's land, may do useful work by repairing and excavating village tanks and wells, and while thus labouring for the good of the community, they may fairly claim to be aided with supplies of food by members of the middle class, who should contribute according to their means. If means can be found of starting and organising voluntary action of this kind, more may be done in a year than the District Board even with the aid of Government could do in a generation.

2. The question of water-supply in municipalities is one of less difficulty than in rural areas, but in the smaller towns scarcity of water is complained of. Here again the owners of tanks and wells can do much to help the people by waiving their rights of private property in favour of the Commissioners, and thus enabling them to set apart such sources for the supply of drinking water under section 199 of the Municipal Act. Action may also be taken by the Commissioners of their own motion to prohibit the use of bad water under section 199A, and to require the owners or occupiers of land to cleanse unwholesome wells, tanks or water-courses under section 200.

No. 1284L.S.-G., dated Calcutta, the 30th March 1896.

From—H. H. RISLEY, ESQ., C.I.E., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 32T., dated the 17th January 1896, with which you submit copies of correspondence which passed between your predecessor and the Director of Public Instruction, on the subject of the educational allotment of the District Board of Balasore for the year 1895-96. You give reasons for differing from Mr. Cooke on this subject, and you go on to recommend that in this and other districts, where the Local Self-Government Act is in force, formal recognition should be accorded to the principle "that the proceeds of the road cess should be spent on roads, bridges, and water channels only, and that education and medical charity should be supported from other sources of income." In order to give effect to this principle, you propose that a separate account should be kept of the income derived by the Boards from road cess and of the expenditure incurred by them on the roads.

2. In reply, I am to point out that your letter discloses some misapprehension of the legal aspects of the question which you raise. The Proclamation relating to the expenditure of the road cess, which was issued under Sir George Campbell's orders in 1873, had reference mainly to section 90 of Bengal Act X of 1871. It stated in popular language that the funds raised under that Act would be spent within the district on the local roads, canals, and rivers, and would not be diverted to any other purpose. It gave, however, no pledge that the law would never be changed, and in fact, seven years later, a material change was introduced. By section 109 of Bengal Act IX of 1880, the objects on which road cess funds might be spent were substantially enlarged, so as to include the payment of leave allowances, gratuities or pensions, the planting of trees by the roadside, the improvement of the supply of drinking water, and the provision or improvement of drainage. At the same time the limitation to objects within the district, on which stress was laid in the Proclamation of 1873, was expressly extended, so as to enable the District Road Committee to construct, take charge of, or contribute towards any means and appliances for facilitating communication within the district, or between the district and adjacent districts.

3. The Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 effected a further change. The second schedule of that Act, read with section 2, remodelled section 109 of Bengal Act IX of 1880. Nearly the whole of the first clause, making the cost of collection and valuation and the indemnification of the Collector a first charge on the District Road Fund, was re-enacted, and the rest of the section was replaced by a provision laying down that "the balance, after payment of such expenses, shall be credited to the District Fund of the district." Section 53 defined the application of the District Fund, and the fifth clause of this section made the fund applicable to "the payment of expenses incurred by the District Board in the performance of the duties imposed by this Act." In other words, while the Cess Act of 1880 had authorised the expenditure of road cess on pensions, water-supply, and drainage, the Local Self-Government Act of 1885 made a further departure from the principles of the Act of 1871, merged the road cess in the District Fund, and added pounds, education, medical relief, sanitation, vaccination, famine relief, the destruction of noxious animals, fairs, and agricultural exhibitions to the list of objects to which the fund might be applied. From that time forward the income of the District Board, from whatever sources derived, has been one fund and may legally be spent on any purpose provided for in the Act.

4. The view of the law, which is explained at length above, is that which has been taken by the Government on various references which have been made from time to time on the subject. It is a mistake to suppose that the orders issued in 1888, settling the educational expenditure of different districts and allotting grants from Provincial revenues, contemplated any separation of road cess funds from the general incomes of the Boards. The form in which those orders were passed was determined by considerations of financial convenience, and has no bearing on the general question now raised by you. At the same time, although under the law the District Boards, subject to the direction of the Commissioner, possess ample discretion as to the purposes upon which they may spend the District Fund, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that, on grounds of expediency and quite apart from any legal obligation, it is desirable as a general rule that an amount approximately equivalent to the proceeds of the road cess should be devoted to the objects which the Legislature had in view when Bengal Act IX of 1880 was passed. Special attention is urgently called for at present to the improvement of the supply of drinking water. Under section 48 of the Local Self-Government Act the Commissioner can exercise full control over the District Board budget, and it is for him to see that effect is given to the principle laid down so far as the special conditions and needs of the district admit.

No. 2135M.—The 26th May 1896.—The following reports on the scarcity of water are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 381G., dated Burdwan, the 14th May 1896.

From—C. FISHER, ESQ., Offg. Magistrate and Collector of Burdwan,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

IN continuation of my No. 301G., dated the 7th instant, I have the honour to report as follows.

2. General rain has fallen throughout the district which has enabled the cultivators to commence plowing and preparing their lands. The neighbouring districts to the west must also have had good rain, as both the Damudar and the Ajai now contain a good head of water.

3. Kalna reports the following rainfall during the week:—

8th	...	...	·52 inch.
9th	...	...	·30 „
11th	...	...	1 98 inches.

It will be remembered that I have already reported over 7 inches of rain from Kalna during the last fortnight. There is sufficient water now throughout that subdivision, and the Subdivisional Officer asks to be allowed to discontinue his weekly report.

4. Katwa has only had ·19 inch since my last report, but good rain fell during the previous week. Water has collected in a large number of the tanks; inconvenience is now felt in only a few villages and actual scarcity in none. The Subdivisional Officer speaks of the Ajai river as being "flooded". I do not think that further reports are necessary.

5. Raniganj reports a further shower on the 7th, which brings the total rainfall of Raniganj itself up to ·74 for this month, but the rain has been heavier in other parts of the subdivision, and the Damudar river is now reported to be "comparatively full". The water in the wells is also reported to have greatly improved lately, and is now ample and wholesome. Gopalpur is the only place where inconvenience is now being felt for want of water. As I reported in paragraph 7 of my report dated 1st May 1896, there is a large tank outside the village whence plenty of water may be obtained. I do not consider that any more reports need be submitted now from Raniganj.

6. In Burdwan we had a good fall measuring ·98 inch last Sunday morning. There are a number of large tanks in the Sadar subdivision which have not dried up this year, and there has never been the same inconvenience here as was felt last month in Kalna and Katwa. The Damudar, the Banka, the Ajai, and the Khareah rivers are now running strong, as is also the Eden Canal. I went to see the Eden Canal this morning, and find that there is now such a good head of water that I am asking the Assistant Engineer in charge to open some of the sluice gates in the upper reaches of the canal by which a considerable number of tanks can be filled up. At present Hooghly district is getting all the water that passes down the canal.

7. In reply to the enquiries of the Divisional Commissioner, I am reporting that I do not think these weekly reports are any longer necessary.

8 Applications for loans continue to be received in large numbers; since the 1st April I have disbursed Rs. 4,400, and orders have been passed for the payment of Rs. 3,740 on the appearance of the parties. Nearly all these advances are for re-excavating tanks. 135 applications are pending for loans to the extent of Rs. 48,000 approximately. There is no doubt that the majority of these petitions will have to be rejected on the ground of insufficient security, but I have asked for an additional grant, and the Commissioner informs me that he has asked the Board of Revenue to sanction an extra allotment of Rs. 10,000.

9. The enclosed statements show the progress that has been made in the various works now in hand.

No. 668, dated Bankura, the 19th May 1896.

From—N. Bonham-Carter, Esq., Magistrate of Bankura,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

In continuation of my letter No. 628, dated 12th current, I have the honour to submit my weekly report on the condition of water-supply of the district for the week ending 19th instant.

2. Out of 20 permanent wells sanctioned for the Sadar subdivision, 2 have been completed, including the one reported last week, and work in 8 is approaching completion. Two other wells have since been commenced. Work in the remaining 8 will be taken in hand as soon as possible.

3. In the subdivision of Vishnupur the work in connection with the 9 wells reported before was in progress during the week. Reports regarding the sites for the other 7 have not yet been received.

4. Besides the 88 temporary wells reported as sunk in the Sadar subdivision, 16 more have since been dug to meet immediate wants. In the Vishnupur subdivision 13 more have been excavated over and above the 10 reported last week.

5. The statement on the margin will show the five reporting centres at which rain fell during the week. The rainfall during the week was too slight to have materially affected situation as last reported. At the same time, as already reported, I do not apprehend any serious results in this district from the scarcity of water.

No. 654G., dated Midnapore, the 18th May 1896.

From—W. R. BRIGHT, ESQ., Collector of Midnapore,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN continuation of my No. $\frac{T}{1}$, dated 11th instant, I have the honour to report as follows regarding the water-supply of the district:—

The rainfall has relieved all anxiety throughout the Sadar, Contai, and Tamluk subdivisions. A few small villages here and there, which have no tanks or wells of their own, have some difficulty about water, but this is only the usual and ordinary state of things. I do not consider that any further steps are required as regards these three subdivisions.

In Ghatal matters have improved, as there has been some rain. From 1st to 12th the rainfall measured just under ⅞ths of an inch, but in some parts the fall was rather greater. Even this amount of rain, however, has done good, and the Subdivisional Officer considers that the scarcity of water at present existing is no worse than usual at this time of the year. I do not agree with him in this respect, and have directed the District Engineer to despatch more of his subordinates to superintend the construction of temporary wells at places named by the police. The Subdivisional Officer has commenced work on the wells already sanctioned, but the first experiment was a failure, as sand was struck a few feet down and the well had to be abandoned. The Subdivisional Officer further reports that the raiyats are vigorously re-excavating tanks, while some have sunk temporary wells from which they are getting a sufficient supply of water. What these people have done all others can do. Out of the advance of Rs. 500 already made to the Subdivisional Officer of Ghatal, Rs. 200 has been advanced to the road sirkar, who is to start work in thana Chandrakona under the supervision of the kanungo.

Another Rs. 500 has been granted by the District Board to the Subdivisional Officer of Ghatal for the construction of the wells mentioned in his second application.

I think we have practically tided over the difficulties of the season, and that little, if anything more, requires to be done. The only point where inconvenience is now being felt is in Ghatal, and steps are being taken to remedy the inconvenience as far as possible.

No. 306G., dated Dacca, the 11th May 1896.

From—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to your No. 29T.M., dated the 20th April 1896, requesting me to report, as soon as possible, for the information of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, what the condition of each district in this Division is as regards water-supply, I have the honour to submit herewith copies of the marginally-noted reports received from the districts of Dacca and Faridpur, and to say that the reports on the condition of the other two districts will be submitted as soon as received.

Letter No. 1220, dated the 4th May 1896, from the Magistrate of Dacca.
Letter No. 104, dated the 5th May 1896, from the Chairman, District Board, Faridpur.

No. 1220, dated the 4th May 1896.

From—The Magistrate of Dacca,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

WITH reference to the request contained in your endorsement No. 191G., dated the 28th ultimo, forwarding a letter from the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Municipal Department, on the subject of the prevailing scarcity of water, I have the honour to submit the following report.

2. At the meeting of the District Board, held on 28th March, I was informally empowered to spend Rs. 1,000 on tube wells in anticipation of sanction, if the experiment then in progress justified my doing so, and on 5th April I telegraphed for 10 tube wells, which were delivered at Naraingānj on 3rd May. On 5th April I also called for special urgent reports from the police throughout the district, and these were received and laid before the District Board at their meeting held on the 27th ultimo. The Board decided that the reports should be sent to the Local Boards concerned, with the direction, where necessary, to distribute money for expenditure by responsible local persons; the general conditions, however, being laid down that, as a rule, such expenditure must be supplemented by local subscriptions. This has since been done.

3. The police reports referred to showed that though the water was often bad and not to be had near at hand, there was not any scarcity of water in the sense of which we speak of scarcity of food; that is to say, there never has been any question of people or cattle dying for want of water. In the last fortnight the rivers have risen, and there has been so much rain that all danger of any real scarcity occurring is, I think, at an end; but I have called on the Chairman of the Local Boards to submit weekly reports, and I shall report to you in due course any action they may have taken.

No. 104, dated the 5th May 1896.

From—The Chairman, Faridpur District Board, Faridpur,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

WITH reference to your endorsement No. 191G., dated the 28th ultimo, I have the honour to report that the water-supply is sufficient. No special measures are required as rain has fallen in fair quantities. The subject of improving the water-supply of the district will be carefully attended to by the District Board and Local Boards during the current year.

No. 1T, dated Camp Puri, the 12th May 1896.

From—R. C. DUTT, ESQ., C.I.E., Offg. Commissioner of the Orissa Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to your No. 31T.—M., dated 20th April 1896, on the subject of the supply of drinking water in this Division, I have the honour to forward copy of a report submitted by the Magistrate of Puri, and to submit the following remarks.

2. People in this district generally depend on wells for their supply of drinking water; and as there is yet sufficient water in wells, there is little distress from scarcity of water in most parts of the district. The tracts where there is some distress are parganas Chabiskud, Serai, Rahang and Astrang. The District Board has provided money for the excavation of wells in the most distressed villages, and eight earthenware ringed well are being sunk.

3. It is gratifying to note that the people of Khurda subdivision have come forward to some extent to help themselves. Nearly the whole of that subdivision is a Government estate, and the people are our tenants. As far back as October last Mr. Gupta, the Subdivisional Officer of Khurda, organised panchyets in the villages of his subdivision with the object of inducing the people to give them work gratis towards the re-excavation of old tanks. It was a new idea, but at a large meeting, which was held at Khurda, of the sarbarahkars assembled there, the suggestion of the Subdivisional Officer was accepted and welcomed, and it was agreed that a small contribution should be made for each village for tools, &c. I am glad to find that the measures taken then by the Subdivisional Officer have borne fruit, and 57 old tanks and one old well have been re-excavated, and one new tank and three new wells have been sunk at a total cost of Rs. 4,055, out of which Rs. 1,567 represents the value of labour rendered gratis.

4. I consider this a very satisfactory result, as it tends to shew that public spirit is not an unknown quality among villagers if they are properly led. The fact is that our system of administration, far reaching in its details, has completely swept away the old village organisation, and there is no proper headman or mandal in villages to speak of, and no sort of authority in such men is recognised. The result is that villagers are incapable of combined action, unless we take the place of the mandal, whom we have helped to extinguish. A great deal of good may be effected by the organisation of Union Committees under the Local Self-Government Act in the place of the old village communities which have ceased to exist.

5. There have been some showers lately, which have done much good, and I expect all difficulty will be over in course of another month, when the rains may be expected to fairly set in. In the meantime the Magistrate has done all that can be done by addressing the principal landlords and by offering loans to afford relief. I agree with the Magistrate in thinking that the conveyance of water in carts from available sources is under the present circumstances unnecessary.

No. 558, dated Puri, the 8th May 1896.

From—C. A. Bell, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Puri,
To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

With reference to your No. 130S.G., dated 20th ultimo, I have the honour to report as follows.—

2. I have for some time past been making enquiries about the water-supply of the district. While there is no doubt that water is more than usually deficient this year, there is yet no reason to apprehend serious distress. The water of the district in the hot weather depends on the supply from wells more than on that from rivers and tanks. The rivers are dry in most places, and the tanks in very many places, but the wells—and they exist in almost all villages—have still a sufficiency of water in them. It is not uncommon to find villages in which most of the gentry have private wells on their own premises. Speaking generally, the village wells have at present not less than 3 to 4 feet of water in them, and many have a good deal more than this. In villages without wells, holes are dug in the beds of tanks or of rivers, if any be near. The tracts in which water is hardest to procure are those in parganas Chabiskud, Serai, Rahang and Astrang. I may note that we registered a quarter of an inch of rain this morning and ·37 inch altogether during the last week, and the sky appears to promise us more.

Since writing the above my prophecy has been justified by a fall of ·31 inch, and it seems probable that we may get more.
C. A. Bell—9-5-96.

3. Such is the present condition of our water-supply. The steps taken to meet the distress are briefly as follows: —

(a) Eight earthenware ringed wells are being sunk in some of the most distressed villages. The money for this has been provided by the District Board. We discussed the subject at the last Board meeting on the 2nd instant. The work is being pushed on as quickly as possible.

(b) One new tank and three new wells have been constructed; 57 old tanks and one old well have been repaired in the Khurda Government Estate. The total cost of these has amounted to Rs. 2,488 only, as voluntary labour valued at Rs. 1,567 has been supplied by the villagers. Details of these wells and tanks are given in schedule A annexed. I am enquiring into the condition of these newly-repaired tanks, and will report on the point.

(c) I have called for weekly reports from the police, the chakla kanungos and the manager of a jagir mahal which is situated in the Chabiskud and neighbouring parganas, and have instructed the Subdivisional Officer of Khurda to supply me with weekly reports for his subdivision. I have further requested the Salt Inspector at Satpara on the Chilka lake, and unfavourably situated for good drinking water, as well as the Deputy Conservator of Forests and all Assistant Settlement Officers to give me what information they can.

(d) I have addressed 16 of the principal landlords of the district asking them for their co-operation and offering to assist to a limited degree with District Board money those among them who may be unable or unwilling to undertake the whole task. The largest landlord is of course Government, and the manner in which it has performed its duties as a landlord has been already stated.

(e) I have had notices affixed to all kanungos' offices, police-stations and post offices to the effect that loans will be freely given in accordance with the Improvement Loans Act and under the rules in force. I have also ordered police officers in charge of thanas and outposts to notify through the chaukidars at their parades to the same effect.

4. The conveyance of water in carts from available sources to more distant villages is unnecessary unless and until the water-supply becomes very much less than at present. The cost would be very large, and in Orissa probably more than in Bengal, or Bihar caste difficulties arise. There is, however, no need for such action at present.

PURI MAGISTRACY,
The 8th May 1896.

C. A. BELL,
Offg. Magistrate.

No. 77R.C., dated Ranchi, the 12th May 1896.

From—C. R. MARINDIN, ESQ., Offg. Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

IN reference to your No. 32T.—M., dated the 20th ultimo, calling for a report on the condition of each district in this Division as regards water-supply, and the action taken by the Deputy Commissioners to provide against any deficiency in the same, I have the honour to submit the following report.

2. In the Hazaribagh district the people depend for their water-supply mainly on wells which are fed by underground springs or are sunk in the beds of streams during the hot season. The Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Herald, says that in spite of the long drought of the current year, the water-supply in the district does not appear to have yet failed. It is probable that a few wells have run dry here and there, but kutcha wells have been dug in the sandy beds of streams, or at places where a spring (dari) existed, by the people themselves, and the Deputy Commissioner has as yet heard no complaints of scarcity of water, nor has he been able to ascertain by enquiry that any scarcity exists. At the same time Mr. Herald is of opinion that the people suffer a certain amount of inconvenience owing to wells being at a distance from their houses, and he is accordingly taking steps for considerably increasing their number. Previous to last year the District Committee had done little or nothing for the water-supply of the district beyond constructing a few pucca wells for rest-houses and thanas.

A sum of Rs. 1,300 was provided this year for digging 26 daris or spring wells at an average cost of Rs. 50. Since the budget was passed, the Deputy Commissioner has obtained a further allotment of Rs. 4,000 from his Committee for the construction of 54 more dari-wells. The construction of cheap wells of this description along the lines of communication will, Mr. Herald says, go far to provide for all but the most isolated villages, and at the same time furnish a drinking supply for travellers, and as he reports that the roads will bear this diversion of funds for the improvement of the drinking supply of the district, I have approved of his proposals. The Road Cess Committee have also resolved to adopt a settled policy of making a substantial allotment every year for the improvement of the district water-supply. A sum of Rs. 1,550 out of the Khas Mahal Improvement Fund will be spent on the construction of 25 to 30 dari-wells in the Government khas mahals, and Mr. Herald recommends a settled policy for supplying water in the Government estates under his management where they are wanted every year. He has also called upon the Manager of the Dhanwar Court of Ward's Estate to lose no time in drawing up a scheme for supplying every portion of the estate which has not a full water-supply with wells.

3. The encumbered estates in the district occupy a very large area outside the Ramgarh Raj, but as they are all deeply involved in debt, towards the extinguishing of which the major portion of their surplus funds must be devoted, very little can be done out of their funds for the improvement of water-supply. Mr. Herald accordingly suggests that the Government should be asked to give loans to such of these estates as stand in need of improved water-supply, and promises to send definite proposals on this suggestion.

In the two municipalities in the district, viz., Hazaribagh and Chattra, there is nothing approaching scarcity of water. In the former there are excellent reserved tanks and a lake, while in Chattra there is a fairly abundant supply of wells. As to the assistance to be obtained from the owners of private estates, Mr. Herald is not very sanguine on the subject, but at Giridih there are some liberal zamindars who may be expected to help, and at Hazaribagh it has been resolved by the Road Cess Committee that a public meeting of zamindars and others should be called to take up the question of water-supply in earnest.

4. A full report has not yet been received from the Deputy Commissioner of Lohardaga on the subject of water scarcity in his district, but it is believed that though the supply has suffered from the continued drought, there is no immediate cause for anxiety. The zamindar of Biru has applied for a loan of Rs. 5,000, Ram Charan Pal of Rs. 200, and Charu Chandra Mukerjee of

Rs. 500, for improving the water-supplies of their estates; and the Deputy Commissioner asked for an immediate allotment of Rs. 10,000 being placed at his disposal for loans to them and other persons who might be expected to apply if the drought continued. I have authorized him to advance loans up to the amount of Rs. 6,500, pending a further report of the requirements of his district. The Road Cess Committee have provided Rs. 1,000 for the improvement of roadside wells.

5. In Palamau there is undoubtedly scarcity of water all over the district, though the Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Cargill, reports that there has as yet been no cause for alarm. The Deputy Commissioner was himself on tour last month, and had nowhere any difficulty in obtaining a plentiful supply of water over a fairly large tract of country for all purposes, nor were any complaints made to him about want of water, and the cattle remained in good condition. Where the water-courses are empty, water can usually be obtained by digging a small hole in them. The district is full of such water-courses. If the rains come in time, Mr. Cargill does not apprehend any serious consequences. The District Road Committee of Palamau have allotted Rs. 1,000 for digging road-side wells, and the Municipality of Daltonganj have taken steps to work the pump of the Elliott well, from which there should be a constant supply of good water. There are other wells in the town which show no signs of present exhaustion, and there is still water in the river Koel. The last resort in the town is the jail well, which has never been known to fail. The Deputy Commissioner has issued notices to the zamindars and all the leading men in the district to take advantage of the present season to deepen and clear wells, and called their attention to the necessity for constructing new wells and providing water, where required, by every means in their power. He has also given them to understand that loans will be given under the Land Improvement Loans Act to persons desirous of digging wells, &c. An application for sanction to spend Rs. 2,000 in digging wells in the Palamau Government estate has been separately made and sanctioned, and a meeting of the zamindars and other leading men was held on the 30th ultimo to consider the situation. Six persons attended this meeting out of ten who were invited to come. The general opinion of those present was that though there was a scarcity of water, there was no cause for alarm if the rains come in time. The landlords present at the meeting all promised to see that there was no suffering from want of water in any village in their estates, and it was ascertained that Rai Bhagwat Dayal Singh Bahadur, Thakurai Gobind Pershad, Babu Jagdishwar Dayal, Babu Ram Charan Singh, and Babu Kishen Bux Rai had already commenced making wells in their estates.

6. In Singhbhum the Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Bompas, reports that many of the usual sources of water-supply have run dry, and many people have to go a long distance for water. The bulk of the people, however, belong to the aboriginal tribes, and are habituated to walk thirty miles or more to attend markets, and they merely feel some inconvenience in having to walk two or three miles for water. Owing to the natural configuration of the country, there are many large rivers which have not become dry, and many mountain streams in which, though dry, the people dig little holes and so obtain water. There are some bandhs and tanks in different parts of the district where water is still obtainable, and almost everywhere in the Kolhan the people obtain water by sinking little wells in the low grounds where there are subterranean springs. Owing to the whole district having been so long in the khas possession of Government, a great deal has been done in the past to improve the water-supply. A sum of Rs. 1,040 is now being spent on bandhs in th Kolhan, and Rs. 2,500 in Dhalbhum on two bandhs and a well. In Anandpur the thakur is digging a tank. These works will have no immediate effect on increasing the water-supply, but considering the circumstances of the district, and the spirit of self-help which prevails among the people, no special action at the present moment is called for, while at the same time due attention is being paid to the improvement of the water-supply for the future. In the town of Chaibassa there is no present want of water.

7. The Deputy Commissioner of Manbhum has caused detailed enquiries to be made through the police, whose reports have been received by him for all but four thanas, with the result that in the seventeen thanas from which reports have been received, there are altogether 172 villages which are said to be suffering from deficient water-supply; but he states that for every one of these 172 villages where there has been scarcity of water-supply, there are 7 or 8 neighbouring villages with a sufficient supply, so that it is only a question of going a certain distance to obtain relief if temporary wells in situ are not sufficient. The Deputy Commissioner's own enquiries have led him to the conclusion that scarcity of water is always felt in the district at this time of the year, which, owing to the exceptionally small rainfall last year, has been more intense this year, though there is nothing like actual distress. Mr. Morshead adds that the District Engineer, who is a recognized authority in matters pertaining to the district, tells him that if the question had not been raised owing to real scarcity elsewhere, we should have heard no complaints of any deficiency, and as matters stand, he has received only one independent complaint (from the Munsif of Barabazar relating to the supply of that town) from the mufassal, although people are not backward in bringing their wants to notice when there is anything serious in the matter. As in other districts of the Division wherever there is deficiency in water-supply, the people resort to temporary wells in the sandy beds of the 'jores' or streams or in beds of tanks, and the water so obtained is probably purer than the dregs of a tank's contents, and with a little trouble a sufficient supply of this water is always available, as 'jores' are numerous all over the district. These small wells the people can dig for themselves without help from Government or anyone else.

8. As regards the municipalities in the district, the Deputy Commissioner reports that the water-supply of the town of Purulia depends mainly on two tanks, one of which, viz., the Buchabandh, is reserved for drinking purposes, while the other, Sahebbandh, is a large sheet of water used hitherto for both bathing and drinking purposes. Mr. Morshead proposes to experiment with a tube well on the edge of the former to secure a pure supply as it dries. With regard to the Sahebbandh, the Deputy Commissioner proposes to send a sample of its water from the end, where it is likely to be most polluted, for analysis and to take steps on its results

9. In the Municipality of Jhalda the Deputy Commissioner has issued the necessary orders for cleansing the wells. As regards the Raghunathpur Municipality, Mr. Morshead feels sure that the supply which is available is adequate; but should it prove not to be so, and the tube well be a success at Purulia, he would order one for this municipality also. At Barabazar the Deputy Commissioner proposes to experiment with another tube well. On the whole, Mr. Morshead does not think that any other steps will be necessary to tide over the interval until the setting in of the rains.

10. To sum up the situation for the Division, it is abundantly clear that though the season is an unusually dry one, and though the usual sources of water-supply have in places dried up, and people have in consequence to go some distance for their drinking-water, there is nothing like any widespread distress on their account. Water generally is obtainable a few feet from the surface, and the people are accustomed to helping themselves by digging holes in the beds of streams or opening small dhari-wells into the springs which lie near the surface of the ground. At the same time, general attention has been drawn to the question of water-supply, and District Officers are alive to the necessity of taking measures for its permanent improvement, and are taking steps to obtain this end by the application of Road Cess, Khas Mahal, or Wards' Estates funds, according to the circumstances of the different district; while some of the local zamindars in Palamau and Lohardaga have already taken in hand the improvement of the supply of water in villages where it is scarce, and zamindars have everywhere been informed that Government is prepared to grant loans for the purpose. I do not consider that there is any reason for anxiety on the subject at present, or that any further remedial measures are called for. If required, progress reports of the action indicated in the different districts will be called for and submitted; but I do not think this is necessary.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; t, thunder; <, lightning; p, passing temporary showers; ↗, strong wind; dew symbol, dew.

EDUCATIONAL PROSPECTUS.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1896-97, will commence on the 15th June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before 1st June.

Students are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the date named.

2. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognized by the British General Medical Council.

3. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 for the summer session on the 1st June, and Rs. 35 for the winter session on 1st November of each year. Rupees 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and half-fee, i.e., Rs. 17-8, per session. The remaining half-fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the ten students who pass highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. At the end of their first year, students will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany. Those who gain not less than 20 per cent. in two subjects, and not less than 15 per cent. in a third, will be eligible for promotion to the second-year class. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which, the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second-year class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

12. Students of the first, second, or third-year class who fail a second time, at the same stage, to gain promotion to the next higher class, will be removed from the College, and will not be entitled to readmission.

13. Students of the fourth-year class will be required to pass a College test examination in Surgery, Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. of the marks in three subjects, and 15 per cent. in a fourth, will be eligible for promotion to the fifth-year class. Those who fail, will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examination of the first year will have a prior claim to readmission over new students.

16. Students readmitted to a class after failure at the test examination will be required to pay the full fees for the session. Those, however, who, after failing either at the Preliminary Scientific examination or at the final examination, have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they failed, shall be required to pay for such lectures, a fee of Rs. 40 for one subject, Rs. 60 for two, and Rs. 70 for three. Exceptions to this latter rule may be made in special cases by the Director of Public Instruction on the recommendation of the Principal.

M. S. or 1st M. B. examination. These scholarships are tenable for two years, provided the holder passes creditably the Test and Honour examinations at the end of his fourth year. In the event of any scholarship being forfeited under this condition, it may be awarded for one year to any student of the fifth year who has fulfilled the conditions and is not the holder of any scholarship. These scholarships shall not be awarded to students who have gained the Durga Charan Laha scholarship of Rs. 30 per mensem or any other scholarship.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G.; Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year; but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

OILSEED CROPS IN BENGAL.

THE following is published for general information.

REVENUE DEPT.,
The 30th May 1896.

M. FINUCANE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Report on the Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1895-96.

Character of the season.—The character of the early part of the oilseed season of 1895-96 was described in the preliminary report of the oilseed crops issued on the 11th February 1896. In January, the amount of rainfall was less than usual in all Divisions, except North Bengal. In February, the rainfall was in defect in all districts, except East Bengal. In March, it was below the normal.

Area cultivated.—The total area cultivated with oilseeds this year is estimated at 4,159,700 acres, against 4,274,000 acres estimated to have been sown in the previous year. The decrease of 114,300 acres, or 2·67 per cent., is probably due to the total absence of rain during the sowing season.

Character of the crop.—Of the 45 districts of these Provinces only one district, viz., Angul, estimates the outturn of the different kinds of oilseed crops at 16 annas, eleven districts report the crops as varying from 12 annas to less than 15 annas, and 29 districts from 8 annas to less than 12 annas. Four districts, viz., Birbhum, Gaya, Muzaffarpur and Palamau, report crops varying from 4 annas to 7 annas.

Taking into consideration the above estimates, the average outturn of the province, calculated with reference to the areas sown, amounts to 10½ annas.

It is noticeable that the dry season has proved beneficial to the outturn in some parts of Eastern and Northern Bengal.

Gross outturn of oilseeds.—Assuming, as in previous reports, 6 maunds per acre to be the average produce of linseed, mustard and rape-seed, and 4¼ maunds per acre that of til and other oilseeds, the gross outturn of the oilseed crops in these Provinces during the year under report amounts to 552,200 tons, against 625,300 tons estimated to have been produced in the previous year.

This outturn is in accord with the general characteristics of the season, which proved too dry in most parts of Bengal for the successful cultivation of oilseeds.

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department for the year 1895.

The Reports for the years 1893 and 1894, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel D. W. D. Comins held charge of the Department throughout the year. The report, which was due on the 15th April, was received in the Secretariat on the 23rd April. The revision of the Jail Code undertaken, as stated in the Resolution of last year, in consequence of the passing of the Prisons Act and Prisoners Act, was completed, and the revised Code approved by Government. Statement No. VII (Judicial), showing the education of convicts in jail, having been abolished, the numbering of all the succeeding statements has been altered in accordance with the orders conveyed in paragraph 5 of the Resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. $\frac{10\text{-Jails}}{668\text{-}679}$, dated the 13th December 1894.

2. Judicial Statistics.—No change was made in the classification of jails during the year. The following table shows the total number of prisoners of all classes confined in the jails and subsidiary jails of the province during 1895 and the preceding ten years:—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.	1895.

The total number of prisoners admitted decreased from 91,740 in 1894 to 85,957 in 1895, and the daily average population fell from 17,344 to 16,929. The number of convicts admitted direct was 33,246, showing a steady decrease since 1892, when the number was 38,538. The largest decrease in direct admissions occurred in the Cuttack (476), Faridpur (400) and Champaran (317) districts, while Calcutta (306) and Barisal (220) show the greatest increase. The number of European seamen admitted into the Presidency Jail rose from 233 in 1894 to 456 in 1895. The Inspector-General ascribes this to the larger number of shipping cases, especially cases of refusal of seamen to work on board ship, in the hope of obtaining freedom from engagements through a short term of imprisonment, which, he observes, appear to be mainly due to the higher wages often obtainable on reshipping locally, and also to the reluctance of seamen to proceed to certain unpopular ports.

3. The table below, taken from the report, shows the ten districts which have furnished the largest numbers of convictions, the district population, and the ratio of convictions per mille of population:—

DISTRICT.	Population.	Number of convictions.	Ratio per mille of population.
1	2	3	4
Calcutta ...	681,560	1,923	2·82

Cuttack ...	1,937,671	1,005	0·51
For whole Province ...	71,346,987	33,246	0·46

It was intended by the orders contained in the Resolution on the Report for last year that this ratio should be shown for all districts, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that this may be done in future reports.

4. Releases.—The following table gives a comparative view of the number of releases under the various heads during the past eight years:—

	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.	1895.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

" on medical grounds	33	37	39	105	140	44	67	57*
" on other grounds	88	2	9	9	6	9	5	......

* Excluding nine moribund prisoners who were released under Rule 488 of the Jail Code, and included as deaths.

The decrease under the head "On expiry of sentence" is due to the smaller number of convicts passing through the jails. The ratio per cent. of prisoners released on appeal has risen from 5·18 in 1893 and 5·52 in 1894 to 5·72 in 1895. The percentage was very high in Shahabad (10·05), Noakhali (11·07), Darbhanga (11·11), and Burdwan (14·12), while it reached 18·25 in Faridpur. The number of prisoners transported from the Bengal jails fell from 127 in 1894 to 85. There were only 11 death sentences carried out, the smallest number on record since 1871.

5. Classification of convicts.—At the close of 1894 there were 340 Burman convicts confined in the jails of Bengal, and 332 remained on the 31st December 1895. Two Burman convicts died in the Presidency Jail, and one was killed in an affray in the Buxar Central Jail. It is reported that the health of these prisoners was, on the whole, fairly good. Of the 33,246 convicts admitted direct into jail, 18,984, or 57·10 per cent., were Hindus; 12,546, or 37·73 per cent., Muhammadans; 527 or 1·59 per cent., Christians; and 98, or ·30 per cent., Buddhists. It is satisfactory to notice that the number of juveniles under 16 years of age decreased from 478 in 1894 to 344 during the year under report. The Reformatory Schools at Alipore and Hazaribagh remained very nearly full throughout the year, 548 boys being in confinement at its close. The total number of female convicts admitted direct into jail was 1,101, against 1,444 in 1894 and 1,510 in 1893—a marked decrease. The following table classifies the convicts admitted direct into jail according to length of sentence, showing the percentage on the total number sentenced for each class, respectively:—

Length of sentence.	1894.		1895.
	Number of admissions.	Ratio per cent. to total number sentenced.	Number of admissions.	Ratio per cent. to total number sentenced.
1	2	3	4	5

Sentenced to death	30	·1	45	·1
Total ...	36,178	100·0	33,246	100·0

The table shows that more than one-third of all the prisoners admitted remain in jail for one month or less, while 56 per cent., or more than one-half, remain for three months or less. One hundred and eighty convicts were sentenced to rigorous imprisonment with solitary confinement, as compared with 155 and 130 in 1894 and 1893, respectively. The numbers of sentences of simple and rigorous imprisonment were 2,287 and 30,959, respectively, against 2,647 and 33,531 in 1894.

6. Re-convictions.—With a decrease in the total number of admissions, the number of re-convictions fell from 4,086 in 1894 to 3,843. The ratio per cent. of re-convictions, however, rose slightly, from 11·29 to 11·55. Further testimony is borne to the successful development of the Bertillon system of anthropometry, by the fact that the re-conviction of 207 old offenders was directly facilitated by this means, against 143 thus detected in the previous year. The adoption of this method of identification would appear to be already exercising some deterrent effect upon habitual offenders.

7. The number of persons sentenced to imprisonment for bad livelihood was 2,129 against 1,723 in 1894. The number of judicial whippings fell from 2,341 in 1894 to 1,930, of which more than 78 per cent. were in cases of theft.

8. Under-trial prisoners.—The total number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 31,211, as compared with 31,507 in 1894 and 32,307 in 1893. Of the total number admitted and those remaining in jail on the first day of the year, 15,260, or 47·28 per cent., were convicted, and 13,639, or 42·26 per cent., released, as compared with 50·92 per cent. convicted and 38·65 per cent. released in 1894. The number of deaths among under-trial prisoners decreased from 61 to 45. Five under-trial prisoners escaped during the year, of whom 3 were recaptured. The warders at fault were in each case suitably punished. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to observe that the average detention of these prisoners increased both before the Sessions and in the Magisterial Courts. The table below shows the nine districts in which the average detention in Magisterial Courts exceeded 15 days, with the correspond ing figures for the two preceding years:—

	1895.	1894.	1893.
1	2	3	4
Champaran	25·27	12·48	11·36
Lohardaga	23·45	14·51	10·27
Saran	22·52	14·31	11·00
Backergunge	22·03	15·67	12·86
Hooghly	19·02	14·80	10·40
Dinajpur	18·11	27·22	7·92
Shahabad	16·79	12·74	11·29
Tippera	16·20	13·21	11·67
Darbhanga	15·72	18·53	12·64

In all these districts excessive delays must have occurred in disposing of many cases. Detention was shortest in Darjeeling (3·64), Khulna (5·32), Patna (6·27), and Gaya (6·27), while in eight other districts it was under ten days. The attention of District Officers is again drawn to this matter, and Sir Alexander Mackenzie trusts that every endeavour will be made to prevent cases from being unnecessarily protracted.

9. Civil and State prisoners.—Sixty-four civil prisoners remained in confinement at the close of 1894, and 785 were admitted during the year. Of this total, 4 were transferred, 2 died and 782 were released; leaving 61 confined on the 31st December 1895. Of the two Lushai Chiefs confined in the Hazaribagh Central Jail, Thangula was released on the 8th April 1895, and forwarded under escort to the North Lushai Hills, and Dokola was transferred to the Chittagong Jail, whence he was forwarded to Lungleh, to be subsequently released from custody. Three State prisoners transferred from the Madras Presidency were admitted into Bengal Jails during the year, and they are all reported to be doing well.

10. Jail Buildings.—The total expenditure upon major and minor works and repairs in the central, district, and subsidiary jails during the calendar year 1894 was Rs. 1,23,086. The most important projects under the head of Major Works undertaken during the year were the construction of additional wards in the Bhagalpur, Buxar, and Hazaribagh Central Jails and the Jessore District Jail; the provision of a filtered water-supply for the Buxar and Midnapore Central Jails and the Monghyr District Jail; the construction of an intermediate jail at Halursingha in Angul, and the enlargement of the Bettiah and Howrah Subsidiary Jails. Under the head of Minor Works a large number of improvements, chiefly of a sanitary nature, or for the provison of a better water-supply, were carried out in most of the jails. Some further improvements have been made in the type plans of cubicles, and the new wards under construction at Bhagalpur, Jessore and Hazaribagh are being fitted with them. The plan of cubicle prepared for the Bhagalpur Jail has been approved by the Government of India as the best hitherto submitted.

11. Guards.—The numerical strength of the warder-guard of the province was raised from 1,643 to 1,661 during the year, in consequence of the conversion, towards the end of 1894, of the Hazaribagh District Jail into a second-class central jail. The Inspector-General reports that the system by which the warder guards of district jails are recruited and supplied by the central jail of the circle has not proved an unqualified success. The general complaint of Superintendents of central jails is that the circle system denudes their jails of their best men, while, on the other hand, the Superintendents of district jails say that their guards are filled with raw recruits. The former officers appear to refer to the transfer of good men from the Central Jails to be head warders of District Jails: the latter apparently consider that they should have a proportion of men who have been some time in service. The system has, however, had one good result, in causing to a great extent the disappearance from district jails of a class of men who, recruited on the spot, were subject to local influences, and were frequently acquainted personally with many of the prisoners under their charge. For the Buxar Central Jail, as the Inspector-General has remarked, the system is not well adapted. This jail, owing to its isolated position, requires the presence of a well-disciplined and fully-trained staff of warders, which cannot with safety be constantly weakened by the transfer of men to district jails. The Government has already recognised that the difficulty of securing good men for the warder guards was chiefly due to the question of pay and position, and in the Resolution recorded last year, the Inspector-General was invited to submit definite proposals under this head. On his recommendation, accordingly, the grant of a local allowance of Re. 1 per mensem to the head-warders and warders of all the jails and subsidiary jails in the Orissa Division was sanctioned in the past year, and warders of the Jail Department have also been allowed their actual travelling expenses on joining their first appointment. Sir Alexander Mackenzie will give full consideration to any further representation which the Inspector-General wishes to put forward in this matter.

In order to give effect to the instructions of the Government of India conveyed in their Resolution No. $\frac{10\text{-Jails}}{616-623}$ of the 9th November 1892, and the recommendation of the Jail Committee of 1888-89, sanction was accorded in this Government letter No. 2299P.—Jails, dated the 5th August 1895, to the employment of female warders in 15 of the jails of the Province. It is reported that so far suitable candidates have been obtained in nine jails only.

The number of criminal offences committed by warders was 37 as compared with 34 in the preceding year, while departmental offences were considerably fewer. The Inspector-General reports that the recent Prisons Act has tended to increase the unpopularity of the warder service. Insubordination of a more or less organised character occurred in the Presidency, Chittagong, and Darbhanga Jails, and in the case of the last-mentioned jail strong measures had to be adopted to suppress it.

12. Escapes.—The number of escapes among convicts was 23 against 21 in 1894. Of these, 3 were from central jails, 9 from district and intermediate jails, and 11 from subsidiary jails. Twelve of the escapes were effected from inside the jails and 11 from outside. Suitable punishments appear to have been inflicted upon the warders and other officers at fault. Sixteen of the 23 convicts were re-captured, as well as three who had escaped in previous years.

13. Prison discipline.—The following table shows the nature of offences committed by convicts during 1895, as compared with 1894:—

			Offences dealt with by Superintendent—
			A.	B.	C.	D.	E.
	Daily average population.	Offences dealt with by criminal courts.	Relating to work.	Relating to prohibited articles.	Relating to assaults, mutiny, and escapes.	All other breaches of jail rules.	Total.
1895	15,730	41	19,468	3,624	634	14,567	38,293
1894	16,080	53	20,334	4,760	661	15,540	41,295

It will be seen that there has been a decrease under all heads, this being, however, to some extent due to the smaller daily average population. Exclusive of warnings, the total number of punishments inflicted during the year was 28,581, as compared with 29,983 in 1894, and 33,206 in 1893. The number of warnings fell from 11,312 in 1894 to 9,712. There has been a marked decrease in the number of whippings inflicted, the figures having fallen from 326 in 1893 and 277 in 1894 to 185 in the past year. The jails which show the highest percentage of whippings to total punishments were Comilla (2·36), Darjeeling (2·08), Balasore (2·04), and Jalpaiguri (1·60). In 12 jails the punishment was not inflicted. The percentage for the whole province stood at the low figure of 0·48. Fetters were imposed in 7,928 cases, as compared with 9,417 cases in 1894, chiefly for offences relating to work, and breaches of prison discipline. The Lieutenant-Governor regards with satisfaction the reduction in the number of punishments, especially those of the severe forms. It affords proof both of more lenient treatment of offences which do not demand exemplary punishment, and of improved discipline and better conduct generally on the part of the convicts.

14. Convict officers, mark remissions, &c.—A daily average of 949 male and 15 female convict officers were employed during the year, the corresponding figures for 1894 being 938 and 14, respectively. The number punished fell from 1,734 to 1,629. The Inspector-General has reported very favourably upon the working of the mark system during the year, and quotes the remarks of the Superintendent of the Buxar Central Jail to show how keenly the extra marks are sought after by the prisoners. The Government of India in their Resolution in the Home Department, dated the 9th November 1892, drew special attention to the recommendation of the Jail Conference that the grant of prison privileges and of promotion to any grade of convict officer should be made to depend on the number of marks earned, and should thus be definitely connected with the mark system. The Inspector-General has not alluded to this in the present report, but he states that the experience so far acquired shows that the system possesses great possibilities, and that if carefully and sympathetically worked, it produces a marked effect upon the diligence and behaviour of the prisoners, and is, moreover, beneficial to general discipline. The number of prisoners released under the mark system during the year was 4,971, against 4,529 in the previous year. Relief was granted from the Claude Martin Fund to 1,340 prisoners on release.

15. Expenditure.—The gross expenditure on jails and subsidiary jails during the year was as follows:—

	Rs.
Establishment	4,75,883
Dietary charges	4,56,975
Hospital charges	83,760
Clothing and bedding	67,275

Public Works Department	1,23,086

Compared with the previous year, the total expenditure of Rs. 13,55,115 shows a decrease of Rs. 30,213, which is attributable to the smaller average daily population of the jails. The average cost of the prisoners per head increased from Rs. 79-14-3 to Rs. 80-1, attributed to a somewhat larger outlay on public works in subsidiary jails.

16. Average rates of articles of diet.—The average prices paid for the principal articles of diet during the year 1895 are compared in the subjoined table with the corresponding prices during the five previous years:—

The first four jails have preserved the same position and order as last year Of the 47 jails, 31 show an increase in the average cost of diet, and 16 a decrease. From the explanations given by the Inspector-General it appears that the increased cost in the majority of the jails is largely due to more liberal supply of nutritious food, and the decrease elsewhere to the purchase of articles at cheaper rates. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that good and timely arrangements for the storage of grain were made by the Superintendents of several jails, especially at Comilla, Pabna, and Jalpaiguri, and at the Alipore and Buxar Central Jails. The total value of vegetables and other products obtained from jail gardens and dairies was Rs. 1,08,147, as compared with Rs. 1,09,271 in 1894. Of this sum, Rs. 45,299 represents the value of vegetables grown, and Rs. 35,365 the value of milk supplied from the several dairies.

18. Establishment.—The total expenditure on establishment in each of the past five years is shown in the margin. The chief increase in 1895 was under the head "Warder Staff," owing to the payment of the local allowance sanctioned for the warders in the Orissa Division, and to the entertainment of additional warders to supervise prisoners employed on extra-mural work and jail buildings.

19. In the following table the average cost per prisoner in each jail, calculated on the expenditure under the three controllable heads of Diet, Hospital charges and Clothing, and the death-rate per mille of all admissions, are shown, together with the average cost per prisoner and the death-rate for all the jails collectively. It will be seen that there is no relation whatever between the death-rate and the average expenditure. Of the 32 jails in which the cost was below the general average for all the jails, 14 had a mortality above the general average death-rate, and 18 below it; and of the 15 jails in which the cost was above the general average, 7 had a death-rate above, and 8 below the general average:—

20. Employment of prisoners, and manufactures.—The average daily number of prisoners under sentence of labour on working days was 15,352, against 15,900 of the preceding year. The average number sick and convalescent or infirm fell from 2,186 to 2,034, and the number on unremunerative labour from 1,131 to 1,013. The average number employed on manufactures fell from 5,860 in 1894 to 5,744, but the proportion of convicts thus employed to the total number sentenced to labour rose from 36·85 per cent. to 37·41 per cent. The decrease in numbers in all these cases is due mainly to the reduction in the average daily population of the jails. The profits rose from Rs. 3,99,513 to Rs. 4,16,810, or Rs. 27 per head sentenced to labour, as compared with Rs. 25 per head in the previous year.

21. Average earnings in central jails.—The following table compares the average earning per prisoner sentenced to labour in central jails for the last two years:—

In the Alipore Jail the profit amounted to Rs. 83,479, as compared with Rs. 69,759 in 1894, while the value of articles supplied to other departments rose from Rs. 1,30,751 to Rs. 1,55,836. In the Presidency Jail the net profits fell from Rs. 1,34,004 to Rs. 1,04,469 owing to the reduction in the population and an increase in the number of prisoners placed on light work under the orders of the Medical Officer. A profit of Rs. 83,817 was earned by the Buxar Central Jail, against Rs. 55,493 in 1894, while the value of supplies to other departments rose from Rs. 1,93,126 to Rs. 2,17,753 owing to a large increase in the outturn of tents for the Ordnance and Telegraph Departments. During the year 1,359 tents of all descriptions were issued, as compared with 719 in 1894, and 672 in 1893. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with pleasure the commendation bestowed by the Inspector-General upon the Superintendent of the Jail, Mr. M. S. Emerson, and the Deputy Superintendent, Mr. G. A. Davis, to whose management is due the result that the operations of the year have been the most successful on record. The Bhagalpur Central Jail produced a larger outturn from the woollen factory in spite of a decrease in the number of hands employed, a large number of followers' blankets having been supplied to the Commissariat Department for the Chitral Expedition. The manufactories at the Midnapore and Hazaribagh jails were also worked at an increased profit. In the Dacca Jail the net profit, amounting to Rs. 11,371, was mostly earned in the last three quarters of the year, when the manufacture of chaukidari uniforms for the eastern districts was introduced, and was rapidly developed owing to the interest and personal exertion shown by the Superintendent, Mr. Beadon.

In the district jails the profits earned rose from Rs. 68,710 in 1894 to Rs. 71,859, the average cash earnings per prisoner being largest in the Darjeeling Jail.

22. Quinine and its distribution.—The rapid development of this industry—the filling and distribution of pice packets of quinine—which was only started in December 1892, will be seen from the subjoined table, which compares the monthly sales of the pice packets during each month of the past three years:—

The total number of powders filled and packed at the Alipore Central Jail was 3,760,434, as compared with 2,917,526 in the preceding year, and the profit increased from Rs. 5,091 to Rs. 8,208. The Inspector-General has not yet reported to Government on the utilisation of this surplus as suggested in the Resolution on last year's Report. Two thousand five hundred and nine post-offices were supplied with quinine, as against 2,321 in the preceding year, and 6,801 parcels of powders, to the value of Rs. 9,123, were supplied to officers in other Provinces. The success of the undertaking, however, has been so great, and the demand for quinine has increased with such unforeseen rapidity, that the producing power of the Mangpoh Factory could not keep pace with it, and it has been necessary to limit the sale to post-offices in Bengal and Assam, and to discontinue the supply to other Provinces.

23. Subsidiary Jails.—The revision of the Subsidiary Jail Code, necessitated by the changes in the law, has been nearly completed. The Dum-Dum Subsidiary Jail has been abolished since the close of the year on the representation of the District Magistrate and Divisional Commissioner, it being found unnecessary to maintain a separate jail there. Of the 85 Subsidiary Jails, nine are reported not to have been visited the prescribed number of times. This matter will be separately dealt with. The total expenditure on subsidiary jail buildings during the year was Rs. 13,184, against Rs. 7,082 in 1894. The number of convicts admitted direct show a steady falling off since 1892, the figures being 17,385 in 1892, 16,843 in 1893, 16,130 in 1894, and 15,072 in 1895. Eighteen convicts, or 55·2 per mille of daily average population, died during the year. The total number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 13,782, and the average detention of such prisoners, 12·61 days, as compared with 11·41 days in 1894, the highest average in this respect being shown by Rajmahal (20·39) and Sasaram (20·06). The number of civil prisoners confined rose from 12 to 19. Of 11 convicts who managed to escape, 8 were recaptured; and of 4 under-trial prisoners who broke out, 2 were caught. The Inspector-General has submitted a statement drawn up in the form recently prescibed by the Government of India, showing the expenditure on subsidiary jails, from which it appears that the average cost per prisoner in these jails was, exclusive of the outlay on new buildings, additions, alterations and repairs, Rs. 128-6-9, as compared with Rs. 71-13-11 in the case of district and central jails.

24. Accommodation and food.—The central, district and intermediate jails were capable of accommodating 17,423 convicts, 1,128 under-trial prisoners, and 337 civil prisoners on the 31st December 1895. The only jails in which the average number of convicts exceeded the ordinary sanctioned sleeping accommodation were Barisal and Mymensingh; and in these cases the excess prisoners slept in work-sheds specially prepared for them. This shows a great improvement on former years, when attention was not so constantly given, as at present, to the transfer of prisoners whenever a jail is, or is likely to be, over crowded. In a few jails the number of under-trial prisoners at times exceeded the available accommodation. Such cases are unavoidable, owing to the occasional influx of an exceptionally large number of prisoners. The important subject of dieting of prisoners has received particular attention during the past year, and no pains have been spared by the medical officers to vary diet or substitute more nutritious food, whenever necessary, as appears from the statement showing scales and changes of diet appended to the Report. Surgeon-Captain W. J. Buchanan, Superintendent of the Bhagalpur Central Jail, published a valuable and detailed report, dealing with the nutritive values of the various diets in force in the jails of Bengal. Dr. Comins quotes the calculations made by Surgeon-Major Lewis to show how favourably the ordinary diet scales at present in use in this Province compare with the scale adopted in the English prisons. The statistics furnished as to the condition of convicts when discharged demonstrate the good results that have been obtained. In the past year, 55·8 per cent. of convicts gained in weight, 27·5 per cent. maintained their weight, and only 16·7 per cent. lost weight, against 54·5, 26 and 19·5 per cent., respectively, in 1894. "There cannot, I think," Dr. Comins observes, "be anything very wrong with either the quantity or quality of the food which produces these results. The avoidance of monotony is recognised to be of great importance, especially during unhealthy seasons, and at the risk of incurring the odium of elaboration, the revised Code rules deal more fully with this question, and also the better food which is enjoined to be given when general ill-health prevails. The cleaning and preparation of grain and vegetables before issue for cooking are precautions which require continual attention, and the beneficial effect of properly prepared and cooked and easily digested food in the prevention of bowel-disease is attracting more and more attention. The boiling and husking of dhan has been limited to the dry months, and when a sufficient quantity of rice had not been prepared before the rains, it was ordered to be purchased. This precaution is believed to have produced a good effect."

The report speaks very favourably of Mr. Larymore's cooking range, by which more efficient and perfect cooking is attainable, and also states that the growing of more nutritious and antiscorbutic vegetables has been carried out with good result.

25. Water-supply.—Dr. Comins has submitted interesting remarks on this subject. Since 1889 orders have been in force for boiling the drinking water supplied to all prisoners in Bengal jails: previously this had only been insisted on during seasons when cholera was prevalent. In 1891 a boiler was invented by Mr. Larymore, in which the water can be kept at boiling point as long as desired, boiling being announced by a steam whistle. This type of boiler was recognised as an improvement in efficiency, simplicity and economy, and it has since been introduced into most of the jails of this Province, as well as into several jails of other Provinces. "In filtration," Dr. Comins remarks, "we have a supplementary means of purification available in all jails, but our main trust must be placed in boiling."

In accordance with the orders of this Government, installations of the Pasteur-Chamberland filters were ordered for the Motihari and Dumka Jails; but there has been delay in their supply from England. Expenditure has been sanctioned for supplying these filters to seven other jails, selected with regard to the health returns, during the year 1896-97. Circular instructions were also issued during the year, drawing attention to the advantages of the system of disinfection by quick lime, alum and permanganate of potassium, as advocated by Mr. E. H. Hankin, Bacteriologist to the Government of the North-Western Provinces. Chemical analyses of jail water were carried out in a systematic manner by Surgeon-Captain J. F. Evans, Chemical Examiner to Government; and, with a view to enabling Medical Officers themselves to compare readily the relative purity of water from different sources, permission was accorded to the purchase by each jail of the simple apparatus and instructions for the numerical estimate of microbes present in water prepared by Mr. Hankin for the use of municipalities, and for the supply of Agar Agar tubes from the Agra laboratory. Among the more important projects for the improvement of water-supply undertaken during the year were a scheme for the supply and distribution of filtered water drawn from the Ganges in the Buxar Central Jail, and a similar scheme for the Monghyr Jail. At Rampur Boalia pipes were laid down to connect the jail with the river, which has receded.

26. Other matters affecting the conditions of jail life—During the year rules were framed and sanctioned for the supply of clothing and bedding to subsidiary jails and to prisoners on transfer, in view of the exposure which they undergo, and the system of increasing the supply for old and sickly prisoners previously introduced has been freely resorted to. Dr. Buchanan has during the year prepared a table, based upon the statistics of 20,000 prisoners, showing what should be the approximate weight of prisoners of different heights, which will be of use to Superintendents in enabling them to decide on the state of health of prisoners on admission, the quality and quantity of food they should receive, and the amount of work they should be called upon to perform. Special attention has been directed to the segregation of new arrivals in jail, where this has been practicable. At Bhagalpur, Hazaribagh, Jessore and Comilla new wards have been constructed, modelled upon the type recommended by the Jail Committee of 1889. In some jails the reconstruction of the latrine ablution platforms on more sanitary lines has been undertaken; while in others defects in drainage have been removed and water-logging prevented. Measures were also taken to reduce the population of unhealthy jails and transfer prisoners from jails approaching or passing the limit of capacity, and alterations were made at many jails for the improvement of ventilation.

27. Sickness and mortality.—The following table shows the mortality among prisoners for each year, as well as for each decade, from 1844 to 1895:—

Year.	Daily average number of prisoners.	Daily average sick.	Ratio per mille of daily sick.	Number of deaths— From cholera.	From all other causes.	Total number of deaths.	Death-rate per mille of average strength— From cholera.	From all other causes.	From all causes.	Remarks.

The death-rate per mille of average strength reached the lowest figure recorded for more than 50 years. The above table illustrates how fluctuating the returns of mortality are from year to year, and even from decade to decade, but it discloses a marked improvement during the last period of ten years, viz., 1886 to 1895, which shows an average death-rate of 37·3 as compared with 62·2 during the preceding decade. The year 1894 was one of the most unhealthy known, and the death-rate in the jails for that year consequently rose to a high figure; still it only reached 47·1 per mille, against an average of 65·5 per mille during the previous 50 years; while the death-rate per mille in the past year did not exceed the very low figure of 27·3. This remarkable result appears to be partly attributable to the better health of many districts of the Province; but the Inspector-General instances many districts in which the health of the local jail remained good, while much sickness prevailed among the population outside. The figures given in Statement XIV of the report, showing a lower death-rate for convicts in the central and district jails than for the convicts of the subsidiary jails and the undertrial prisoners, who were only in confinement for very brief periods, also indicate that residence in jail afforded some degree of immunity from fatal diseases. The highest death-rate per mille of average strength of all classes is shown by Dinajpur (146) followed by Chaibassa (123), while the lowest occurred at Berhampore. At the Presidency (European), Noakhali and Khulna Jails not a single death was recorded.

The daily average number of sick among prisoners of all classes fell from 744 in 1894 to 716, and the ratio of daily average sick per mille to daily average population decreased from 42·8 to 42·3. Among convicts the highest ratio of daily average of sick to daily average population was recorded at Bogra (100·0) and Chapra (98·7), and the lowest at Purulia (8·5), Puri (11·7) and Khulna (13·1).

28. Principal diseases causing sickness and death.—From the table below will be seen the principal diseases from which prisoners suffered during the year with the ratio of deaths from each, compared with the figures for the previous year:—

Although the population has been smaller, the number of admissions from intermittent and remittent fever together has slightly risen, the number of deaths being almost the same as last year. During the past year attention was drawn by the Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India to the lessened prevalence of fever, anæmia and debility in the Panjab jails, in consequence of the prophylactic administration of quinine or sulphate of cinchonidine in daily doses to each prisoner during the unhealthy seasons of the year. Circular instructions were issued to all jails in this Province to adopt this prophylactic treatment during the unhealthy months. The reports received, Dr. Comins says, do not show that any general or marked effects have been produced, but the results have been sufficiently encouraging, to judge from the opinions of the medical officers, to render further experiment desirable, and one thousand pounds of sulphate of cinchonidine have been indented for to meet the wants of the current year.

Dysentery and diarrhœa account for 5,666 admissions to hospital, against 6,107 in the previous year, but the number of deaths decreased by more than half, and the death-rate per mille from this cause was lower than in any year except 1891. The jails which show the highest rates of admission were Bogra (1,611), Chapra (1,238), and Rangpur (1,221).

Diseases of the respiratory organs show a larger number of admissions, but fewer deaths, than in the previous year. The jails which suffered most in this respect were Alipore with 147 admissions and 6 deaths, and Dacca with 142 admissions and 8 deaths. There were altogether four cases of small-pox, two at the Presidency Jail, one at Alipore, and one at Howrah, all in or about Calcutta, where the disease spread with virulence among the free population.

The number of admissions from cholera decreased from 110 cases in 1894 to 47 cases in 1895, and the number of deaths fell from 65 to 26. The only serious outbreak of this disease during the year occurred in the Dinajpur Jail, where 15 prisoners were attacked, of whom 13 died. The origin of this outbreak was traced to an under-trial prisoner who had been admitted two days previously from a village in which cholera was prevalent. When the second and third cases took place, the prisoners were moved into camp, and inoculation on Professor Haffkine's system was performed by a trained assistant despatched by the Health Officer of Calcutta for the purpose. The outbreak, however, had practically ceased before inoculation could be effected, and the preventive effect of the treatment cannot, therefore, be estimated. It appears that in this instance circular instructions, previously issued, directing that in a case of cholera or suspicious diarrhœa the patient should not be taken to hospital, but removed outside the jail, were not observed. These instructions have now been incorporated in the revised edition of the Jail Code, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that they will be most strictly and promptly acted up to in the future.

The total number of deaths among convicts in jails and subsidiary jails (including nine moribund prisoners released under Rule 488 of the Jail Code) was 418, against 754 in 1894 and 541 in 1893. Of the convicts who died in jail, 110, or 274·31 per mille, were admitted in good health, 122, or 306·74 per mille, in indifferent health, and 168, or 418·95 per mille, in bad health. It is curious to note that the ratio of prisoners received in bad health was higher during 1895 than in 1894. The death-rate per mille of average strength was 26·9 among convicts and 33·4 among under-trial prisoners.

Medical Committees were appointed by this Government during the year to enquire into the sanitary condition of the Balasore, Chaibassa, Motihari, Burdwan, and Dumka jails, in all of which the mortality was found to have been excessive in the previous year. The reports of the several Committees have been received, and all the recommendations made have been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, and some have already been carried into effect. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the measures adopted, which are the result of mature consideration and the most careful local enquiry, will be attended with beneficial results.

The system of transferring sickly prisoners for the benefit of their health to selected jails has been continued during the past year with marked success. In reference to the working of the system at Hazaribagh, where the largest numbers of weakly or elderly prisoners are sent, Dr. Comins records the following remarks:—

"The amount of work thrown on the medical staff of the Central Jail has been very great. Over 200 prisoners are fed daily under the notice and control of the Civil Hospital Assistant. Altogether the invalid prisoners sent to this jail for the benefit of their health form nearly one-third of the whole population of the jail, but a great number have improved so much in health that they now form a part of the residue of healthy prisoners able to do a considerable amount of work. Dr. Nott has systematized the arrangements for the special treatment of this very large body of invalids with the most excellent results, the most important and significant being that in a jail population which is unusually largely composed of the sick and aged the mortality has been reduced in a most satisfactory way. The extraordinary healthiness of the greater part of the year will account for this to some extent, but much is also due to the careful and painstaking attention given by Dr. Nott to the individual requirements of prisoners."

The result at Gaya has been no less satisfactory. Notwithstanding the presence of a large number of prisoners transferred there in bad health, only four deaths occurred in the jail, the smallest number ever recorded.

29. Jails with the highest mortality.—The following table shows the jails in which the highest mortality occurred, with the corresponding figures for the preceding year:—

The position occupied by the Dinajpur Jail is due to the outbreak of cholera already referred to. Of the 15 deaths which occurred in the Chaibassa Jail, 9 were from dysentery, 2 from tuberculosis, 1 from remittent fever, 1 from cirrhosis of the liver, 1 from pneumonia, and 1 from fracture of the skull. In the last case the prisoner was dying, and in eight others the men were in bad health, on admission. This is one of the jails for which a Committee was specially appointed, and every means has been considered and adopted for the improvement of the health of the prisoners. At Chapra the Medical Officer attributes the ill-health among the prisoners to the increasing malariousness of the district. Nineteen deaths occurred from dysentery, two from abscesses of the liver, and two from apoplexy. The Report shows that no effort has been spared to render the jail healthier, and that Rs. 3,016 have been allotted for the improvement of the drainage. At Bogra four deaths occurred from dysentery, one from remittent fever, one from cholera, and two from phthisis.

Among the jails showing the lowest mortality, it is satisfactory to find those of Balasore, Purnea, Alipore, the Presidency, Dacca, Midnapore, Hazaribagh and Jessore. As showing the general result of incarceration upon the health of those who were admitted during the past two years, the table below furnished by the Inspector-General is interesting and significant:—

30. Inspections.—Dr. Comins was absent from head-quarters on inspection and Committee duty for 132 days in the year, and visited 32 central and district jails and 13 subsidiary jails. The number of visits paid by all classes of official visitors was 2,323 as compared with 2,341 in 1894. Although the number of visits paid by non-official visitors, increased from 89 to 97, Sir Alexander

Mackenzie would be glad to find more interest displayed by these gentlemen in the honorary duty which they have accepted.

31. Officers of the Department.—Among the Medical Officers specially commended are:—Dr. E. G. Russell at Dacca, Dr. A. H. Nott at Hazaribagh, Dr. W. J. Buchanan at Bhagalpur, Dr. R. Macrae at Gaya, Dr. P. W. O'Gorman at Midnapore, and Dr. J. T. Calvert at Mymensingh. Among Superintendents, the services of Mr. W. &C. Beadon at Dacca, Mr. M. S. Emerson at Buxar, and Mr. C. H. C. Sevenoaks at Midnapore have been specially acknowledged; and among Deputy Superintendents those of Mr. J. Fox and Mr. G. A. Davis. The care and elaboration with which the revision of the Jail Code has been completed reflects much credit upon Mr. W. Leonard, Superintendent of the Bhagalpur Central Jail, who was placed on special duty for this work, and his services in this connection have already been acknowledged by Government. Mr. J. W. Hanlon, Superintendent of Jail Manufactures, continued to manage his department with much success. The good work done by several jailors and subordinate medical officers is also brought to notice in the report.

To Dr. Comins himself the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are especially due for the zeal and ability with which he has administered the Department. He has submitted a full and interesting report, which testifies to the constant solicitude displayed by the officers of the Department in bettering the condition of the prisoners as regards their surroundings, accommodation, medical treatment, diet and water-supply, clothing and general comfort.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
